"Didn't Know It Was Loaded." The young man fell dead!
A friend had pointed a revolver at

"He didn't know it was a loaded!" We often hear it stated that a man is not responsible for what he does not know. The law presupposes knowl-edge and therefore convicts the man who excuses crime by ignorance!

"If I had only known" has often been an unfortunate man's apology for some evil unknowingly wrought, but in a matter of general interest—as for instance that landanum is a poison, that naphtha is a deadly explosive, that blood heavily charged with a winter's accumulations of the waste of the system,-it is one's duty to know the fact and the consequences thereof. Our good old grandmothers knew for in-stance, that the opening of spring was the most perilous period of the

Why?
"Because then the blood stream is sluggish and chilled by the cold weather, and if not thinned a good deal and made to flow quickly and healthfully through the arteries and veins, it is impossible to have good vigor the rest of the year. Hence, without exception, what is now known as Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla, was plentifully made and religiously given to every member of the family regularly through March, April, May and June. It is a matter of record that this prudential, preventive and restorative custom saved many a fit of sickness, prolonged life and happiness to a vigorous old age, and did away with heavy medi-

So I arose at 8, dressed, and proceeded to the station.

Capt. Hugh Harkins, 1114 S. 15th St.,
Philadelphia, Pa., says "it purified my blood and removed the blotches from my skin." Mrs. Aarea Smith, Topton, Berks Co., says she "was entirely cured of a skin disease of the worst kind," by Log Cabin Sarsaparilla. Bad skin indicates a very bad condition of the blood.

There is doubtless some truth in this, especially in some of the larger cities, like New York, but the Press makes too aweeping a statement when it in-cludes all places, great or small, in the statement. There are, doubtless, many places where honest and straightforward young men are about as plenty as good home-loving and prudent young women. Still, it is doubtless true that the increasing extravagance and cost of living and the desire of young couples to begin life where their fathers leave off, effectually frighten many a young man who would be able and only too glad to start a home in a modest way commensurate with his limited meome. In laying the sin of extravagance at the door of the fair sex we do not wish to be understood as implying that the young man of the period is free from it. • • • If marriage is really go-ing out of fashion the fault is not con-fined to either sex, and as the blame is divided, so must the responsibility be. Let there be less extravagance on both sides and more frankness in regard to money matters, and ways and means generally, between those who contem-plate matrimony, and we shall hear less of this periodic question, "Why don't

We sent out a few days since a note of inquiry to a number of bachelors in the city, asking them to give us, confi-dentially and briefly for publication, the reason why they never married. Over one-half of them have answered, and we give our readers some of the causes assigned:

The annual discussion of why more of the papers. Some of these find the reason in the dress and expensive babits of the young women. But that is not the conclusion of the New York Press.
