THE LAW OF DETECTIVES.

The trial of Charles R. Holland, who was indicted for the larceny of J. A. Shuman's meat, ended last Saturday morning in a verdict of not guilty. Speeches were made to the jury on Friday by Messrs Ikeler, Barkley, Freeze and Little, and the charge of the Court was delivered in the evening, and the jury went out about 8 sealed verdict in the morning, it they agreed.

In the charge to the jury Judge Elwell discussed the law as applicable to detectves as follows: "What is a detective? It is not neces sary that he should be a person appointed under statute law. It is not necessary tha he should be an official with a commission. from the executive, nor that he should be charged with the duty of a detective by any body, if of men organized for that purpose. If there are depredations being committed in any neighborhood, the society, the persons there, have the right to employ one specially to look after their interests, and to detect and expose the crimes that are committed.

A detective is not bound to be himself a prosecutor: that is not implied by the term. the name, that he has. He is to detect, so munity remote from town and having no commissioned detective, if the citizens had not the right to employ some person in that the County Commissioners be in their behalf, the whole neighborhood structed to purchase carpet for the parlor would be obliged, in order to protect their property, to turn out and be detectives for themselves. No one can doubt that every man has the right to protect his own. It is one of the first laws of nature that every man has the right to protect his person (defend himself from assault) and his propty, and to guard both; and what a man may do himself, he may depute another to do for him, and when that other is deputed he has all the rights that his principal would have. By the decisions of the highest tribunal of this commonwealth, where it becomes necessary to break up a combination of criminals, a detective may assume himself the role of a thief, he may dress in the garb of a thief, he may mix with thieves, he may participate with them in all their adventures (except as I will presently mention); nay more, where there are reasonable grounds to believe that per sons are members of a gang of threyes b may counsel and encourage the commision of crime; if he intended to have the perpetrators arrested and punished for the urpose of ferreting out and exposing and bringing criminals to punishment, he is not an accessory in the eye of the law so > pose for which he was appointed, although ne may have encouraged and counselled others who were about to commit the crim if, in so doing, his intention was that they should be discovered, arrested and punished. Where there are men banded together to commit crime, there is no more effective way to break up their organization than for some person acting as a detective to become one of their number and thus to gain the people, but if it can be shown that their confidence and become possessed of their secrets. But all this must be honestly done. Report must be made to those who are interested of all discovered facts, in order that they may, if they see fit, prosecute the offenders. But if, under color of being a detective, he participates in the perpetration of a larceny or other crime, not with a view to bring criminals to justice, but the time in fishing. If a well be poisoned, woe be to those who drink thereat. It is worse to poison the fountain of life, for one's self, and for posterity. Often by carelessness, or mis-fortune, or inheritance, this has been done. Ayer's Sarsaparilla frees the blood, the vital stream, and restores appetite, strength and health.

C. A. Roberts, of East Wilson, N.Y., has 13 scrofulous ulcers on his face and neck. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him. S. B. Darfey, mate of steamer Arizons had his foot badly jammed. Thomas' Ec-lectric Oil cured it. Nothing equal to it for

"Why should not the time come when the name of Dr. David Kennedy shall be associated in the public mind with the pur-ification of the blood, as the name of Harvey now is with its circulation. For cer-tainly no other medical man has done as much to that end as he has. And it is al-so important that people should know that the result of his labors are within reach of all in the form of Dr. Kennedy's "Favorit Remedy."—Evening Journal. [1-12-41.

Journal of America. STORIES OF THE WAR

A Paper for the Homes of the Land-Sparkling and Original in Every Feature. N the first of January a new departure in every feature of the Weekly Times was made. Every number will be liberally illustrated in its War contributions, which have so long been a specialty in its columns, and in ts stories, which will be greatly en-arged from the pens of the writers, and in current history, biography, politics, art, science and the eading events of the day.

The time has passed for the weekly ournal of the city to fill the place of newspaper. The daily newspaper from the great centres of news now reaches into every section of the land. Every inland city and every town of importance have their daily newspapers, and the local weekly, with the wonderful progress in provincial jourpalism, meets every want that the daily newspaper fails to supply. The met-ropolitan weekly of to-day must be much more than a newspaper; it must e a magazine of family reading it must ead the magazine in popular literature; t must lead it in popular illustration, and it must meet every requirement of the intelligent reader of every class. STORIES OF THE WAR Will be published in each number from the ablest writers who participated in the bloody drama of civil strife, and each will be profusely illustrated. The most entertaining and instructive Stories from the best writers of fiction will appear in each issue, with ilinstrations.
