

The Columbian. BLOOMSBURG, PA. FRIDAY, MARCH 22, 1890.

We prefer that all communications on either side of the prohibition question should be signed by the name of the writer, for publication, but none will be rejected for lack of such signature when we have the space to spare.

The failure of the Legislature to provide in the act relating to the submission of the constitutional amendments that the passage of the prohibition amendment shall not interfere with existing licenses leaves that point involved in considerable doubt.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Harrison is just now catching it on every hand from the office seekers because of his delay in making appointments. Including the Cabinet, the total of the administration to date are less than sixty.

Mr. Harrison has been talking rather plainly to some of the gang. He told some Indiana Republicans that the best thing they could do was to go home; that if he wanted them he would know where they were to be found.

By the nomination of G. A. Bates, of Delaware, to be U. S. Commissioner to the Samoan Conference to be held at Berlin, Mr. Harrison has virtually endorsed Mr. Cleveland's position on the Samoan question.

Some surprise was created here when J. S. Clark, of Iowa, the man who would be Secretary of the Interior or nothing, accepted the position of First Assistant Postmaster-General.

Senator Chase, of Rhode Island has resigned and all sorts of rumors are flying around as to the cause. That most generally believed is that Harrison snubbed him in making an appointment of U. S. Attorney for the Rhode Island district.

Wayne MacVough, who was in Garfield's Cabinet, was here a day or two ago. He says he recognized among the throng of office-seekers hun-

George H. Barrett died at Clearfield on the 9th inst. He was born at Clearfield, Pa., March 31, 1815. In 1839 he was admitted to the bar and in 1837 appointed deputy attorney general for Clearfield and Jefferson Counties.

WASHINGTON MARCH 19. The complaints of President Harrison's chilly receptions to applicants and their friends are no longer smothered murmurs; they are open and general. The President seems to assume that applicants and their friends are all to be dealt with as terms' length, and he applies the same rule to all, regardless of their distinction.

It is evident that the President desires to unload the labor of dividing the party spoils as much as possible, and he makes it so unpleasant for those who visit him on the subject that they will not be likely to come again if they can help it.

Prohibition Denounced.

The following extract from the celebrated argument of ex-Governor Andrew, of Massachusetts, made in 1867, in favor of the repeal of the Prohibition Law in that state is of immediate interest. That argument has never been adequately answered.

"I aver that a statute of prohibition, aiming to banish from the table of an American citizen, by pains and penalties, an article of diet which a large body of the people believe to be legitimate, which the law does not even pretend to exclude from the category of commercial articles, which in every nation, and in some form in all history, has held its place among the necessities and luxuries of society, is absurdly weak, or else it is fatal to any liberty."

"Do you tell me, however, that all such beverages in their most innocent use involve a certain danger; that possibly anyone may, and probably never, and certainly will not, abuse it, and thus abuse themselves, and by consequence that all men, as matter of prudence and therefore, duty ought to abstain from and reject it."

"Do you tell me, however, that all such beverages in their most innocent use involve a certain danger; that possibly anyone may, and probably never, and certainly will not, abuse it, and thus abuse themselves, and by consequence that all men, as matter of prudence and therefore, duty ought to abstain from and reject it."

The first step toward the certain repeal of the prohibition amendment which was inconsiderately adopted in the spring of 1890 has just been taken by the Rhode Island Legislature. The legislation preliminary to submitting the question again to the people has passed the House of Representatives by a vote of nearly two to one, and there is little doubt that the Senate will pass the bill at once.

There is a probability of some trouble between the President and the Republicans of the Senate over the South in an election question. Mr. Harrison has requested as a personal favor that the matter be left alone at the present extra session of the Senate, and the request had seemingly been agreed to, but the radical members of Senate have succeeded in getting the question agitated again.

W. W. Dudley, of "blocks of five" notoriety, denies the rumor that he had been snubbed by Mr. Harrison. He says he has never called at the White House since Harrison has occupied it, which makes it look as though he was afraid he might be snubbed.
