

LIBERAL OFFER.

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS TO ANY CHARITABLE INSTITUTION. IF IT CANNOT BE DONE AS IT IS STATED...

His doctor does not call it Bright's Disease. No, it is stomach disorder that he is suffering from now, and every few hours he takes a cold, and from time to time many other symptoms are developed.

This case is a prominent one because the general is an ex-president; and yet there are thousands of farmers quietly dying in their farm houses, of secondary symptoms of Bright's Disease, called by every other conventional name; thousands of workmen, likewise dying, leaving helpless families; hundreds of thousands in all walks of life who have sickened, and are likewise dying, helpless victims of powerless physicians.

Eight years ago a very well known gentleman was about to enter upon large commercial transactions. His medical adviser quietly dropped into his office one day and told his confidential clerk that he would be dead in three months, and that he ought to settle up his business affairs at once!

That man is alive and well to-day, yet he was given up as incurable with the same disease that is killing General Arthur!

Our reporter met this gentleman yesterday and in a conversation about the General's case, he said: "I will give $5,000 to any charitable institution in the state of New York, to be designated by the editor of the 'New York World,' the editor of the 'Buffalo News,' and W. E. Kisselburgh of the 'Troy Times,' if Warner's safe cure taken according to my directions which cured me eight years ago cannot cure General Chester A. Arthur of Bright's disease from which he is suffering."

"Now I want you to understand," he said, "that we do not profess to make 'new kidneys,' but we do know from personal experience of many thousands of similar cases, that we can stop the consumption of the kidneys. Many a man has gone through life with one kidney without inconvenience. Thousands of people have lived a majority of their life with one lung. They did not have a new lung made. We do not make new kidneys, but if the kidney is not consumed too much we can stop disease and prolong life if taken in time."

This offer comes from H. H. Warner, proprietor of Warner's safe cure, of this city. Mr. Warner also said, "My dear sir, there are governors, senators, presidential candidates, members of congress, prominent men and women all over the country whom I personally know have been cured of disease such as General Arthur suffers from, by our Warner's safe cure, but owing to the circles in which they move they do not care to give public testimony to the fact."

Mr. Warner is interested in General Arthur's case because he is personally acquainted with him and he says that it is a shame that any man should be allowed to die under the operation of old-fashioned powerful cathartics, which have no curative effects, rather than that a modern, conceded specific for kidney diseases whose worth is acknowledged world-wide, should save him.

"If you doubt the efficacy of Warner's safe cure," say the proprietors, "ask your friends and neighbors about it. This is asking but little. They can tell you all you want to know." Mr. Warner has left a standing offer before the public for four years," says Mr. Warner, "that we will give $5,000 to any person who can successfully dispute the genuineness, so far as we know of the testimonials we publish and none have done it."

Were General Arthur a poor man unable to left in the hands of his physician, he would use that great remedy, as many thousands of others have done, and get well. How absurd then for people to say that everything that can be done is being done for the ex-president, when the one successful remedy in the case like his, has not been used by them.

The Wrong Tip. The benefits drug stores confer on the community by enabling a fellow to take a drink under conditions where his dearest and most ardent friend cannot assist him of bad taste, cannot be overestimated. Whiskey is rather vulgar. But No. 6 is medicine, and acts purely as a life giving or life-saving article. The trouble is that the code is not universal, and different drug stores have different names for it. Consequently you have to be very careful. The other night a young man took his sweet heart into a drug store to give her some soda water. She had her vanilla and cream. He did not know the drug store.

"What was that terrible stuff you gave me last night?" "When?" "I came in here with my girl and asked for No. 6." "Well, I gave you No. 6—No. 6 drops, good for stomachache; the best thing in the world."

"But I wanted whiskey. Didn't you understand?" "Oh, whiskey. You should have asked for essence of tomato."

Senator Mahone proposes to be a second Boss Shepherd. He has a scheme which, if carried out, will give to Washington one of the most beautiful parks in the world.

ODD ITEMS.

Eggs always come in layers. Braid hats—Crack crickets. Maiden in waiting—Those beyond 25. Black measles is very fatal in Iowa. The season of ice-creamation has arrived. Tramps now call themselves walking delegates.

Home rule—Whipe your feet before you come in. A sick man last week boited a door and threw up a window. Old style fire-places are becoming fashionable in residences.

The Car of all the Russias is very partial to mystery pudding. Miss Polson, it is gratifying to learn, prefers high-neck dresses. When the Anarchist Polanders fell in Chicago, Freedom shrieked "Served them right."

Bonnets are to be small and hats high. They will all be high enough as regards the price. From the row over the fishery laws it would seem as though somebody had caught something.

There is a hen in Florida that lays two eggs a day. This country will be ruined by cheap labor. Where he sighs for her and she sighs for him, the sighs of the times are auspicious for a wedding.

There is a time for all things. The time to leave is when a young lady asks you how the walking is. The Rev. Dr. Talmage is frank enough to acknowledge that he owes a great deal to the newspapers.

A young Georgia clerk, in charging an article on an account book, entered the following: "To one Moses quit o net. Little Elsie (seeing for the first time a calf)—Oh, mamma! These must be the little cows that give condensed milk.

Huge projecting plaits are to be the next fashion in dressing ladies' hair. They will cost all the way from $1 up to $20. This is a whale of a tear is what the boy said when he was getting a thrashing from the old-fashioned schoolmaster.

Baldness are an accepted type of courage, but we have known the lowly and despised kitten come up to the scratch. The rejection of Mr. Button, the appointee for the Lynchburg postoffice, was to be expected. Buttons generally have to come off.

Mrs. General Wolsley thinks the General a much greater man than Gladstone; but then military men's wives are so partial. Hats and bonnets are coming down about an inch. If they come down about 50 per cent. it would be something to write about.

Mrs. Senator Logan wears rich lace like she does adorned the person of the Empress of European fashion, the once fair Eugenie herself. "I should have no objection," said a hen-pecked husband, "to my wife having the last word, if I could only be assured that it would be the last."

The difference between a proof reader and a compositor has been fully stated. One is a palmer and the other a setter. Edna Lyall, the young English authoress, has a fancy for bells, which is curious, as we should have naturally supposed she would be partial to beads.

Gen't—You don't care about going to the theatre? Snob—No; I confess I have a great dislike to sitting with people to whom I have not been introduced. Mysteries of Modern Magic. In modern times magicians have made much use of the mirrors. The celebrated "Sphinx" trick or "Talking Head," which caused such a profound sensation when it was first brought out a few years ago, owed its astonishing effect entirely to the aid of the mirror. Not even the marvelous automatic chess player of Maelzel is at all to be compared to the "Sphinx," which may justly be regarded as the most remarkable illusion ever invented for the bewilderment of mankind.

But while the possibility of hiding the person of a dwarf within the box upon which the chess player was seated might have occurred to any one as a solution of the mystery, it was difficult for the spectator to imagine how an agency other than supernatural could be connected with a head which lay in a dish on the table; it was evident to the audience at the agency for the audience could see under the table, and there was nothing there. Beneath the table were visible the carous at the back of the stage, which was hung all around with dark cloth reaching to the floor. It is not surprising that this marvelous "talking head" should have excited the astonishment of Europe, or that it should have puzzled the most eminent scientific men to account for the mysterious phenomenon; and yet, as it is the case with all really effective tricks, the riddle of the sphinx was an exceedingly simple one.

A man was actually under the table with his head through a hole in the top but his body was concealed by mirrors so adroitly disposed that they reflected the curtains at the sides of the stage, thus producing an optical illusion by which the spectator was led to believe that he was looking under the table and seeing the hanging at the back. The deception is so perfect that it is almost impossible, even with a person who is acquainted with the nature of the illusion, to realize that it is such. An effect somewhat similar is produced by a large plain mirror inclined away from the audience at an angle of forty-five degrees. In the middle of the glass is a hole, through which the performer passes his head, which seems to float in the air, the body of the man being concealed behind the mirror.
