WORK ROOM.

Massas Eurrops.-I am of the opinion that the public business is the business of the public, and that the interects of the public are better protected and secured the better and more convenient the appliances are for the transaction of that business. It is manifest that the room now occu pled as a Bar Office in the Court House is entirely too small and inconvenient, and is ally becoming more so. 'The Bar of Colimbia county comprises about forty members and the room now provided for their accommodation during the sittings of the court does not afford more than standing room. Besides that, the room is necessari ly occupied by the Judge as his office, with his table, chair, case and papers, and still further contracted by the book cases which occupy three sides, and the excellent steam radiator which takes the fourth side The grand jury and the people of the ounty whose business is transacted at the Court House and in the Courts, are fully aware of the great inconveinence under which we labor. The rooms for the Bar he Library and the Court officials ought to be added to and enlarged. To what has been said something should yet be added.

During the sitting of the Court it is the comes in or a consultation is to be had between counsel there is no room to which you can retire for the purpose. The room under the gallery was prepared for, and is almost constantly and properly occupied by women in attendance as witnesses, often nothers with babes and young children, and manifestly an improper place to intrude upon. The only thing to do is to uddle together in a corner of the Court oom where you disturb the court and the

Besides all that we are constantly buyng law books, and the shelves of the Bar office are now full-yet the Supreme Court of the State is ordering them to be made at the rate of about four volumes a year, not to speak of other necessary publications to which the Court is constantly obliged to refer. Therefore book-room is also needed. There is no economy in crippling he public business, in refusing convenences in its transaction, in making a citizen spend dollars where cents would be nough with the modern conveniences. For instance, a few days ago I was in he Prothonotary's office of a neighboring ounty. Among its appliances was a elephone. A ring at the bell and an injulry by an attorney, fifteen miles away, r judgments against A. B. or mortgages in ten minutes answer was ready, and the business of parties went on, which lse would have required a day, and several dollars of expense. And while I was there, three or four calls from different parts of the county, came and were auswered. Days of time and dollars of money vere thus saved to the citizen. Every thing that facilitates business is a public benefactor, every man is directly or indirectly advantaged. A false economy is really a tax upon the people. All the new styles of wall paper at

Your Local Paper.

Ex-Senator David Davis in a recent address, has the following truths to say about the home local paper, to which we call the attention of our readers :

Every year every local paper gives from $100 to $5000 in free lines for the sole benefit of the vicinity in which it is located No other agency can or will do this. The editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any other tenmen, and in all fairness, man with man, he ought to be supported; not because you may happen to like him or admire his writing, but because a local paper is the best investment a community can make It may not be brilliant nor crowded with great thoughts, but financially, it is more of a benefit to a community than the preacher or teacher. Understand us now we don't mean morally or intellectually. but financially, and yet on the moral question you will find the majority of the local papers are on the right side of the question. had increased only about 300 in ten years

WHAT IT HAS, AND WHAT IT NEEDS. The census of 1880 showed that the population of the Town of Bloomsburg while that of some of our sister towns had nearly doubled. One reason for this difference may be found in the fact that the mining of iron ore about here has greatly diminished, and many miners thrown out of employment have moved away. At the same time we have had nothing to draw more people to us. There are some things that this town needs, and must have if we expect to grow in population and prosper ity. First is a bridge across the river This would open up a large section of country to us that is almost inaccessible and would give us competition in railroad traffic that would greatly benefit the town. and in fact the whole county. As this is the business and financial centre of the county, a prosperous condition of affairs is felt by every farmer, manufacturer and mechanic who comes here for a market for his produce, his manufactures and his skill. When there is plenty of money in Bloomsburg there is but little difficulty in circulating it through the country. Prices duty and the business of every member of are better for grain, and wages for labor the Bar to be in attendance. If a client are higher, When there is stagnation here, it is felt all around us. Those there fore, who oppose the building of a bridge here are standing in their own light.

But the greatest necessity of the town i the establishment of manufacturing works that will give steady employment to a large number of working people. A large amount of money has been expended in putting the town in shape so that we can offer inducements to strangers to come here with their capital and engage in business. With a beautiful and healthful loca- It would annually save its cost in boo tion, with all necessary railroad connections, with gas, water, steam heat and sewerage, we are, as a municipality, on a level, if in deed we are not a good way ahead of any other town in the state. There has been expended at least $100.00 by private cor porations in the erection of these improvements besides many thousands of dollars spent by the town in sewerage and in grading and beautifying the streets. While al these things were necessary, and gave employment to many laborers when in course of construction, all combined do not give steady employment to more than a dozen hands. Our business men and capitalists have exhibited a liberal spirit in every movement that has been started for the benefit of the town in what may be con sidered more as luxuries than as absolute necessities, and if foreign capital cannot be brought here, there is no doubt that the next movement will be for the erection of manufacturing establishments. All the different shops, mills and for naces combined give standy employment to about 278 hands, which are distributed as follows :

Lockards. Woolen Mill ... Krug's Planing Mill.
School Furnishing Co. probably......

While in every community the majority of the population must be dependent on show that only about one fifteenth of the population of this town can find steady employment in these establishments. Of this number some are non-residents, who come here only temporarily, but do not move their families here on account of the scarcity of comfortable tenement houses There are over 800 voters in the town; there are at least 300 minors old enough to s10 for the best story of 1000 words. $10 work; and yet with 1100 male inhabitants most of whom must earn their bread by best pen and ink sketch. $5 for the best the sweat of their brows, there are industries enough only to employ one third or the number of "and's" in our next (May) one fourth of them, after making due allowance for all the artisans, mechanics. plasterers, painters, day laborers &c., the nature of whose trade or occupation does not permit of their working in shops in large numbers. Bloomsburg has improved wonderfully in the past twenty years, but it has not grown. The erection of shops of some kind sufficient to give employment to 500 or 1000 hands, would bring in new people to us, and their advent would necessitate building of a large number of new houses, which would for a time furnish work for all kinds of artisans. The monthly pay roll would put in circulation targe sums of money, and a period of prosperity would dawn upon us such as we have never known before.

Business will not come here of itself. It must be made by active and energetic efforts, and until we are wilting to take risks always incident to the investment of large capital, we can never hope to reap greater results.
