

The Columbian

BLOOMSBURG, PA. FRIDAY, JULY 22, 1887.

All the candidates who have announced their names are still in the field. Any rumor to the effect that some of them have withdrawn is incorrect.

If any candidate for any county office this year, bolted the democratic ticket three years ago, and supported any republican nominee against the regular democratic nominee, he ought to be defeated.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WILLIAM KRICKBAUM.

DEAR SIR: The old saying that "nothing but good should be said of the dead" is a very proper one to be observed, but as it does not apply to a "dead duck," nor a defunct politician, you will pardon me for alluding to a few things in this paper, which you have called forth by your very affable communication in the Sentinel's last issue.

There are a few other matters of which you speak, to which I have paid no attention. Some of them have been repeatedly disproven, and the others are false, and of little moment even if true.

I shall not attempt to catechize you on your official and political record. It would make very interesting reading, but it would be too long, and as there are many people who are thoroughly familiar with your public life, some portions of it will be repeated.

This is not journalism, and though it may succeed for a time, in the end it will be just as sure to fail as a balloon, as the sun is sure to set at night.

Ernest Kammey on Wednesday, July 19th, shot and killed his wife and then attempted suicide in East park, Philadelphia. He was taken to the German Hospital.

printed that you did not have an opportunity of answering. This opportunity was not given you because you requested it, but because it was and is the rule of this office that no attack upon any candidate will be printed just before the delegate election without giving him a chance to defend himself.

As I hear that a report is being circulated through the county that I am running for commissioner in the interest of a certain faction, I hereby give notice that I have made no pledges or promises to any one, and that if elected I will perform my duties faithfully, and will be controlled by no man or faction.

It is a very safe rule for a man with a record, and especially an unvarnished record, to be slow to speak, in fact to keep his mouth shut altogether.

Monday was the time appointed by the Hamilton hotel keepers to close their places of business and they had made all their arrangements to do so by discharging the clerks and servants, but a number of leading business men prevailed upon them to keep open.
