BASEBALL GOSSIP.

Terry is said to be the swiftest pitcher the American association, and that he has bettered the time made by Hocker and Galvin, when they pitched the ball from the box to the plate in seven-eighths of a second.

A well-known Pittsburg attorney, who has tracts, and has figured in suits growing out of them, says they are illegal, and would not of them, says they are illegal, and would not stand for a moment in any court in the land. As for blacklisting a player, which is prac-tically issuing an injunction to prevent him from making a livelihood, it gives the victim the best kind of grounds for a suit for con-spiracy against the club or association or clubs placing a ban upon him.

It is said that Dunlap will get $4,500 a year Pittsburg, and the managers say that they close the season about $30,000 ahead. It is estimated that 113,000 spectators have seen the games between the Chicagos and New Yorks and Detroits and New Yorks in Keefe, Washington's new left-handed pitcher, is looked upon as a wonder by

One of the reasons given for Tim Keefe's effectiveness as a pitcher this season is that he pitches a slower ball than many other pitchers. And as the batsmen are in the habit of bat-ting swiftly pitched balls, they can do nothing with a slow ball, and usually strike at it be fore it comes within reach. Stemmyer, the Boston pitcher, owes his effectiveness to the intimidation of batsmen. In two games in this city he hit five men and kept others jumping around the plate to keep out of reach of his closely pitched balls. There is hardly a reasonable doubt but that Fittsburg will be found in the League ranks next season, and Manager Scanlan, of Washington, is authority for saying that Von der Ahe and his St. Louis club will also enter if they are guaranteed Sunday games. Williamson, of Chicago, and Crane, of the Washingtons, are the longest throwers in the National League.

Sam Crane, lately of the Detroit club, has signed with the St. Louis League club, and is playing in his old position, second base.

Johnny Ward, in a magazine article, says a base ball player's life is not a happy one.

All rumors to the effect that Kansas City is to drop out of the League next year are with-out foundation. The management expect to greatly strengthen the club this year and have a strong one next season.

Glasscock is now the captain of the St. Louis Marcons, and is getting better work out of the team than any of his predocessors. Omaha has the most remarkably baseball club in America. It consists of one player. If the managers would secure eight other players the club might occasionally win a game.—Omaha Bec.

President Lucas says that in so far as the present St. Louis team is concerned, he will not be in the baseball business next season.
