

Dancing at Eighty-Five.

The island of Nantucket is off the track of the modern world. The people and their customs are very unlike those in any other part of the world—the "off-island part," as the Nantucketers are wont to call it.

Old-fashioned customs and habits prevail. They know but little about the new-fangled manners and methods of modern social life. They follow the beaten paths of a century ago, live simple, thrifty, laborious lives, and furnish little business for the doctors.

They thrive financially and physically.

A visitor at an evening gathering on the island, not long since, tells how one lady, aged ninety-one, presided at the piano, and another, aged eighty-five, danced. "And you may take my word for it," adds the visitor, "that the dancing was sure enough dancing, if one might judge from the lady's snapping eyes, her vigorous speech and decisive character."

Locality and climate would seem to have comparatively little effect on health and longevity if people lived simply, as nature dictates, and when all built up with nature's simple remedies, like Warner's Leg, Cabin Sarsaparilla, instead of pulling down the system by using poisonous mineral drugs.

People who hasten to the physician every time they have the h-a-l-a-c-h-e, or experience any of the minor evidences of nature's sure revolt, against the disease of her laws, will not be found dancing at eighty-five. The mineral poisons of the apothecary lead to early physical decay.

The long-lived, rugged Nantucketers who enjoy life's pleasures with contentment, illustrate what the "off-island" portion of the world may experience if they live by nature's law and use old-fashioned log cabin remedies of roots and herbs for the ordinary ills that flesh is heir to.

In Guy's (London) Hospital reports, vol. 1, page 396, is found the statement: "Simple hypertrophy (enlargement) of the heart, especially of the left ventricle, is found without valvular incompetency. In this numerous cases the cardiac is secondary, a symptom to the renal affection." This explains why Warner's Safe Cure is effective in cases of heart disease. It removes from the blood the kidney acid which causes the heart disease.

Prohibition.

DEAR SIR: I would like with your permission to state a few facts concerning the Prohibition Amendment and in the first place let me say that it is going to be a great struggle between right and wrong. A struggle between the saloon and home. A struggle between all the miserable and deluded people who are being led by the cry of false personal liberty and the cry of true personal liberty.

And they are praying and pleading for us to arise and break the shackles that are dragging down our country and send down to a drunkard's grave and a drunkard's hell, for the Bible tells us that no drunkard shall inherit the Kingdom of Heaven. Yet in the face of all these facts there is now and then a man who pretends to be a professor of Christianity and who declares that the Liquor Traffic is right and will try to prove his doctrine by the word of God. The Bible does say by moderate or temperate in all things, and this man tries to make it appear that to be temperate a man must drink. He bids, but he must remember that all things do not relate merely to drinking. Then taking for granted that the gentleman's doctrine is true, we of course will be compelled to apply it to all the vices of this world. To be temperate in all things, according to his doctrine, a man must drink a little, but he must remember that all things do not relate merely to drinking. Then taking for granted that the gentleman's doctrine is true, we of course will be compelled to apply it to all the vices of this world. To be temperate in all things, according to his doctrine, a man must drink a little, but he must remember that all things do not relate merely to drinking. Then taking for granted that the gentleman's doctrine is true, we of course will be compelled to apply it to all the vices of this world.

Mr. SPEER: I congratulate you on a recent unsought testimony as to the purity of your brandy. Lady Duff Hardy, of London, England, an old acquaintance of mine, on testing from the bottle of brandy we brought from Passaic the other day, immediately asked me to get a like one for her, which I did this morning. The English aristocrats, you know, male and female, are pretty good judges of brandy.

Wishing you every success in your really good work.

I remain yours truly,
PRENTICE MUFORD,

During the year 1888 five persons died in Great Britain who left estates valued at more than $5,000,000. The largest was that of Baron de Stern, of London, who left a fortune of $17,724,809.

In 1878 we had local option in this state. During that time of one year there was closed up over one hundred and twenty breweries and distilleries and if that law had not been repealed there would be but few people in the liquor business in Pennsylvania to day. But the liquor men saw that they would spend millions of dollars at this time to prevent the adoption of the Amendment, knowing by the past that when it is enforced it does prohibit. Then in consultation let me say that in the existence of the foregoing facts, let us each and every one of us arise in the dignity of our manhood and in the strength of our God, say to the people of Pennsylvania, "Your votes on the 18th of June next that the Liquor Traffic shall be no more."

For the Good of Others

I want to make known the fact that I suffered from a Bladder and Kidney trouble and that I was cured by Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy—made at Rondout, N. Y.—and I look forward to spending the balance of my life free from torture and with a heart grateful for the medicine which afforded me so pleasant a prospect.—Rev. S. C. Chandler, Lebanon Springs, N. Y. 3-29-41

St. Louis has no less than seventy-eight Chinese laundries, and pays over $100,000 a month to Mongolians to have it washed done.

Bright's Disease.

DEAR SIR: I read all that is said in your columns, pro and con, on prohibition, and am really surprised to hear the arguments brought up to prove that the "Liquor Traffic" is a God's blessing to the human race, and from men who profess to be Christians.

I saw an article in your issue of March 29, signed by A. J. Derr. He said: "Paul the great apostle of the gentiles said: 'Woe is me if I preach not the gospel.' He said that Paul did not say: 'Woe is me if I preach not Prohibition.'"

This good brother did not tell his readers that temperance was a part of God's divine law.

Please read the 24 Chapter and 25 verses of the Acts of that great apostle, Paul, where he reasoned of "righteousness, temperance and judgment to come." And Felix trembled and answered: Go thy way for this time, when I have a convenient season I will call for thee.

Those men who deal out this law of damnation to their fellow-men feel, me thinks, like Felix did. They feel that the denunciations of God's word is against them; they hear it in His thunder, but heed it not.

They say "it is taking away our personal liberty." "Hear every man a right to do as he pleases!" I say no emphatically no! He has a right to do as he pleases as long as he does not interfere with the rights of others. Has a man a right to go to a saloon and spend all his time, energy, then, go home to his starving family, drunk, perfectly crazy and cuff his wife, and in many instances kill them. Oh! liberty, how thou art misconstrued for world's sake, I came near calling it worldly honor, but that would be giving it a nickname.

If the readers of this paper will but consider the Lord's prayer where he said: "Thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven," that will settle all disputes in regard to license. If His will is to be done on earth as in heaven, I would not suppose that any man would undertake to prove that there will be licensed houses in heaven.

May God help the people to rightly consider the issue that is now before us. Choose ye this day whom ye will serve: God or Mammon.

Is Blaine in the Soup?

There are well defined murmurs heard from the immediate friends of Premier Blaine. It is now asserted that he not only is powerless in shaping the diplomatic appointments, as a rule, but that two of the most important Missions awarded were given without even consulting the Secretary of State. What does it mean? Is Blaine in the soup?

Blaine is nothing if not master, and our readers are weary of his early resignation. We don't look for Blaine to give up so soon. He is an expert in that direction of power, and he won't get disgusted and tumble backwards into the soup until every resource and all patience are exhausted; but unless he resigns, he will be the laughing question will be—Is Blaine in the soup?

Harrison is a proud man; proud of his name, proud of his lineage and proud of his high prerogative. He went into the Presidency admonished on every side that Blaine would be his master, and he means to have himself the master of the situation. He has a high sense of duty, and he is determined to do his duty. He is a man of high character, and he is a man of high ability. He is a man of high position, and he is a man of high influence. He is a man of high reputation, and he is a man of high respect. He is a man of high honor, and he is a man of high esteem. He is a man of high fame, and he is a man of high glory.
