The Constitution,

CELEBRATION OF THE CENTENNIAL OF ITS SIGNING.

PRELIMINARY PROCEEDINGS RELATIVE TO THE EXPECTED EVENT IN PHILADEL-PHIA, AND REVIEW OF THE FESTIVAL OF 1788.

The subjoined history of proceedings preliminary to the celebration in Phila-delphia of the Centennial Anniversary of the Framing and Promulgation of the Constitution of the United States timely, and will be read with interest. as well, perhaps, as the review of the original celebration in 1788. The day of June, 1886, passed resolutions inviting the Governor and Representatives of the thirteen original States to assemble in Philadelphia to consider the propriety of a national celebration of the centennial anniversary of the framing and promulgation of the Con-stitution of the United States. In accordance with this invitation a convention of the Governors and Representatives of the thirteen Colonial States the States and Territories of the Union inviting them to appoint commissioners to be present at a convention to be held at Philadelphia, December 2,

In response to this request commis-sioners were appointed by the Governers of the following States and Terri-tories, viz.: Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Mary-

Montana, Wyoming.

This Convention of December 2,
1886, elected Hon. John A. Kasson, of 1886, elected Hon. John A. Kasson, of Iowa, President, and Hampton L. Carson, Esq., of Philadelphia, Secretary. A sub-commission was selected, of which Amos R. Little, Esq., was made Chairman, the President and Secretary of the Convention being added as expectations. officio members. A committee of citizens was also formed, of which Thomas Cochran, Esq. was selected as chairman. The name of "The Constitutional Centennial Commission" was adopted as the name of the Commission, and it was resolved, in regard to the proposed celebration at Philadelphia in Septem-ber, 1887:

a generous increase will be necessary An outline has already been given of the nature and extent of the coming celebration. A comparsion, however, with the past may be useful, lest by want of patriotic zeal and fervor we permit the joyful and magnificent pageant of 1788 in honor of the adopt-ion of the Constitution, to exceed in any manner our commemoration of its centennial anniversary.

THE EVENT OF A CENTURY AGO.

On July 4, 1788, the citizens of Philadelphia celebrated both the Dec-laration of Independence and the estives of the thirteen Colonial States and of citizens was held at Philadelphia, September 17, 1886, in the Hall of the Carpenters' Company. There were present the Governors of Delaware, Georgia, Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina and Virginia.

In consequence of resolutions adopted at this meeting letters were addressed by the Hon. Fitzhugh Lee, Governor of Virginia, as chairman of the Committee of Governors of the Colonial States, to the Governors of all the States and Territories of the Union inviting them to appoint commission. tablishment of the Constitution, prochusetts opposite to Vine Street; Connecticut, to Race Street ; New Jersey, to Arch Street; Pennsylvania, to Mar-ket Street; Delaware, to Chestnut Street ; Maryland, to Walnut Street ; Virginia, to Spruce Street; South Carolica, to Pine Street; and Georgia, to South Street.

At this point the line of march commenced, and continued along Phird Street to Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, and continued along Third Street to ginia, West Virginia, Dakota, Idaho, Callowhill Street, thence up Callowhill Street, to Fourth Street, thence along Fourth Street to Market Street, and thence to Union Green, in front of Bush Hill, William Hamilton, Esq., having kindly offered the spacious lawn before his house, at Bush Hill, for the purposes of the day. About 9.30 the grand procession began to move in the following order:

That the people do appreciate the character of the coming celebration is evinced by the hearty support which is now being given to the Commission, both by the several States and the citizens of Philadelphia.

The State of Pennsylvania has appropriated $75,000 for the purposes of the celebration and the entertainment of the representatives of the nation, of whom our Commonwealth will be the host. The appropriations from other States and from private citizens of Philadelphia can be relied upon greatly to increase this sum, and, considering the magnitude of the undertaking, drawn by ten white horses. Her hull was the barge of the ship Alliance, the same which formerly belonged to the Serapis and was taken in the memorable engagement of Captain Paul Jones, in the Bon Homme Richard, with the Serapis. She was mounted on a carriage drawn by ten horses. Boat-builders in a boat-builders' shop, 18 feet long, 8 wide, 13 feet high, drawn by four horses. Seven hands were at work building a boat 13 feet long, which was actually set up and nearly completed during the procession. Then followed large deputations of the different trades,—sail-makers, ship-carpenters, ship-joiners, rope-makers, and ship-chandlers, merchants and traders, and others.

Thirty-third. The trades formed by John Nixon, on horseback, bearing the staff and cap of Liberty; under the cap a white silk flag, with these words, "Fourth of July, 1776." in large Common Pleas, Sheriff and Coroner, Board City Warden, City Treasurer, etc., members of the bar, the clergy, physicians, the county troop of horse, commanded by Major W. McPherson, bringing up the rear. The length of the line was a mile and a half, the distance marched about three miles, and time consumed over three hours.

Francis Hopkinson, who himself participated in this procession, wrote that it was "an exhibition which for nyvelty, splendor and decorum justly merited universal admiration and ap-plause. If, beside the magnificence of he thing itself, we take into consideration the important occasion that induced it, it must be acknowledged to have been an object most interesting and truly sublime."

It is of course but natural to expect that the celebration of 1887 will surpass that of 1788 in respect to grandeur and magnificence in every detail. To surpass it, however, in the joy and en-thusiasm of the participants will not be such an easy task.

The State of Penusylvania has appropriated $75,000; citizens of Philadelphia have subscribed over $20,000. The following sums have been appropriated by other States, viz. : Connecticut, $18,000 : Rhode Island, $2500 ; Delaware, $2000; Massachusetts, $40, 000. New Jersey has authorized the Governor to send its militia at the cost of the State. Maryland, Virginia, and South Carolina have arranged to send troops. Up to July 1st the Governors of these States, as well as those of Maine, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, Oregon, Nebraska and Texas, had accepted the invitation of the Commission to sense the Little July 1999.

It is expected that in a very short time acptances will have arrived from every Governor who is not, for some good reason, incapacitated from coming, and that the majority of States will be repthat the majority of States will be rep-resented also by some portion of their troops. The great family of States should and there is every reason to hope will, appear at their gathering on this historic occasion, without the absence of a single member. President Cleveland will preside at the ceremonies, and General Sheridan will be designated by the President to command the combined forces of State and United States Troops which will take part in the grand parade. The Civic and Industrial display will be marshaled by A. Loudon Snowden,

Mr. Justice Miller, of the Supreme Court of the United States, will deiver an oration, and it is expected that poem will be delivered by a national All indications point to the great success of the celebration.
