ABOUT EARTHQUARES.

Earthquakes increase in number wward the middle and end of a century.

Since the creation of the world 14,000,006 people have been killed by earthquakes. One reason why Charleston suffered so severely from the earthquake is because it is on a low sandy soil. There is an earthquake every day in the year somewhere, although it may be so slight as to be hardly noticeable.

One hundred earthquakes were recorded last year, and during some recent years 600 were recorded. In 1880, 1,300 shocks occurred in Japan. Seismic troubles are often correctly predicted days ahead by that delicate instrument, the seismometer. The trouble is to tell just where the shocks will take place.

It was only the low-lying portion of Lis-bon which was destroyed in 1755. In San Francisco the buildings on the "made lands" near the bay suffer more from earthquake than those on the hill portion of the city.

A most astonishing phenomenon of the Juvanese carthquake was the splitting of the Papandayang mountain. In a flash of time it was split into seven parts. Where the lone mountain hall stood loomed up seven peaks, each some 7,000 feet high.

Earthquakes do not result from volcances. Frequently volcances are formed by earth-quakes. The greatest number of volcanic cruptions are in the summer, while the great-est number of earthquakes occur in the win-ter. The two are simply the different effects a common cause.

or a common cause. Grocec, Italy, Egypt, Asia Minor and North Africa belong to one of the three great earth-quake areas of the globs. The other two are (i) the Andes, western coast of North America, Kamschatka, Japan and New Zea-land; (2) Arabia and India, from the equator to twenty degrees north latitude.

The Pacific slope has long enjoyed an un-desirable pre-eminence as the distinctively earthquake region of the United States, yet, according to the records kept at Washington, three were 147 earthquakes on the Atlantic coast from 1572 to 1883 and only 131 during the same time on the Pacific coast.

Sir John F. W. Herschel, in a lecture on earthquakes published about ten years ago, ealls attention to the enormous quantities of matter that are carried to the ocean by rivers, or are washed from the coast, and says that in order to countrast this coat, and gunkes are constantly occurring in some lo-cality. The key to the whole affair is to be found in the central heat of the earth.

The late Commander Morrison, royal navy, in 1854, published the following observations on earthquakes: "Earthquakes generally fol-low close on the local of eclipses. At the period of the carthquake many aspects will be found between the planets in the heavens." In the present instance an eclipse of the sun occurred on Aug. 20. Jupiter and Uranaz-were in conjunction with the moon on Aug. 31. On the same day there were important argents between the sum and Jupiter and be-tween Mars and Uranuz-Boston Advertiser.
