

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

L. E. WALLER, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, Office over 1st National Bank, Bloomsburg, Pa.

N. U. FUNK, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, Office in Bell's Building, Bloomsburg, Pa.

J. JOHN M. CLARK, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, Office over Meyer Bros. Drug Store.

C. W. MILLER, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, Office in Brewer's building, second floor, room No. 1.

B. FRANK ZARR, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, Office corner of Centre and 6th streets, Clark's Building.

G. E. R. ELLIOTT, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, Office on First floor, front room of Columbia Building.

J. E. BELL, J. K. BITTENDEN, Proprietors, BLOOMSBURG, PA., FRIDAY, MAY 20, 1887.

The Columbian.

THE COLUMBIAN, VOL. XXI, NO 20 COLUMBIA DEMOCRAT, VOL. LI, NO 9

FOR MEN AND YOUTHS. FOR BOYS AND CHILDREN.

A. C. YATES & CO., SIXTH AND CHESTNUT STS., BLOOMSBURG, PA.

M. C. SLOAN & BRO., Manufacturers of CARRIAGE BUDDIES, PHAETONS, SLEIGHS, PLATFORM WAGONS & C.

BLOOMSBURG PLANING MILL, The undersigned is doing out the planing mill on Railroad Street.

G. W. BERTSCH, THE MERCHANT TAILOR, Gent's Furnishing Goods, Hats & Caps OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

S. M. HESS, BLOOMSBURG PA., Prices and specimens of other designs sent to any address.

D. LANCELL'S ASTHMA AND CATARRH REMEDY, Having struggled 30 years between life and death with ASTHMA and PHIBRIS.

AYER'S PILLS, If the Liver be... comes torpid, if the... bowels are constipated...

Regulate my bowels. These Pills are mild in action, and do their work thoroughly.

The Bowels. By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills.

Ayer's Pills, Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Dealers in Medicines.

ROOFING, THOUSANDS OF ROLLS SOLD ANNUALLY FOR BUILDINGS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

M. EHRET, JR. & CO., SOLE MANUFACTURERS, 423 Walnut Street, PHILADELPHIA.

CARPETS, J. J. BROWER, Having received his Spring stock of Carpets, is now ready to show a large stock of.

J. R. SMITH & CO., MILTON, Pa., DEALERS IN PIANOS.

Chickering, Knabe, Weber, Hallet & Davis. Can also furnish any of the cheaper makes at manufacturers prices.

JAMES MEANS' $3 SHOE, Sole agents for Bloomsburg, Pa. J. W. HARTMAN & SON.

PATENTS, Our office is opposite the U. S. Patent Office, and we can obtain Patents in less time than they are elsewhere.

SELECT STORY.

A STREETMAN'S TALE.

We will begin by saying that a person dressed up in a strange fantastic manner, and going about the streets distributing circulars, selling patent medicines...

It was Teddy's first employment since rheumatism had taken him prisoner, and obliged him to resign the head watchman's place of the "Fidelity Bank."

The humiliation was a grievous one, and Teddy was about to decline wearing the ugly suit, when Baby Bobinet's infantile face came before him...

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body completely healed...

Of course the "street arabs" could not resist an instinct, natural to every boy, to peep Teddy with orange and banded skirts and objects of a more solid character...

Baby Bobinet could not know this and her papa's costume was a source of indignity at the time of which I write, although Baby Bobinet had ceased to enjoy the costume in an eminent degree.

It was somewhere about dusk one day, and the coal-oil lamp was illuminating the front room, with its window looking out upon the rather out-of-the-way street...

Mrs. O'Ginty came in from the kitchen, with a platter in her hand and an apron thrown over her head—going, as usual, to assist her husband in his rasher for daddy's bit of supper.

She had been absent but a moment, when Baby Bobinet was attracted by the closing of the street door which opened directly upon the street.

She looked up and saw a slender young man peep through the window. She was attracted by the look of him, and she went to the window to see who he was.

The marble had an especial attraction for the little maid; and when Mrs. O'Ginty came in from the grocer's, she held it up admiringly, that the dame might observe it.

"Troth, an' yer an angel gosssoon—but I can't be after playin' with ye now. Daddy'll be wauin' his bit, I'll warrant ye for it's shair the wather in outside, my darlint!" and then she went to the window to see who he was.

Another incident happened to divert the dame's attention; and that was a second strange face, whose bearded outlines she saw peering in at the window. But it was quickly gone also, and Baby Bobinet gave her whole mind to gathering together her valuables.

The next evening there was an event of a much more startling nature, the like of which was quite beyond her comprehension.

Papa had just come in from the street, and he had a very queer look on his face. He was naturally fastidious in his tastes, and he was very particular in his dress.

That worthy matron's mind oscillated between a fearful mood of spirited denunciations of "perdition" and the detective force generally.

must have another man to prigrinate the streets in the suit, that he large he really hoped the detectives had left the suit; it hadn't been a doin' of anything against the peace and dignity of the commonwealth.

Baby Bobinet, pleased beyond words, laughed and crowded merry at once more finding herself in papa's arms.

A child's laugh is a strange sound indeed to be heard in such a place—a laugh so innocent, so pure, so musical, that it must have startled the ghosts of by-gone perjuries, and oaths, and mockeries, which haunt the modern temples of justice.

How it touched the heart of the spectators, and penetrated the breasts of those who from day to day had grown callous from continual hearing evidence of Baby Bobinet was forgotten.

The gentlemen on the other side saw the child so earnestly, but did not object to letting the child see them.

"Taking Baby Bobinet from her father's arms, Mr. Allen placed her upon the table. She seemed a trifle dazed, and looked with wonder at the great crowd.

"The judge asked her a few questions, which she answered intelligently and sweetly. He then remarked that she never would doubt the simple word of such an innocent creature would not be satisfied with an oath.

"Now, Bobinet, you must answer these gentlemen, and tell them the truth. Papa is here and no harm shall come to you!"

With childish simplicity Baby Bobinet smiled back an answer, and then she kissed her father's cheek.

"No, sir, the mars lost it!" "What man, Bobinet?" "A man with a white face, what comed frow and frightened Bobinet."

"What was Bobinet?" "Where was papa?" "Tamin' home."

"Where was Mrs. O'Ginty?" "Dittin' fingers for papa's supper." "What did the man say?" "He said 'Bim just run'd frow'."

"Did your papa see it?" "Yes, he did." "What man, Bobinet?" "A man with a white face, what comed frow and frightened Bobinet."

"Where was Mrs. O'Ginty?" "Dittin' fingers for papa's supper." "What did the man say?" "He said 'Bim just run'd frow'."

"Did your papa see it?" "Yes, he did." "What man, Bobinet?" "A man with a white face, what comed frow and frightened Bobinet."

"Where was Mrs. O'Ginty?" "Dittin' fingers for papa's supper." "What did the man say?" "He said 'Bim just run'd frow'."

"Did your papa see it?" "Yes, he did." "What man, Bobinet?" "A man with a white face, what comed frow and frightened Bobinet."

"Bob" Ingersoll's Capture. A THRILLING CHAPTER OF THE GREAT INDIAN WAR EXPERIENCE.

"I served in Bob Ingersoll's command," said a veteran stopping at the City Hotel, "and whenever I recall to mind the incidents connected with his capture in Tennessee, I have seen somewhere a cruel paragraph to the effect that the Colonel surrendered very willingly, and I want to brand that falsehood for just what it is.

"We were in a skirmish at the time, and the Colonel was trying to get to a place of safety. The bullets were flying about him thick as hail. If he could get to another branch command he felt that he could rally the boys and win the fight.

"Your honor, in view of this unexpected revelation, I would like to ask your honor to retract the intelligence which you have just given me.

"The gentlemen on the other side saw the child so earnestly, but did not object to letting the child see them.

"Taking Baby Bobinet from her father's arms, Mr. Allen placed her upon the table. She seemed a trifle dazed, and looked with wonder at the great crowd.

"The judge asked her a few questions, which she answered intelligently and sweetly. He then remarked that she never would doubt the simple word of such an innocent creature would not be satisfied with an oath.

"Now, Bobinet, you must answer these gentlemen, and tell them the truth. Papa is here and no harm shall come to you!"

With childish simplicity Baby Bobinet smiled back an answer, and then she kissed her father's cheek.

"No, sir, the mars lost it!" "What man, Bobinet?" "A man with a white face, what comed frow and frightened Bobinet."

"What was Bobinet?" "Where was papa?" "Tamin' home."

"Where was Mrs. O'Ginty?" "Dittin' fingers for papa's supper." "What did the man say?" "He said 'Bim just run'd frow'."

"Did your papa see it?" "Yes, he did." "What man, Bobinet?" "A man with a white face, what comed frow and frightened Bobinet."

"Where was Mrs. O'Ginty?" "Dittin' fingers for papa's supper." "What did the man say?" "He said 'Bim just run'd frow'."

"Did your papa see it?" "Yes, he did." "What man, Bobinet?" "A man with a white face, what comed frow and frightened Bobinet."

"Where was Mrs. O'Ginty?" "Dittin' fingers for papa's supper." "What did the man say?" "He said 'Bim just run'd frow'."

"Did your papa see it?" "Yes, he did." "What man, Bobinet?" "A man with a white face, what comed frow and frightened Bobinet."

THE GREAT CATINIA FORTRESS IN WHICH HE HIDES IN TERROR.

"Quis custodiet ipsos custodes?" is the reflection which springs to one's mind on hearing the rumors as to attempts on the czar's life in his rural retreat at Gatchina.

Meanwhile, however, Alexandre III has no alternative but to make the best of the situation. For the soldier guard him day and night at Gatchina, and the strictest discipline prevails in the fortress estate.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

THE GREAT CATINIA FORTRESS IN WHICH HE HIDES IN TERROR.

"Quis custodiet ipsos custodes?" is the reflection which springs to one's mind on hearing the rumors as to attempts on the czar's life in his rural retreat at Gatchina.

Meanwhile, however, Alexandre III has no alternative but to make the best of the situation. For the soldier guard him day and night at Gatchina, and the strictest discipline prevails in the fortress estate.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.

On his way to the central building he saw the general growled at a man who in turn presented arms with such a din that he shrewdly suspected that the noise was intended to warn their comrades further on of the arrival of a stranger.