WIFE BEATERS.

State Senator Adams, whose bill to punish wife-beaters by the lash excited so much discussion in the last session of the Legislature, is preparing a paper upon "Wife-beating as a Crime and Its Relation to Taxation," which the Social Science Association has invited him to read. It may not occur at once to one who has not studied the subject that there is any relation whatever between taxation and wifebeating; but in reality the fact that there is er, giving a series of handsome receptsuch a relation, and that the brute who heats his wife (in nine cases out of ten) escapes imprisonment because such punishment would send his family to the almshouse, constitutes the strong est argument in favor of importing the whipping-post from Delaware. Senator Adams ought to be popular among his lady constituents-as much for his brave humanitarianism in the face of ridicule as he is for his social graces. In preparing his paper he is accumulating a vast amount of information upon the subject, and he has just sent a circular to every district attorney in the State asking them to tell him (in apartments on the second floor of the each county) how many complaints were made and true bills found during in delving among musty corners in the last year for wife-beating; how old second-hand bookshops, and is said many convictions were obtained and to be a very clever hand at a bargain. what was the average sentence; the and to be able to haggie over the price nationality of the condemned; whether of a desired volume like any old bookthe crime is on the increase; what pro- worm.
