A night ride over the Pennsylvania rallroad, between Johnstown and Cresson, is now full of interest and excitement. The work of rebuilding the bridges which were washed away by the flood progresses by night as well as by dry, the night gangs working under strong lights which cast weird shadows. The small element of danger adds to the excitement, and the trip seems but a few minutes long.

A Clergyman's Odd Mania

REV. DR SAMUEL BARP BELIEVED TO BE INSANE. A dispatch from Ann Arbor, Mich., dated July 28, to the Philadelphia Press, maker the following statements concerning a former resident of Danville :

"An affair which will cause's big sensation in church circles throughout Michigan ish, had been removed to the Sanitarium health. Dr. Earp appeared upon the streets yesterday in his usual good health and spirits. It transpires that he is believed by his friends to be a monomaniac.

Dr. Earp has for four years been one o the most prominent Episcopalian clergymen in the diocese, and at the convention last month held to choose a bishop to suc nuse of which was soon explained by the ceed the late Bishop Harris he was supported in his candidacy by a considerable number of delegates. It is now said that Dr. Earp's defeat wat due to certain ugly the developments seem to warrant the opinion now entertained, even by his warmest friends, that his retirement from St. An-

In this way he ran into debt to nearly veryone in his congregation. Widows comparatively short space of time. seem to have suffered especially, and his obligations are said to be many thousand dollars. Several of his congregation relin quished to their pastor various sums of money, the loss of which will embarrass hem not a little.

ica' Bank let Dr. Earp have several thousand dollars of the bank's funds, so grea was his confidence in the clergyman's integrity, and it is said that the failure to nake this loan good resulted in the practical ruin of the cashier. The bank, howev er, lost nothing. Hecently, it is said, Dr Earp borrowed a sum from a young trades man, the fallure to pay which led the tradesman into financial straits and arousd the greatest indignation on the part of his friends against the borrowing rector to such an extent that the vestry resolved Doctor Earp should be asked to resign. This came to the knowledge of Doctor Earp three days before the meeting, and he at once sent in his resignation, to take effect November 10.

He has lived modestly, has worked industriously, has expended money fru galty and it is a mystery what he has done with the sums borrowed, unless, as somthink, he has used it to pay up an old obligation which was pressing him; in other words that he has borrowed from Peter to p-y Paul. Dr. Earp was regarded as one of the trongest men in the diocese by Bishop Harris during his lifetime, and they were warm friends, Dr. Earp helping the Bishop in his work in the Hobert Guild here. Ex-Governor Baldwin, of Detroit, is also a warm friend of Dr. Earp and it is intimated that he will come to the doctor's financial assistance. The blow falls crushingly upon Dr. Earp's wife and family. Mrs. Earp, who seems to have been kept in blissfu ignorance, is universally beloved for her many christian virtues. Dr. Earp is a remarkably fine looking man, scholarly and eloquent.'

THE HAY FEVER SEASON July, August, September. July, August, September.

"At this season, when life offers the greatest attractions and the most delightful resources to persons whose soundness of body permits out-of-door exercise and anusementa, multitudes are debarred from the joys of the summer by hay fever, one of the most exasperating, wearisome, and depressing its to which humanity is subject—obscure, inexplicable, descending on a given date like as invisible blow of tate. The sufferers from hay fever have looked in vain for any trustworthy remody. Many of them, however, have looked in vain because they have been ignorant of Eip's Gream Ealin, an admirable remedy for hay fever in all its forms. Agreeable in the use, entirely devoid of any unpleasant after-effects, this Gream Baim quickly allays inflammation and secures that relief for which the sufferer has longed in vain."—From The Christian Union, New York City, July 18, 1889. 8-2-6 de.
