A most enjoyable party was given at the Sanitarium last Friday evening, in honor of the twenty-first birthday of Ed. F. Smith. In response to invitations about sixty young people gathered there between the hours of eight and nine o'clock, and all present enjeyed themselves immensely Metherell's orchestra furnished excellent dancing hall, which was beautifully decorated with evergreens and flowers. Refreshments were served about eleven on the lawn, the beauty of the grounds, with their sparkling fountain and beautiful trees and flowers, adding much to the enjoyment of the occasion. A most enjoyable feature of the evening was the beautiful vocal music by the Misses Smith of New York, The party broke up about two o'clock, all the guests uniting in showering congratu-

Last Sunday night James McHenry's store at Cambra was broken into by thieves who succeeded in making their escape They obtained entrance by getting into the cellar of the building and entering the apartments above by battering down a door. From the store they took goods and which time the com-McHenry is also postmaster at Cambra and keeps the post office in the rear of his store; to this the thieves then proceeded and rifled the money drawer and took a few postal cards. Suspicion rested on Wilson Kline and Clark Bellas, two young men of Cambra , and Mr. McHenry telephoned to Sheriff Smith to arrest them if they made their appearance in Bloomsburg. U. S. Marshal Barring, of Wilkesbarre, was in town Monday, and went before U. S. Commissioner Smith and swore out a warrant for their arrest. He caught Kline at the D L & W. depot Monday night; Belias escaped, but hearing of him at Tubbs' Landing, he followed him up and caught him valise was found inside a culvert containing some of the stolen goods. E. church, was a success in every respect and reflected great credit upon those who were in charge of, and those who took part in it. The concert made up the first part of the program, and consisted of solos and duets by Misses choruses, the chorus being composed of home talent. The Misses Smith are highly cultured vocalists and the audience was delighted with their singing, which was of burg. Their voices blended beautifully in the duets and the solos were of a high order of excellence and completely captivated their hearers, who responded with many beautiful floral offerings. The choruses were all finely rendered. The second part and the actors were all of Bloomsburg, diction. Every one acted his or her part in a capital manner and it would not be possible to dis-
