West, via Pittsburg or Erie—tickets sold by "Chris and Lena" gave a good show to a small house on Monday evening. The performance was very funny, and but for a slight tinge of vulgarity would have been first class for a variety show.

We have been using one of the Champion lamps, manufactured by A. J. Wiedemann, Second Street, Philadelphia, and find it to meet every requirement as advertised. The lamps are manufactured in all styles, from the stand lamp to the most expensive chandeliers.

The Mendelssohn Quintette Club Concert Company of Boston will appear at the Opera House on Friday evening Nov. 19th. This company is of the kind that seldom visits county towns, and our people will have an opportunity to listen to a higher grade of music than is often afforded them. The musicians are artists of first ability, and the press assure us that their work is thoroughly pleasing. Secure seats at Dentler's.

The Grange Hall, on the third floor of the Farmers' Produce Exchange building, in this place, was formally dedicated on Friday afternoon of last week. Mr. Merwin Whitehead, of New Jersey, delivered an interesting address to a large number of members of the Grange and visitors. In the evening an entertainment was given by the young members of the Grange. The hall was well filled and all delighted with the programme.

The advertising wagon of A. C. Yates & Co., was on our streets Friday of last week. Mr. J. K. Keller, the agent, has been on the road with the team for two years and covers a large territory. He distributes cards, pocket books, pocket knives, &c. The firm of A. C. Yates & Co. is one of the largest ready-made clothing houses in Philadelphia. Their trade not only encompasses Pennsylvania, but reaches out into New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and the Virginia.

The variety entertainment that was announced for Saturday night did not take place. Sparring, singing, dancing, &c., were on the programme, but there was no audience, and so the curtain did not go up. Late in the evening one of the party became hilarious and got into a fight at corner of Main and Centre, with some others of the troupe, and Constable Woodward put him in the lock-up until he cooled off. He was liberated on paying the fine, and left town on the first train.

Miss Laura Purcell died at the house of Zebulon Shultz, on Fifth street, Saturday morning, of typhoid fever. She was first taken with malarial fever, which afterward developed into typhoid. Miss Purcell's home was near Iola, this county. She came to Bloomsburg about eleven years ago as servant girl and has been in this section ever since. During the latter part of her illness her father came down and remained with her until her death, when the body was conveyed to Millville for interment. She was about 39 years of age.

Our Daily Bread. Heavy and sour bread or bread with a yeast influence through the digestive organs upon the measure of health we enjoy. How important to our present happiness and future usefulness the blessing of good health and a sound constitution are, we can only realize when we have lost them, and when it is too late to seek for them.

On motion the town solicitor was ordered to notify the D. L. & W. R. R. Co. that for the safety of the public said solicitor, station agent or conductor proper to be closed during the passing of trains over said street.

The Town Solicitor appeared and advised the council against the passage of the ordinance proposed by the merchants who presented their petition at the meeting of Aug. 6th last, holding that such ordinance, as there is already a law of the state providing for the punishment of hawkling and peddling. Accordingly on motion it was agreed to decline action on said petition.

On motion the commissioner of highways was directed to put up guard rails along the dangerous parts of the Light Street road, and the road along the bank of Fishingcreek.

The Chautauque circle will meet at the residence of Mrs. John on Main street, Monday evening Nov. 15th.

An interesting program has been prepared for the occasion.

Rev. L. Zahner's new church at Omaha was not completed at the expected time, and will not be ready for occupancy for several weeks. He and his family reached Omaha safely, and until the church is opened he has put himself in the hands of the Bishop to preach wherever he may be sent.

A young man named Wm. Bryan was badly burned at Neal's furnace last week. The iron in running to the moulds passed over a cold water pipe, and melted off the pipe, the water escaped into the hot iron, and caused the iron to splatter in all directions. Some of the iron splattered on the young man's clothing. He was considerably burned before the fire was extinguished. At present he is doing well and hopes are entertained of his entire recovery.

In counting the vote last week it appeared that C. B. Murphy had received 213 votes in Benton instead of G. Murphy. The tickets as voted were printed correctly, and the change of the initial was a mistake in the clerks of the election board who made up the returns. As it made no difference in the result the court decided to let the vote stand as returned, rather than to the county to the expense of sending for the board to correct the error.

If there was a case of cruelty to animals one was seen at corner of Third and Centre streets Saturday afternoon of last week. A man was driving down Third street with horse and truck wagon; he was carrying an umbrella to shield himself from the driving rain. As he was about to cross at the corner of Centre his umbrella was blown from his hands and driven in front of the horse. The horse became frightened and would not pass while the umbrella lay there between his head and beating rain. The driver began beating the horse. Several times he was remonstrated with by people near by, but he continued his rude work until the horse ran against the gas lamp post and broke the lamp; then he walked out, picked up his umbrella, and drove on without any trouble. He will have a new lamp to buy; but this will hardly satisfy for such fool-hardy work. If the proper officers would have arrested him and imposed a heavy fine it would have been just what he deserved.

Quite an excitement was created on Main street last Saturday morning by the loud screams of a woman and little girl. They were in the Poor horse wagon, and Superintendent McBride drove the team while Constable Woodward held the woman's hands. She is the wife of Geo. Dodson who does not live with her, and she was living in an old building in Rabbitown without food or proper clothing and that she asked her child. An order of relief was taken out before they went for her she got on all-night and went to Berwick. She was sent back from there by the authorities and on Saturday morning Superintendent McBride and Poor Inspector Kiehm went after her with the wagon, but she made such an outcry coming up Market street that they let her get out. Finding that she was about to leave town again, the services of Constable Woodward were secured, and she was taken to the poor house by force. It seemed like harsh treatment, but under the circumstances nothing better could be done. For if, herself she would have wandered off and become a charge on some other district which would have sent her back here with a big bill of costs.

The next annual session of the Columbia county Teachers' Institute will be held at Bloomsburg during the week commencing Monday Dec. 20, 1886. The following distinguished instructors and lecturers have been engaged: Prof. Neff of Phila., Miss McClintock, Meadville, Pa., Miss Ross, Chicago, Col. Bain, Ky., Col. Conwell, Phila., Dr. J. M. Buckley, New York city, Miss E. B. Gule, Prof. Clark, Prof. Noetling, Dr. Higbee and Dr. Waller. The Bloomsburg Choral Society will furnish music for the day and evening sessions.

The regular monthly meeting of the Town Council was held Friday evening, President Zarr and Messrs. Steiner, Rosenstock, Sterling, Sharpless and Clark, members, being present. A committee from the Rosemont Cemetery Co. appeared, soliciting the Council to join with them in putting down a branch sewer to extend from the main in Market street, up first to Centre and in the event such arrangement could not be effected, then they desired permission to lay pipe to said sewer in Market street of sufficient size to drain the waste water from the fountain which they propose to erect. The following resolution was offered and motion agreed to:

Resolved, That the Council grant the Cemetery Co. the privilege of laying a branch sewer on First street, from Market to Centre, and to make connection with the main sewer gratis, and to receive the appropriate fees from all of the property owners along said branch who may desire to connect the same to be laid under the supervision of the Supt. of Sewers, without any expense to the town.

Nonimbursements for tax collector for 1886 he had declared in order, M. C. Woodward was nominated and unanimously elected. A petition was presented, signed by thirty-four citizens, praying the town to construct a crossing on Second street opposite the post-office. The prayer of the petitioners was not granted.

On motion the town solicitor was ordered to notify the D. L. & W. R. R. Co. that for the safety of the public said solicitor, station agent or conductor proper to be closed during the passing of trains over said street.

The Town Solicitor appeared and advised the council against the passage of the ordinance proposed by the merchants who presented their petition at the meeting of Aug. 6th last, holding that such ordinance, as there is already a law of the state providing for the punishment of hawkling and peddling. Accordingly on motion it was agreed to decline action on said petition.

On motion the commissioner of highways was directed to put up guard rails along the dangerous parts of the Light Street road, and the road along the bank of Fishingcreek.

The following bills were approved: Commissioner of highways, $32 37; Surveyors labor on highways, $9 87; Sundry persons hauling on highways, $2 90; R. Waller, professional services, 105 00; Samuel Neuhard, Sec'y Oct., 10 00; Sundry persons, police, 17 73; M. C. Woodward, high constable, for October, 4 17.

Some timely hints about fur garments.

First: Some hundreds or thousands of you have your furs in storage here. When you want them got out, please drop us a line a day beforehand.

Second: Now and then a woman has a real desire to see how furs are cut and worked and sewed into garments. Once we invited you to visit our work-room. That proved too great a tax. We had to withdraw the invitation. But, if one really has occasion to go to the work-room and will bear the unpleasant smells for the sake of the information, we are glad to take her up. It is on the fourth floor of 1301 Chestnut, next the roof. There are forty men and women, machines and hand-work, steaming and steving till ten o'clock at night. Ventilation enough to carry off the smells is out of the question. The higher you go in this building the denser the population.

The most useful garments are coats, seal coats. We say this with due regard to the fashion. It is not a mere practical statement. Nine out of ten buy coats, coat styles are two—no trimming on either; The old straight front with wider skirt than formerly, rolling collar which buttons close in the neck on occasion; the English style, which is snug all over, close in the body, close in the collar. Both are $6 to 46 inches long. $125 to $250.

For your better understanding of what we are doing in furs all through we ought to say this: We use more skins for a coat than furriers commonly use. There are two ways of making a coat aside from choosing the skins. One is to cut them economically; the other is to cut them extravagantly. One results in a coat of varying fur; the other is uniform all over. Of course we make what you want us to make; and we make it as you want us to make it. But, in the absence of special agreement the other way, we make our furs with a generosity rare among furriers. Nobody knows how much this means but a furrier. Nobody sees the whole effect on a garment. Indeed the effect may be in the skin and not in the fur at all—invisible. Fur work is full of chances to do or not do. It is very largely a matter of confidence. Nobody not an expert can judge it even approximately. We do not ask you to judge it. That would be a pretence that you could. We make it such that you can in part. Beyond what you see in our work it is such as you see on the surface. That is what we mean when we say: It is done upon honor all through.

Seal walking-jackets, perfectly plain, not a bit of decoration of any sort, not even a cuff or a button in sight, close-fitting, small sleeves, snug standing collar, 24 to 26 inches long—there is not much of it, but what there is must be the finest of fur—$125.

Long seal dolmans, ulsters and newmarkets, trimmed with black or natural beaver, black lynx, black marten or monkey, are worn but little. We keep a sample garment of frequent styles and only make to order, $150 to $350; more for extreme sizes.

Visites and other wraps are seal or persianer, which latter means a certain sort of lamb-skin that comes to us from Russia—we presume it is Persian—a very good skin with pretty curly black short hair. The shapes are many and various; the trimming, natural beaver and black, black lynx, black marten and balls and drops and fringes of seal, $100 to $225. No tails on fine fur garments.

Fur-lined circulars, same as heretofore, except they have dropped to the rôle of carriage-wraps. They are very plain, Sicilian silk with hare collar and edge down front and lined with hemster, squirrel, squirrel-back and mink sable; $20 to $100. Now and then a raglan, $35 to $175.

We stop at tur wraps today, 1301 Chestnut. Silk seal-plush wraps $15 up; coats $23 up; ulsters $40 up; and raglans $50 up. 1301 Chestnut second floor. Take car.

Long cloth wraps of all sorts including that beautiful wonderful English waterproof serge. 1301 Chestnut. English fine fancy dress-cloths mostly 56-inch and $2.50 a yard; some $2; some $3. A hundred styles, maybe two-hundred. Few such cloths are found in this city outside; and they at very different prices sometimes.

American fancy dress-cloths, not so costly or rare or fine as the English; the styles as many 50-inches; $1 to $2; generally 50-inches or wider. Plenty of dress-stuffs are down a peg or two. A German serge cut into half-inch squares by single threads of bright silk; a $1.25 stuff for $1.42-inch.

The silk shows little more than a broken line of stitches and dots. The principal colors and black. A German armure cut into half-inch stripes by two-thread lines of two-color silk; a $1.25 stuff for $1.42-inch.

A German zig-zag twill cut into half-inch squares by color stripes of silk and wool; resembling the last but softer; a $1.25 stuff for $1.42-inch.

American serge cut into half-inch stripes by single threads of bright color; a 60c stuff for 50c; yard-wide.

American pin-check cloth, both pin-check and mixture, a little wick-off the checks become mixtures, 52-inch; a $1 stuff for 75c.

American plaid over-pin-checks, 52-inch; a $1 stuff for 75c.

Frowsy diagonal, 48-inch; a $1.25 stuff for 75c. Diagonal frowsier still; gray, covered with tangle of silver hairs; a $1 stuff for 60c; 52-inch.

Check and not check, obscure, coarse texture, frowsy with golden hairs; a $1 stuff for 60c; 54-inch. Must stop somewhere. southeast of the center.

GEORGE A. CLARK, P. M. N. W. Ayer & Son's American Newspaper Annual for 1886 is one of the most complete works of the kind ever published. It contains a carefully prepared list of all newspapers and periodicals in the United States and Canada, arranged by States in geographical sections, and by towns in alphabetical order, giving the name of the papers, the issue, general characteristics, year of establishment, size, circulation, and advertising rates for ten lines one month.

Also complete lists of all the religious or agricultural periodicals, of medical, commercial, scientific, educational, or any other of the class publications, as well as all publications printed in foreign languages.

It contains besides a vast amount of general and statistical information of practical value to almost every business man, and, in its line, as preserving a place on desk or in library as Webster's dictionary or a first-class encyclopedia.

Jacoby sells a solid quart of oysters for 30c. that weighs 2 lbs. Iron Roof. Experience demonstrates that the best results are given by iron laid in sheets, with the joints so constructed as to allow for expansion and contraction, and fastened by a device which avoids nailing or riveting through the sheets. This is the kind of roof made by the Boston Iron Roofing Co., who have advertised in these columns for some months. They make superior styles, corrugated and plain, in appearance, the latter being similar in appearance to galvanized iron. It is said that these roofs are better and cheaper than tin, shingles or slate, and they can be laid by ordinary mechanics. The sheets are also used for siding. They are manufactured in large quantities and shipped to all parts of the country, being extensively used on coal barrels, mills and other large buildings, as well as on stores, dwellings, barns, sheds, etc. In and about Pittston they are used on every hand. Their popularity at home is a strong testimonial to their excellence.

When catarrh has progressed to a certain extent, it is only a step to that terribly fatal disease, consumption. If you have catarrh, even slightly, it is a terrible mistake to allow it to continue its course unchecked. If you will only read, you will find conclusive reasons why you should take Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, in the statements of many people who have been completely cured of this disease in even its most severe forms. Send for book containing abundant evidence, to C. I. Hood & Co., proprietors of Hood's Sarsaparilla, Lowell, Mass.
