Between 5 and 4 o'clock Wednesday morning of last week, an immense cave-in occured on the Lehigh Valley railroad near Stockton, Luzerne county. The cave in is about 300 feet long and 150 feet wide Three tracks covered the place of the cave with lumber were on them these were n was so early in the morning that they did not reach that point. Arrangements were made at once for grading around the cave-in and a new track will be down in a day or two.

The School Furnishing company com menced operations last week. Everything being new, they could not look for the machinery to move smoothly, but are high ly pleased at the result of the first few days work. They have secured a fine moulding sand and an expert moulder. The firs castings thry made were so smooth that it required but little dressing before they were ready for use. When once thorough ly in running order they expect to make the very finest castings in such manner as will need no extra work of preparation after they once come from the sand. Any one having small castings to make would do well to call upon the company for terms, and have all their work done at home.

From reliable sources it is learned that all the Lehigh Valley Railroad offices will be removed from Mauch Chunk to Bethle hem, and that in a short time the latter place will be the headquarters for the transaction of all official business of the company. The reason for the change is said to be the long-continued warfare be tween Philadelphia and Betalehem for these offices. General Traffic Marage to a delegate, when the whole number of Taylor removes his office on the ground that Bethlehem is more convenient, and a majority of the head men are of the opin ion that that place is even better than Phil adelphia, and that all offices will speedily follow the removal of Mr. Taylor. For several weeks past Nanticoke bay been anticipating sensational developments $10,000,000 endowment, and St. Luke's from the alleged criminal intimacy of Charlotte Bayliss, a pretty married woman with John P. Puckey, a well-known citizen until recently the time-keeper of the Eusquenanna Coal Co. Thursday morning the sensation came in the fatal shooting of he woman by her husband, Edward Bay-

The crime, committed at Bayliss' hom about 2 o'clock, was described by the woman white conscious Thursday morning, In substance it is that she had placed be four children in bed at an early hour, and shortly after retired herself, followed soon by her husband, who had been of a more pleasant mood than for several evenings which she was awakened by her husband about 1:30 o'clock. He began to question her about her relations with Puckey, who on Monday of last week was bound over before a Wilkes-Barre magistrate to answer the charge of adultery at the instance urged and threatened, but she absolutely efused to state anything, saying she would prefer having her throat cut from ear to ear than to open her mouth on the matter.

The husband then said he would kill her if she did not answer, and she, becoming alarmed, got out of bed to escape from the room. As she did so Bayliss reached out of bed, and grasping a ready revolver fired at her, the shot striking her right cheek and glancing off through the forehead. She rushed for the stairway. The second shot was fired, striking her in the left side of the back and lodging above, close to the heart, producing a fatal wound. The ball was extracted. It was of thirty two calibre, The wounded woman ran out of the house The will of the late Judge Packer was a to a neighbor's, and, with the cry of "Murder!" sank helpless on the porch, clothed only in her nightdress. "Another short stop at Pittsburg, and one at Alliance, is the last that I remember, as I turned in about this time, and when I awakened the next morning we were somewhere between Fort Wayne and Chicago. I could not resist the temptation to take breakfast on the Limited, which was hardly finished before the train come to its final stop in the Union Depot, Chicago. This was 9.30, twenty-four hours and a half after leaving New York. This company has been untiring in adopting every means to rescue the imprisoned miners, and, as ar as I am informed from public records and from my personal knowledge of other mining accidents, no company in the an thracite region has exercised care in preventing accidents which might involve the lives of the miners, and has been more prompt and generous in all its efforts to statement after a thorough investigation of the circumstances attending the accident, since in some of the published accounts at the time the accident took place it was management of the Company as to the proper support to give the rocks and the coal culm on the top of the surface overlying the coal bed." Mr. Ashburner de scribes the measures that were taken im mediately after the accident to relieve the imprisoned miners, and continuing says "I am thoroughly convinced that the same force which, within an hour brought material from the 'cave-in' out to the mouth of the tunnel opening into slope No. 2, carried similar material within a much shorter time to rooms south and west of th anguor, biliousness, liver troubles and all cave-in in which the imprisoned miner were supposed to have been at the time th accident took place, and I believe that all the men there entrapped were doubtless dead inside of an hour. The Church Festival.

As this is the season of year for fes tivals, I thought perhaps a few words on that subject from one not on the committee might be acceptable

The wise man says, "Lo, this only have I found, that God hath made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions." The church festival Middle district, regarding the petition of I presume is one of them. The conunction connecting the two clauses in the sentence quoted above, seems to my benighted mind to imply opposimake or keep a man upright. which led to the Nanticoke disaster, and

That the fertival is man's invention I think will be conceded, unless it has a still worse origin.) from the fact that logical Survey now in the hands of the we find no warrant or mention of any State Printer. The following extracts from thing of the kind in the Scripture views on the subject, are given:-"A re- no thought of any thing of that kind, view of all the facts bearing upon the care when he came to Gilgal in time of a dearth, and found the sons of the Nanticoke cave-in has been prosecuted by prophets in want of food. There was a case where certain ladies of uncertain age might have found most congenial employment in getting up a festival for those dear self-sacrificing young men, if the prophet had intimated that such service would be acceptable. But the prophet takes a more prosaic plan to satisfy their immediate wants He said to his servants set on the great pot and seethe pottage for the ons of the prophets."

I do not profess to be an interpreter of scripture narratives, but I suppose, those sons of the prophets were young men preparing to teach in the ancient relieve the unfortunate, than the Susque- Jewish church, and that Elisha was hanna Coal Company. I have made this their principal instructor. Had those students and their instructor lived in our day, and been in such reduced circumstances, no doubt some would be philanthropist would have gotten up a charged to ignorance on the part of the festival or charity ball for their benefit. Again the students found the place where they dwelt too strait for them that any of the imprisoned miners are now and the first fruits of thy increase, so living, as set forth in the petition, and shall thy barns be filled with plenty aside from the very great expense which and thy presses burst out with new wine.' such an undertaking would be very hazarsuch encouragement for either buying or selling ice cream or peanuts at a festival. An argument frequently made use of in defence of church festivals is, that it draws a certain amount of money from those who otherwise would not give any thing. This may look justifiable, but I think we have no warrant for such procedure. When Moses wished to raise means for the building of the Tabernacle, "he spake unto the children of Israel, saying, this is the thing which the Lord commanded, take ye from among you an offering unto the Lord, whosoever of a willing heart, let him bring it. an offering unto the Lord, gold, silver bove, we would be inclined to exclaim why Moses thou art an old schemer ! If we think such work would look little tricky, if it were done by Moses or the prophets, how think you does it look for men under the Christian dispensation?

But we look in vain for any scripture precedent. The only thing I have been able to find in Scripture, money sitting. If the proceeds of those sales were to be used with service

Whatever may have been the object of those sales, the offense seems to have been making the temple a house a scourge of small cords. He drove them all out of the temple, and the sheep and the oxen; and poured out he changer's money and overthrew the tables; and said unto them that sold doves, "take these things hence; make not my father's house a house o merchandise. Whether it would be the proper thing at the present day for some good citizen to take a cat-o'-nine-tails, and drive those speculators out of the or away from the church is a question. I do not propose to decide; but I suggest those wishing to get money for benevolent purposes by selling cakes, candy, peanuts or beer, that they open a conectionery or restaurant, take out a licence and do a legitimate business, and not bring reproach upon the cause they are aiming to benefit.

Ayer's Hair Vigor keeps the hair soft freshness of youth, causes it to grow luxuriantly, cradicates Dandruff, cures all scalp diseases, and is the most clean-ly of all hair preparations.

AYER'S Hair Vigor has given me perfect satisfaction. I was nearly bald for six years, during which time I used many hair preparations, but without success. Indeed, what little hair I had was growing thinner, until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used two bottles of the Vigor, and my head is now well covered with a new growth of hair.

—Judson B. Chapel, Peabody, Mass.

HAIR that has become weak, gray, and faded, may have new life and color restored to it by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "My hair was thin, faded, and dry, and fell out in large quantities. Ayer's Hair Vigor stopped the falling, and restored my hair to its original color. As a dressing for the hair, this preparation has no equal.—Mary N. Hammond, Stillwater, Minn.

This duinty book of are time pages is printed on good paper, with wide margins, and is a prize for a bibliophile.

This history is upon an entirely novel and original plan, which makes it indispensable to every person, no matter now many other histories he may have.

It is arranged chronologically by years, from the discovery of America to 1886. Every event is narrated in the order of its date. These are not commed, as in other works, to political matters, but embrace every branch of human action. It describes under it proper date all important patents, all discoveres in science and the useful arts; the digiting of cannis and the building of radironds and telegraph these the founding of towns and the exciton of nodals buildings and bridges; the first performances of plays and the first appearances of actors and singers; fires, floods, hall-storms, formatoes, cyclones, epidemics accidents and disasters on sea and land; riots and erines; panics and business failures; "corrers" and phenomenal prices in all markets; labor troubles, strikes and lock-outs, and aundreds of other matters ever mentioned by historians, which are of the greatest importance to all who what to understand the progress of their country. Besides being a history in the ordinary sense, it is a condensed newspaper file for four hundred years.
