FIFTEEN MILLION PEOPLE.

The Profile on the Standard Dollars That of a Philadelphia Lady.

A CONSERVATIVE ESTIMATE OF THE NUM BER OF VISITORS TO THE WORLD'S FATE.

Fifteen million visitors to the first-rate picture of his or ther teacher, World's fair in 1892 sounds like an ex-aggerated estimate, but there is no reason that it should be regarded as over sanguine. All national and inter-Williams as instructor of philosophy national expositions, beginning with the great Crystal Palace show in London is the latest laurel in the already famonational expositions, beginning with the great Crystal Palace show in London in 1851 and ending with the Exposi-bestrewn path of that lady, whose bestrewn bestrewn bath of that lady, whose tion Universalle now going on in Paris, have attracted more sight-scers than was originally contemplated. In 1855 there was a monster exhibition in Paris, and although a large part of the show consisted of native products, 5,000,000, persons were in attendance. Then came the second London show in 1861, which drew 6,200,000 persons, and after that the famous Parisian Ex-position of 1867, which was visited by more than ten million spectators. The exhibition in Vienna in 1873 drew 7,254,000, when the most sanguine estimates placed the expected attend ance at 6,000,000.

The largest exposition of any de-scription ever held in the United States was that in Philadelphia in 1876, to commemorate the 100th anniversary making a design for a new silver of the declaration of American indedollar. dence. Ten million visitors passed through the turnstiles between the months of May and November. It is believed this number will be largely exceeded by the number of visitors to the French Exposition now in progress, and conservative c iculators put the whole probable number at 12,009,000.

It has been the experience of those who have kept track of these statistics that the exhibitions of the progress of nations, when conducted on the broad educational grounds, invariably attract the attention and support of the mas-ses, and that each succeeding exhibition excels its predecessor in point of

Although the plans for the great World's Fair three years hence are yet in embryo the exhibition statisticians have already begun work. The ultra enthusiastic do not hesitate to place the attendance at from 17,000,000 to 19,000,000, but the more conservative fix the probable number at 15,000,000 or thereabouts, based on the history of similar projects in different parts of the world since the year 1850. Of this vast throng it is claimed that not less than 10,000,000 will come from towns and cities outside of New York State, and that the wonderful progress made in American affairs will attract an unusually large number from for

The meet-ing at the Mayor's office, following im-mediately after and participated in by a majority of those who had taken part in the commercial conference, was of such a nature as to dispel any doubt of the earnestness of those who took part, notwithstanding the unlooked for formation of a permanent organiza-tion, which may have to be reformed at

HAMMOND CONFIRMS DR. BROWN SEQUARD'S LISCOVERY OF THE ELIXIR OF LIFE.

Dr. William A. Hammond, of Washington, is experimenting with the elxi-ir of lite recently discovered by Dr. Brown-Sequard, of Paris, and thus far he says the results are fully equal to the promises given out by the great Paris physician. Dr. Hammond was sitting on the veranda of the fine new hospital, which he had just built out-ide the city limits, when the World crrespondent called on him. "It is true," said the doctor, "that correspondent called on him. "It is true," said the doctor, "that when Dr. Brown Sequard's discovery was first reported to the American per ple by the World-for it was the World that first made it known to America-I was rather dubious and in-clined more or less to think as others has blund that either the report was a i hinted, that either the report was French joke or that Dr. Brown-Sequard was 'another good man gone wrong.' The first report did not give a complete ides of the treatment. It adicated, rather, that the elixir was compound made from various glands of various animals, and on that show-37 NORTH FRONT ST.-38NORTH WATER ST., PHILA ing I was willing to say the thing was impossible. My stomach was ruined and cut to riscos with powerful medicines taken to effect a cure so that I was compelled to live on bread and water. I suffered for twenty-five years in this way. I was in-duced to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Bemedy, made at Bondout, N. Y., and nedical journals. I was willing to beit ve that there might be something in "I was willing at all events to put it o the test, and about a week ago I tarted to experiment. I take the s lected portion of a lamb freshly killed and pound it into a pulp in a nortar; with this I mix a teaspoonful er two of water and the result I filter through fine Swiss filtering paper The fluid, slightly thicker than water comes through perfectly pure and him-pid. The filtering must be carefully done, for if any shred or any part of the polp were injected under a pa-tient's skin it wou'd form abscesses and do harm. "The extract from a single lamb will be sufficient for a dozen injections. It does not matter to what part of the body the application is made, but the most convenient place is under the skin of the forearm where the skin i comparatively slack. It would hardly be safe to inject the fluid derived from a body twenty-four hours after the kil-ling of the animal. The injection of blood and the juice of beef into wasted patients has been common for many years and it is well-known that to in-ject essence of decayed beef would kill the man. "As soon as the lamb is slaughtered by the butcher no time is wasted in pounding and filtering, and within an hour of the killing of the lamb the juice is circulating through the patients veins and mingling with his blood. I began my experiments first on my-seil to assure myself that it was not dangerous to the patient. Since then I have applied the elixir to several old gentlemen without their knowing what it was. tion in the city of New York in 1892. Every tobacco-house in the city of any prominence whatever has attached its name to this circular. The names were gathered in one day by sending duplicate sheets from one firm to an-other, and the greatest interest and enthusiasm was displayed by the to-bacco men themselves in obtaining the signatures of their brethren. The list is now in the hands of the Mayor, and represents an aggregate capital of $60,000,000. The same spirit is being exhibited by dry-goods men, the hard-ware trade, the wall-paper dealers, the wholesale shoe trade, the furnitare trade and the builders and contractors.
