Charges of Offense Partnership

Mr. Stone and others of like disposition are so far obliterated that the administration of the Government is the interest of the people in the party responsible for such administration. While vicious partisan methods should not be allowed to injure the public service it is my belief that nothing is so much to discredit our efforts in the interest of such service, as to fairly and generously the official inactivity of political opponents as conduct such as is here disclosed. The people of this country certainly do not require the best results of administrative endeavor to be reached with such agencies as these.

Upon full consideration of all I have before me, I am constrained to decline the application of Mr. Stone for his reinstatement. I enclose his letter with this, and desire you to acquaint him with my decision. Yours truly, GROVER CLEVELAND.

The correspondence closed with the following letter to Mr. Stone:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24, 1918.

HON. WM. A. STONE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Sir: I am directed by the President to say to you that after consideration of your letter of the 18th inst. he will not make any change in the order heretofore made suspending you as district attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania. Very respectfully, A. H. GARLAND, Attorney General.

Stepping into a shop in Chinatown a gentleman among other things, asked the owner what his religious belief was and the result of the conversation was that he found the shopkeeper to be a believer in all three of the national religions, accepting the gods of each faith, paying his money to support the gods of all, and if he would have made him a Christian of any denomination required. This then is one of the most striking peculiarities, that while there are three distinct religions, they see no inconsistency in accepting all. The Taoist is a materialist, a physical appeal to the moral nature. He believes in conscience, sees a difference between virtue and vice, pretends to believe in law and order, and is a firm believer in paying a religious veneration to his ancestors; and above all, is remarkable for his filial piety. The Taoist is a materialist. To him the soul is something tangible, a physical something, purer than the human form. It is not essentially immortal, but attains this state only by a physical training after passing through a certain pseudo chemical process. He believes in various gods, a like of liberals in this. Even the stars are divine or divinities. The Taoist is also a great believer in charms, physicians, magicians, and holy men of all kinds. The Chinese Buddhist differs from the Taoist in his metaphysical philosophy. He believes in the immortality of the soul, and the priests tell the patient exactly what medicine or drugs are required to heal him. Over and around these gods are seen testimonials of patients that have been cured.—San Francisco Call.

It Is Wonderful

How easily rheumatism begins, and how quickly it grows in the system, and how one is started to find himself in either the acute or chronic form. He then learns the fearful tenacity of the grip and the utter powerlessness of the ordinary remedies to give relief.

Probably no disease has physicians given more study, and none has more completely baffled their efforts to provide a specific; and until Athlaphora was discovered there was no medicine which would surely cure rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous or sick headache. Thousands of testimonials like the following prove beyond question that Athlaphora is the only reliable remedy, and that it will do all that is claimed for it.

Catskill, Green Co., N. Y., August 10, 1886.

I can recommend the Athlaphora to anybody that is in want of it. It has cured my mother who has had neuralgia all her life and also rheumatism. She says she is all free from pain now, and will not be without a bottle for twice the price. I gave a bottle to my mother-in-law, and she is free from rheumatism in a few days.

FRANK EDWARDS.

Two years ago this summer I was severely afflicted with rheumatism in my right knee and left shoulder, and was induced by a friend to try Athlaphora. I used five bottles, got well, and have been free from rheumatism since. I have great faith in it, and have recommended it to my friends. So far as I know all who have tried it speak its praise.

Future of the Tariff

The President, in a very recent conversation with a friend, gave an interesting outline of his position on the tariff. In speaking on the subject he said:

"It seems that my views on the tariff have been very much misunderstood. I am not a free trader, nor am I what some call a high protective tariff man. I believe that there is a middle ground upon which we can all stand with perfect regard for the interests of industry and the sufficiency of the revenue. There is no doubt that the system of raising revenue for the support of the government from duties on foreign merchandise imported into the country is the simplest and least burdensome of all methods for the object in view."

We know that the income tax was not popular and that a land tax would affect the agricultural class. These are the methods resorted to when the customs plan is not used. A system of duties based on the idea of revenue with incidental protection seems to be the proper middle ground."

TOO MUCH POLITICS.

In particularizing the President said: "I do not think that Mr. Morrison or Mr. Randall or the gentlemen who side with them are in the right line. There is too much politics and not enough industry in the underlying purposes of their schemes. A measure so deeply affecting the economic interests of the government should be arranged with reference to economic and not political considerations."

The President indicated that he would not advise any attempt to pass a tariff bill at the coming session, but would urge the adoption of a minimum tariff in the matter of enforcing the customs laws.

AN ADMINISTRATION MEASURE.

In the course of conversation the President indicated his purpose to take the tariff question into his own hands and make it an administration measure. He said:

"I have watched the progress of this tariff agitation in the House and perceive that it will be necessary for the administration to take hold of it. In the present condition of things it is the duty of the Democratic party to take the tariff question into its own hands and make it an administration measure. There is a tendency to crowd the tariff question. Therefore instead of dodging and doubling the Democratic party had better take a stand and test it before the people."
