A Narrow Escape.

Last Friday afternoon as the B. & S. ngine was switching cars up the switch back of Irondale furnace, Mrs. Amos Wanich and her daughter drove along the road just above the track with a horse and buckboard. When the horse was only a short distance from the engine it wheeled around, throwing Mrs. Wanich out into the road. The horse and wagon went off the road down over the track but Miss Wanich fell right in front of the engine, and all the train hands who saw it expected nothing but that she would be run over and killed. track and the wheels of the locomotive crushed two of her toes. She arose and walked up into the road, and a wagon coming along, took her to the house of A. Z Hower, when she received medical treatment. The harness and wagon were ruin ed, but the horse was unburt. Miss Wan ich's escape from instant death was miraculous. We understand no blame is cast on the railroad hands.

HE PALSELY ACCUSED CLERK WITHDRAWS 'HE SUIT AGAINST THE EXPRESS COMPANY, AND GOES BACK.

Rathmel Pratt, the clerk in the Adam Express Company's office who two years ago was accused of stealing $29,000, and was arrested and put in jail, where every possible means was used to extert a confession from bim, has been made the confidential agent of the Express Company at Sixteenth and Market streets, says the Philadelphia Record,

"air. Pratt could have got a small fortune in damages against the Express Company," said A. S. L. Shields, his counsel "but he preferred to have his reputation vindicated in the best possible manner, and has returned to the Adams Express Company at its request. He occupies practi-cally the same position that he held before the robbery of which he was accused." The company has fully compensated Mr. has given him the best possible vandication. Mr. Pratt was; busy in filling out receipts at Sixteenth and Market streets when be was seen. "Yes," said he, "I am back with the company. I have nothing to say, however, about the terms upon which I have been reinstated. I was falsely accused, of course, and wrongfully treated, but I am satisfied with my vindication. I have noth. Some of the directors had not been up the ling to say about the matter except to declare that I have no reason to complain as things have turned out. Of course, a cloud would have hung over my life if Hube had not been found out, but as the thing now stands I am fully satisfied."

The theft of the money made a big sensation at the time. On August 19, 1886, $29,000 was drawn from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to be sent by Adams Express to Shamokin to pay the employed land or lands in any county or counties of of the Mineral Mining Company. Pratt, this Commonwealth, either by lease or who was a clerk, scaled the safe which otherwise, on which any Canada thistles or | was supposed to contain the cash. On the weeds commonly known as Canada thistles same day he sent a safe which was not sealed to Sunbury. Subsequent developments have shown that by some mistak o seed, and the seed of the same from the $29,000 was placed in the Sunbury ripening, and every person or persons or safe and was stolen by A. Huber, the corporation as aforesaid, who shall or may Adams Express agent there. When the facts came out Pratt was completely vindicated, and began a suit for damages against isions of this act, shall forfeit and pay a the company. He has now abandoned his sult, the matter having been satisfactorily school district in which such land may be arranged by his employment in a position situated, to be recovered the same as debts of trust by the company at an increased salary. At one time the company's agents sought to extort a confession from Mr Pratt by a system of solitary confinement. He protested all along that he was inno cent, and his friends think that the recen developments have convicted the Adam Express Company of a flagrant injustice.
