CHESTER A. ARTHUR.

THE SUCCESSOR OF GARPIELD PASSES. AWAY.

Ex-President Chester A. Arthur died at 5 o'clock Thursday morning of last week at his residence, No. 123 Lex-ington avenue, N.Y. He had been ailing some time from a complication of diseases, principally kidney affection He had spent the summer at a water-ing place and it was supposed that this had strengthened somewhat his enfecbled constitution. His death was unexpected, it not being supposed outside of his house that he was in any immediate danger. As soon as the news of the death was announced many flags were placed at half mast on public and private buildings. A stroke of cere-bral apoplexy, sudden, but not wholly unexpected by his physicians, termi-nated Mr. Arthur's life. The stroke came in his sleep daring Tuesday night and he did not rally thereafter. For hours before the end came he was un conscious to his surroundings. His son and daughter, his sister, his former law partner, Sherman W. Knevals, and his closest friend, Surrogate Rollins were at his bedside. The funeral took place on Monday at 9 a. m., from the Church of Heavenly Rest, on Fifth Avenue. The Rev. Dr. Parker Morgan officiating. Mr. Arthur was not a member of any church, but his wife formerly attended that church. The remains will be interred in Albany

Rural Cemetery in the family plot. President Cleveland sent the follow ing telegram of sympathy to Mrs. Mc "Accept my heartfelt sympathy in your personal grief and the expression of my serrow for the death of one who was my kind and considerate friend. The people of the country will sincere arn the loss of a citizen who served them well in their highest trust and won their affection by an exhibi-tion of the best traits of true American character."

Chester Alan Arthur was born in Fairfield. Franklin county, Vermont, October 5, 1830, the oldest of two sons of the Rev. Dr. William Arthur. He had four sisters older and two younger than himself. His father, a Baptist elergyman, emigrated from Rallymena County Anttim, Ireland, and was a graduate of Belfast university, He was the author of a work on Family names and published The Antiquarian.

Ex-President Arthur entered Union College at the early age of 15 and grad-uated high in the class of 1848, sup-porting himself while at college by teaching, and in the same manner while studying law. In 1853 he went to New York and entered the law office of ex-Judge E. D. Culver, was admitted to the bar the same year and began the practice of law. In 1859 he was married to Elten Lewis Herndon, of Fredericksburg, Virginia, a daughter of Captain William Lewis Herndon, who heroically remained at his post and went down with his ship, the Central America, in 1857, his widow being voted a gold medel by Congress in recognition of his bravery. Mrs. Arthur died in January 1880, leaving two children, Chester Alan, aged 15, and Ellen Herndon, aged 8

Mr. Arthur first distinguished himself in the Lemmon slave case in which he was attorney for the people, Will-iam M. Evarts being the leading coun-sel. They maintained that the eight slaves of Jonathan Lemmon, of Virginia, were rendered free by the act of the master in bringing them into free territory and Judge Paine ordered the slaves released. In 1856 Mr. Arthur secured a verdict against a street car company for ejecting a colored girl from a car after she had paid her fare.

Mr. Arthur was active in politics as a Henry Clay Whig, and was a mem-ber of the convention which founded ber of the convention which founded the Republican party of New York. He was Judge Advocate of the Second brigade of the State Militia, and he held the offices of Engineer in Chief, Inspector General and Quartermaster General during the term of Governor Morgan. He conducted the duties of his office in equipping, supplying and forwarding immense numbers of troops with such skill that his accounts were sllowed at Washington without deduction, while those of some of the States were reduced by millions of dollars. He never profited a penny from this business and left the office poorer than when be took it, always having rejected all presents. He was the only person not a Governor who was present at the secret meeting of Loyal Governors in 1862

Returning to the practice of law in 1863, he built up a large business of collecting claims against the government. He was conspicuous in the con-vention of 1864, in preventing the nomination of Dickinson and securing the nomination of Andrew Johnson,

In November of 1871 he was appointed by President Grant Collector of Customs in New York, to succeed Thomas Murphy. In July of 1878 Mr. Arthur and Mr. A. B. Corneil, naval officer of the port, were suspend ed from office for failure to comply with an order of R. B. Hayes forbid ding persons in the civil service from taking an active part in politics. The President and Secretary of the Treas ury acknowledged the purity of his official acts. Returning to the practice of law and continuing active in politics, he con-tributed materially to the election of Governor Cornell. He supported General Grant for a third term at Chicago in 1880, and was nominated for the Vice Presidency for the purpose of reconciling the disappointed Grant faction on June 8, of that year. Elect ed Vice President in November follow ing, he sided with the New York Sen-ators against President Garfield after their resignation, and went to Albany to scenre their re election. At this time President Garfield was shot, and Mr. Arthur's efforts for Mr. Conkling were at once abandoned.

On the death of the president, Mr.
Arthur took the oath of office at his home in New York on the morning of September 20th, and before the chie.

justice on the 23d. A special session of the Senate was called and the members of the cabinet were requested to retain their places. In 1882 President Arthur approved among other important measures the anti-polygamy and anti-Chinese bills and vetoed the tiver and harbor bill. In 1883 the revision of the tariff and internal revenue taxes received atten-In 1884 treaties were negotiated with Mexico and Spain, but were not ratified by the Schate. Treatics with Santo Domingo and Nicaragura also failed of adoption, the latter being withdrawn by President Cleveland.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH. Hardly a week passes without the men-ion by the newspapers of sudden deaths, and Hardly a week passes without the men-tion by the newspapers of sudden deaths, and of late the alarming frequency of the state-ment that death was caused by rheumatism or neuralgia of the heart cannot fail to have been noticed. In all probability many deaths attributed to heart disease are caused by these terrible diseases, which are far more dangerous than is generally considered. Is there any positive cure? The best answer to such a question is given by those who have been cared by the use of Athlophores.

Greenfield, Masa., May 19, 1886.

I have been troubled with rheumatism in one of my knees for years, being at times laid up for several days. Athlophoros has entirely cured me. It has also cured two friends of mine who were the worst cases I ever saw, one of them a young man only 16 years old, who was so had the doctors gave him up. Two bottles of your remedy entirely cured him.

Two bottles of Athlophoros cured me of inflammatory rheumatism. My family physician advised me to take it, saying he had done all he could, but could not give me any relief; but Athlophoros drove it away, and I am happy to say it has never come back. A new American aspirant for artistic hon-ors abroad is Miss Alice Whiteacre, of Chicago, who recently made a successful debut in concert at Covent Garden, London. The Thomas popular concerts have begun at the Metropolitan opera house, New York. The orchestra this year is larger than last, and Mr. Thomas says it is the best he has ever brought together.

The Philbarmonic society of New York has just ordered from a Leipsic manufacturer a pair of pedal tympani turned by cogwheels worked by the foot. The accuracy with which the drums are tuned mechanically is said to be so great that half the drummer's task is gone.

William Candidus, the Philadelphia tenor, who has such a fine reputation in Europe as well as in his native country, will return to the American Opera company this season. Miss Mathilde Phillipps, the well known contraits and sister of the lamented Adelaide Phillipps, remains with the American Opera company this season as one of the principal contractos.

A letter from Milan states that prepara-tions are being actively pushed forward at La Scala for the production of Verdi's new opera. For a long time it was talked about under the name of "lago;" now it would seem that Verdi inclines to retain the name of "Othello."

Miss Cornelia Van Zanten, who has been secured by the American Opera company, and who will make her operatic debut in this country during the first week of the season in Philadelphia, has a fine stage appearance and a rich voice of large compass. She is expected to make a great success:
