

The Columbian.

J. E. Elwell, Editor. BLOOMSBURG, PA. FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1887.

Gov. Beaver has signed the bill creating two new magistrates in Philadelphia.

It is true that all the sheriff's advertising appears in the COLUMBIAN, and that is what stirs up the enmity of the owner of the Sentinel.

The law specifically forbids the sheriff to enter into any such arrangement, and should be charged more for the advertising than he actually pays the printer, he is liable to pay a penalty to the injured party, and may also be prosecuted for taking illegal fees.

An article in last week's Republican concerning the false report of the introduction of a bill to provide for an additional judge in this county, is somewhat misleading.

I am of opinion that the words of the repeating phrase of the Act of 1885, are the true intent and meaning gathered from the whole scope of the Act.

Various questions have been discussed in both the Senate and the House during the past week, some important measures have been passed, and others have become laws by receiving the President's signature.

The Book bill as passed makes it unlawful for any Senator or Representative to accept employment as an attorney at law or to perform any services in any case in which his interests may be concerned.

Mr. Everts went so far as to say that those lawyers in the Senate who would vote for such a bill would make the imputation against their profession that lawyers were a class to be taken out from the rest of the community.

From childhood, and until with a few months, I have been afflicted with Weak and Nervous Eyes. I have tried many remedies, but have not been able to get any relief.

My eyes are now in a splendid condition, and I am as well as ever. I have been using Ayer's Sarsaparilla for several months, and I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers.

changed the law to harmonize with the sentiment, as soon as that can be ascertained, it is perhaps the safest and best plan for the courts to endeavor fairly to administer the law as it is.

Judge McHenry announced that Judge Murphy and himself, distrustful of the consistency to decide upon the legal effect of a general remonstrance, had consulted Judge Elwell at his residence, who had expressed the opinion that such a remonstrance was legally entitled to no weight; that therefore, they should give it none.

All applications against which no special remonstrances were filed were granted and the rest were postponed, to be heard on the arrival of a president judge; one being set for Friday at two o'clock, and the others for Tuesday morning.

Congress is working away these days as though it realized the shortness of its life and the necessity of accomplishing much before the fourth of March.
