PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

During the session of the Legislature of 1885 a bill was introduced by Senator Hill of Chester County requiring Physiology and Hygiene to be taught in all public schools of this state.

A debating society has been organized by the young men of town. They meet every Friday evening and debate these memorable questions, in the discussion of which, when young, we all achieved fame by showing our surprise and transfixed auditors how we could distinguish and divide a hair.

Judge Rice has made a very favorable impression by his affable manner, his ready decisions, and his able charges. Having filled a professorship at the Normal school about twenty years ago, he finds many old friends here, and has made many new ones. He entered his name as a law student in Col. Frece's office in 1868, but subsequently went to Westchester where he completed his studies and was admitted. He is one of the youngest common pleas judges of the state, but he has already acquired a wide reputation as an able jurist.

Before buying your Christmas presents, don't fail to examine the pretty things at Clark's book store.

The State Normal School at Bloomsburg will begin the Winter Term on Tuesday Jan. 4, 1887. Full professional standing is conferred by the diploma upon those who become teachers. More than a dozen students now in the leading colleges of the country were prepared in this school. Those not wanting to go to college nor to become teachers had the Academic course conferred by the diploma upon those who become teachers. More than a dozen students now in the leading colleges of the country were prepared in this school.

Since the furnaces were removed from here many years ago, Lightstreet has been characterized by its quiet bearing. This quietness is now to be disturbed by a factory or mill of some description which is to furnish employment to our idle hands. We have seen a sort of Rip Van Winkle and are now for the first time, awaking to the changes that have been going on within and around us, and have for once become aroused to the duties which these mutations have imposed upon us. There was a time when all the farmers in the vicinity kept all at work but that day was before the appearance of the improved farm machinery now in use. If we do not put ourselves with a railroad we will fall

Christmas Cards at Clark's book store.

W. E. Deitlerich of Epsy, met with an accident on Thursday of last week, which fortunately did not prove very serious. He was driving from Epsy to Bloomsburg in company with Wm. Abbott, and when near Harman & Hasser's machine shop, he suddenly turned his horse down East street, and as he crossed the gutter, one of the wheels was completely wrecked, throwing both persons out of the wagon. Mr. Deitlerich was dragged along over the ice quite a distance until he came to a small pile of coal ashes when he was thrown down and the horse tearing away from him ran to the end of the street and plunged into the ice on the canal. The two occupants of the wagon hastened after the horse and with difficulty succeeded in getting him out of the water and ice. Mr. Deitlerich escaped with only a few bruises on the nose.

An endless variety of Christmas cards at Mercer's drug and book store.

Complete sets of Dickens, Eliot, Scott, Lord Lytton, Irving, Thackeray, Black- at Clark's book store.

Institute Instructors.

Rev. Theo. S. Cuyler of Brooklyn said July 27 1886:

I am happy to learn that you are intending to give to a wider public next winter your instructive and delightful lecture on Siberia, and your racy address among the Arctic snows. It is one of the most capital lectures I have ever enjoyed from the lecture platform. The many who have read your volume "Ten Life in Siberia," will be eager to listen to its author, and the many men who have not read it will have a new chapter of life unfolded to them. May you and your bear skin costume be greeted by thousands of delighted auditors.

Manayunk Chronicle, Pa., says of Col. Conwell: A perfect master of the orator's art, brilliant, incisive, overpowering, eloquent words are so linked with vivid gestures, that he seems the born throb of the reigning emotions and yet never so keen, humor never so refined, yet broad and genial, pathos never so genuine and deep, make everything he touches part of a grand procession wherein axioms through and pertinent anecdote not only point to Heaven, but lead the way. Only every sentence is an inspiration, and in closing his Jules Verne-like grasp on the trend of scientific movement, seems to send an electric illumination to the very verge of the millennium.

As an author and orator, Col. Conwell was high honors.—N. Y. Tribune.

Dr. Buckley's lecture on "Cranks, or how not to go mad" is a good lecture, but not a humorous one. The latter part of it gives a clue to its general drift. It is really an exhaustive discussion of the subject of insanity, treating upon all its phases and freaks; how to handle and help its victims; how to ward it off when there is and how to be a hereditary tendency to it and how to live so as not to get it. The lecture is an able and very interesting discussion of the whole subject, occasionally witty, but not humorous, and the person who goes with the expectation of laughing or who cannot rise above that plane in the scale of entertainment will be greatly disappointed. The Dr. speaks rather pleasantly, with force and precision, but with no effect at oratorical display.

Prof. S. V. Foose, Harrisburg.

Miss Ross comes very highly recommended by the State Superintendent of Pa., Ohio, Florida, Alabama, and Dr. E. H. White, of the State of Ohio, Dr. Northrop Ex-State Supt. of Conn., Hon. Henry Houch, Col. Hain, Col. Conwell, Dr. Becks, Dr. Walker, and every man of other eminent educators.

Prof. Nell is considered by educators of acknowledged ability as one of the very best teachers of reading. He was for a number of years one of the officers of the Shoemaker's National School of Oratory, Philadelphia.

Rheumatism. It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluids.

It is certainly fair to assume that Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others what it has done for you. Therefore, if you suffer from the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure. It was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. It could hardly walk, and finally was obliged a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles, and I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world.—W. F. Wood, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years. I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before I used Hood's Sarsaparilla, I was unable to get on my feet. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did more good than all the other medicine I had used. I am now able to do my work as usual. I suffered from what the doctors call, muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and an entirely cured.—J. V. A. Thompson, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge to all who desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists. Price, 50 cents per bottle. 100 Doses One Dollar.
