To Subscribers Living Outside o

Three weeks ago notices of subscription due were sent out from this office to all subscribers residing out of the county. Two weeks ago notice was given in the paper that all such must pay in advance, as we have to pay the postage weekly in cash and a respectful request was made that ing county. prompt attention be given the matter by each one. Up to this time the result has not been at all satisfactory. Many who are abundantly able to pay, seem to have paid no attention to our request, being in their estimation too small a thing to bother with, and so we must again remind them that our terms outside of the county are strictly eash in advance, and papers will no longer be sent where these terms are not promptly to our notice. To such we return our thanks. Those who have not done so will receive a second notice shortly as these accounts must be settled this month. Reader. if you live out of the county, and have received a notice by mail, do not delay any longer, but send us a check or a postal note, or postage stamps for the proper amount, and you will enjoy reading your paper much better than if you feel that you owe the printer.

It has been decided by the rallroad company to creet a bridge. By paying one fifth of the cost of the bridge, the county can have a car riage way added to it. It is only a question of time as to when a free bridge wil se built here, and it would be economy for the county to join with the railroad in the erection of a double bridge, and thus secure for $12,000 or $15,000 what will cost $50, 000 if the county builds it alone. The natter is worthy of careful consideration.

The Chestnut. ONR MORE ORIGIN OF THE PIGURATIVE SENSE OF THE WOPD.

From the Pittsbury Penny Press. The application of the word "chestnuts" and is accepted so unquestioningly by a bored public that but few stop to inquire the origin of the term as used in that connection. It came about in this wise :

Two or three years ago a party of young folks of this city were enjoying themselves at a Hallowe'en party in the orthodox way, with apples, nuts, cider and-jokes. One young man, who had probably been reading up an almanae or a volume of Joe Miller for the occasion, fairly deluged his ompanions with anecdotes. Some were good, some were had, some were neither good nor bad, but all were unmistakably aged. The young man worked industriously at his anecdote mill and ground out his stories at the rate of about six an hour for several hours. His listeners good-natured'y laughed at his venerable witticisms until the hour of midnight approached. Then a fun-loving young damsel devised a plan to stop his flow of talk.

"Have a chestnut, Mr. Smith ?" she said, when the young man commenced another

"Thank you," he replied. "As I saying, when I saw the-" "Chestnut, did you say ?" put in one his hearers.

"No. but-"Try a few chestnuts," said another. "I have some," replied the unhappy young man; "but as I was saying, when I

"Chestnuts?" said the original conspira-It was of no use. The young man gave up his story telling and the name "Chestnuts" has clung to him ever since. The joke on the young man was retailed n every direction until an actor at the Opera House heard it. He thought the word "chestnut" very expressive, and used it in the course of conversation with his ellow thespians in its slangy sense. It was instantly caught up by his companions, for if there is anything your thorough-go ing actor dearly loves is a new slang word, and within three months the word "chestnut," to designate a stale joke, rang through the dressing rooms of every theatre from New York to 'Frisco. Now it has become part of the vernacular of the United States, and the primmest maiden and the staunch est deacon does not disdain to use the expressive slang term occasionally. Pittsburg is acknowledged to be a live, progressive city, with its natural gas, typhoid fever and city hall rings, but not everybody knows that it was the birthplace of one of the most successful slang words of the cen tury. The history of its origin has never appeared in print before and no one car herefore say that this narrative is a "chest

SEVEN HUNGARIANS ROASTED ALIVE IN

At a place called North Mond, six miles from Laporte, Sullivan county, and not far from Hughesville, a number of Hungarians have been living, 22 of them occupying a shanty. At night after the men had gone to bed and to sleep, the cook stove was upset in some manner and the shanty was ig nited in no time. All but seven of the Hungarians became awakened, probably by the smoke, and the wildest excitement usued. The terrified Hungarians, who were fortunate enough to get awake, 15 in number, ran from the burning building panic-stricken, never attempting to awaken their sleeping companions, who were ignorant of their impending and awful fate. After the fire the seven charred and blackened bodies were found in the ruins. Besides the terrible loss of life and the destruction of the building, $300 in money, Latayette Frank and Fred Ikeler and which had been saved up by the Hungarians and stowed away, was consumed. Catarrh, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, without relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured.—Susan L. Gook, 508 Albany st., Boston, Mass. Can be cured by purifying Ayer's Sarsaparilla s superior to any blood purifier that I ever tried. I have taken it for Scrotula, Canker, and Salt-Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach.
