The Towanda Argus hit the nail on the head when it says "the merchant who advertises two or three times a year and expects to get the same rates and sales as the one whose advertisement appears 52 times in a year, when he comes to count his money, will find himself sadly left. It pays to advertise the year around and no paper can afford to give the periodical advertiser yearly rates."

His many pleasing traits of character will make him friends and his mental attainments and natural ability will be sure to bring him many clients.

Dr. B. F. Gardner performed a difficult operation last week upon Peter Fritz of Sugarloaf township, a stepson of William Kitchen. The patient was only about sixteen years of age. For some time he has been lame and suffered from rheumatism. His father, a physician, pronounced it rheumatism, but Dr. Gardner pronounced it dislocated bone, and should be removed. Cocaine was used and without the use of ether or chloroform, a piece of the bone between the knee and hip, about 6 1/2 inches long and one half wide was removed. The boy stood the operation heroically, uttering a cry of pain. One week after the operation he was in town and by the use of crutches walked from the depot to the Dr's. office.

The largest and most complete line of ready-made clothing can always be found at D. Lowenberg's.

Mr. Peter Weaver of Butler township, near Hazleton, died suddenly Thursday, September 12th. The day preceding he was stricken with paralysis, from which he never became convalescent. His body was brought over to Orangeville, Monday, September 16th, for interment. He was born in Lehigh County, November 5th, 1829, and at the age of twenty years came into Luzerne county with his uncle, his parents having moved into the place of coal at that time. In 1854 he was married to Loretta O. Kline. He was the father of three sons, Philip V., a prominent lawyer of Hazleton, Jacob, who died in childhood, and Lattimer, who was living upon the farm with his parents. He was a man much honored and respected, and will be missed in the community.

D. M. Sheep, has taken charge of the coal yard of W. R. Kocher & Co. The building in which coal is kept free from storms is now completed and a storage room is provided for 500 tons of coal at one time. W. R. Kocher & Co. have also bought the stock of B. F. Hicks and have employed G. W. Hippensteel, long connected with the Farmers' Produce Exchange to take charge of the store. They have made some great improvements in the store room and have made telephone connections. This store room is located just opposite the coal yard on Sixth street. The celebrat of Plymouth Coal is handled exclusively. The firm is prepared now to handle all kinds of grain, which may be brought in exchange for coal and merchandise.

Returning leave Bloomsburg at 4:00 p. m. reaching Junction City at 5:40 p. m.

Excursion trains will be issued good on all trains during the fairs.

We know nothing about the Shawnee coal from the Shawnee valley but the Shawnee cigar is a rattling good 5c cigar at Mercers.

There is a fire in the cellar of the Great Eastern Tea Co. Saturday morning, which was fortunately discovered in time to save great destruction. The night watchman in making his round about 2 a. m. discovered the flames and word was sent at once to Mr. Weaver, one of the proprietors. He soon arrived and in company with Walter Edmondson entered the cellar from the outside with the street hose, and in about half an hour had the fire under control. The Friendship hose carriage and hose were on hand, but were directed not to turn on water unless so ordered. Great credit is due Mrs. Wm. Gilmore and Mrs. Wm. Webb, in the absence of their husbands, who were unlocked the hose house and got the carriage out and gave directions to the men, to take it to the fire. After the fire they saw that the carriage was returned. The fire occurred in the banana room and was probably caused by a bunch of bananas falling upon a burning lamp which then exploded. Many of the timbers were very much charred and the fire was slowly finding its way into the first floor. A few minutes longer would have caused a great fire. This is another instance in which our night watchman has proved of much benefit.

Personal. A young lady of seventeen summers, highly educated, refined, and of prepossessing appearance, desires to form the acquaintance of some nice young man, whom she would like to see occasionally, and who is to use that great blood purifier, Sulphur Bitters. 9-27-99.

Miss Harriet Rupert died at the home of her late brother Hon. L. B. Rupert on Third Street last Saturday morning, at the age of nearly eighty-four years. She always enjoyed good health until a few years ago, when she fell down stairs making her leg cripple, and necessitating the use of a cane. One week previous to her death she complained of a severe headache—none of her friends, however, felt any alarm, until the Tuesday following, when dangerous symptoms manifested itself. Slowly and peacefully her life ebbed away until Saturday morning when she breathed her last. She was the last of a family of twelve children, and the tenth in age, her brother Leonard B., who died last spring being youngest. Of her six sisters only two were ever married—four together with Miss Harriet, preferring to live unmarried lives. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of the Presbyterian church. A large number of friends attended the funeral to show by their presence the high esteem in which she was held, and to look once more upon the face of one who always had a good word for everybody.

School books; all the books used in the county schools at W. H. BROOKS & Co's.

"On the Trail; or, Daniel Boone, the pioneer," will be given by Peck & Fursman's Dramatic Company, on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock. Whoever they have been the press speaks of them in the highest terms. The following is taken from the Williamsport Sunday Breakfast Table.

The play of "Daniel Boone" is picturesque and thrilling. The delineation of the pioneer's life in the early days. There are many thrilling situations, and not too much blood-letting and scalp-taking, which generally fills the popular plays of this nature. Dashes of humor brighten up the action at judicious intervals. The scenery is all that could be desired, and taken altogether it may be said that the show is the best on the road. J. H. Gripe, "The Barber," an old-fashioned Kentucky bag, and Miss Sanford as "Sally Bush," full of pluck and fun, kept the hall merry and overran the stage. This Company gives one of the greatest street parades ever given by any theatrical company. Don't miss it.

On Thursday, the 19th inst., Mr. Winthrop Burdick and Miss G. C. Gripe were married at the residence of St. Paul's Church, Bloomsburg, at the residence of Mr. John Mensch, the father of the bride. Relatives and friends to the number of one hundred were in attendance.

Beautiful flowers were on every side and the house was full of good cheer.

At the appointed hour for the marriage ceremony, Miss Minnie Baringer, of Catawissa, played the wedding march, and the bridal party entered the parlor in the following order: the officiating clergyman, then four young girls, maids of honor, Ada Mensch, May Evans, Jessie Zarr and Emma Campbell, all tastefully dressed in white, and wearing a bouquet of flowers. After them Mr. A. H. Halleck of Plymouth, with Miss Flora Mensch, in an attractive white dress, and next the bride and groom.

The bride looked finely in her very becoming white costume.

The groom and his best man made a fine appearance in the customary black suits. The brief and impressive service of the Episcopal church having been finished and the cordial congratulations of the many friends given, a sumptuous banquet was served, which all present enjoyed very much. At its close, the groom and bride left for the train on their wedding trip, and the guests departed in the fall of the rain, which had yielded to a bright sunshine, a happy omen for their future.

The presents were numerous and very handsome, showing the high esteem in which the young bride pair are held.

We are now ready, everything fresh and new. Dress Suits, Business Suits, Boys' Suits, at D. Lowenberg's popular Clothing House.

At the fifty-sixth annual session of the Pennsylvania Christian Conference (of the 3rd Missionary District) held at Granville Centre, Bradford Co., Pa., Aug. 28th to Sept. 1st, 1899, the following resolutions were presented and sustained by an unanimous vote:

Resolved, That we deem it our duty of every preacher of the gospel to give his voice and influence against the traffic in alcoholic liquors, and in favor of prohibition by Constitutional Amendment.

Resolved, That we do not regard a preacher as being in good standing who either by voice, vote or pen places himself in opposition to the adoption of a constitutional prohibition amendment.

Resolved, That it is the sentiment of this conference that the signing of applications by the members of the church for the granting of license, for the selling of intoxicating liquors, is unchristian and with-out a single redeeming feature, and that we most earnestly request our members to refrain from attaching their names to any such applications, and to be it further,

Resolved, That the thanks of this convention are due, and are hereby tendered, the good people of Granville Centre for the kind and hospitable manner in which they have entertained the convention, and also that we tender our thanks to the Pennsylvania R. R. for reduced rates, on their roads, to those attending the Conference.

J. Howard Kline, writing from Weston, Wood County, Ohio, says: Wood Co. is keeping along with the times, everything is prospering. Crops are fair, oil abundant, and plenty of gas in the brigs and tanks. There has been a good many leases taken on land in the neighborhood and test wells drilled about three miles and a half from me, expect to commence soon. Mechanics and laborers of all kind are in demand, farmers can hardly get hands enough to keep them moving. There is a great deal of building going on making great improvements in the county disposing with the old log buildings for better ones. A. M. White is building a new house this summer, which will make a big improvement to his place.

Placed in the Court Room by the County Commissioners.

The court house ball room on Monday morning at 9:45, and soon afterwards the court room was filled with people, among them a number of ladies, who had come to witness the ceremony which was outside of the routine court business. Hon. E. R. Kleker and his associates McHenry and Murphy sat on the bench, and behind them hung a picture covered with a green cloth. As soon as Orier Coffman had opened the court in the usual way, B. F. Zarr Esq., counsel to the County Commissioners, arose and addressed the Bench as follows: "If your honors please: In for the court proceeds with its regular business, I wish to bring to your attention and the attention of the bar of this county and of the citizens, a matter in which we all feel a lively interest."

It is known that there presided in these courts for a period of more than twenty years a jurist distinguished for his legal knowledge, high moral character, courteous treatment of the bar, uniform kindness and respect to the Bench as follows: "If your honors please: In for the court proceeds with its regular business, I wish to bring to your attention and the attention of the bar of this county and of the citizens, a matter in which we all feel a lively interest."

The citizens of Columbia county hold in the highest estimation the ability and integrity of Judge Elwell, and his reputation as an able and conscientious administrator of the law is not confined to the limits of Columbia county, but extends throughout the length and the breadth of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and even beyond her borders. His opinions and rulings are cited by the courts of other counties, and are received by any tribunal before which they are adduced as authority of weight.

The county-commissioners of Columbia, joining with her other citizens in their just estimate of the distinguished service rendered to the Commonwealth by Judge Elwell, have seen fit, and desiring it and taking it to be a permanent honor to the citizens of Columbia county, to place in the public domain, a portrait of the Honorable William Elwell, and to place it in the Temple of Justice—not so much a monument for the past as a testimonial to the future and as an offering by which he himself may learn the kindly feeling of his people, and that it is to be a constant reminder to us who have been intimately associated with him, to follow so far as possible in his footsteps. Of the present commissioners of Columbia county a majority at least reside at a distance from the county seat; their act is undoubtably prompted and sustained by the public sentiment of respect, admiration and love for Judge Elwell, which permeates the county to its remotest bounds, but which, great as it is, is only an index of our appreciation of his merits. We, the members of the bar, have been closely associated with him in the administration of justice, though often in the presence of the public, and it is to us a source of pride and honor, while it has been his office well-fulfilled to hold the seat of Justice with her sword and scales. Conducting before him unswayed, unflinching, and unswayed, our legal struggle, we have been taught by his rulings, led by his learning, instructed in his manhood by his dignified bearing, reminded us of him and of his character, will be to us a continued incentive to diligence in our calling and to the cultivation of all manly graces; it will stimulate the young men in training for the bar; they will inquire of us and will learn the history of the eminent jurist whom this portrait commemorates and they will be stirred with emulation by his great attainments in legal lore and of his surpassing virtues as judge, and they will be moved to greater exertion and infused with new energy in working onward and upward towards the highest ideal of achievement, and to their usefulness in their day and generation.

It is to be so fortunate as to arrive at the advanced age that Judge Elwell has already reached, he will be happy if he is able then to look back upon a life's work as well done as his—upon every duty as exactly, as scrupulously, as zealously performed as by him whose likeness we shall then still be permitted to behold upon the walls of the Temple of Justice.

We thank you, Mr. Zarr, in behalf of the public, and through you the commissioners of Columbia county and the people whom they represent for this valuable and appropriate gift."

The picture is a life size bust crayon portrait, in a heavy rich gault frame, and is an excellent likeness of Judge Elwell, and is a fine work of art in his vigor. It is the work of H. A. McKillip, and reflects great credit upon his skill as an artist.

It is apparent from the words of approval heard everywhere, that this act of Messrs. Gritton, Hittenshouse, and Stephens, commissioners, is in accord with the public sentiment.

Interested People. Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, which they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 20c. If you are certainly would try a trial, it may save you from consumption. (Mention names.)

Distanced in the Race. Why should Dr. Pierce's medicines not distance all competitors in amount of sales, as they are doing, since they are the only medicines sold by druggists possessed of such wonderful curative properties as to warrant their manufacturers in guaranteeing them to cure the diseases for which they are recommended. You get a cure or money paid for them returned. The Doctor's "Golden Medical Discovery" cures all diseases caused by derangement of the liver, as biliousness, indigestion and dyspepsia; also all blood, skin and scalp diseases, tetter, salt-rheum, scrofulous sores and swellings and kindred ailments.

Do not hawk, hawk, and blow, blowing everybody, but use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and be cured.

WANAMAHER'S. PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, SEPT. 18, 1899.

We have overstepped our own past in things for Misses, and Children's wear. Dresses, Coats or long Garments, novel in design and material. There are French Coats, bright, cheery, wide-awake garments; Russian Coats, rich with new and odd furs, and a multitude of other shapes to delight mamma as well daughters.

Exceptionally fine goods in the little price lots; a surprising variety at medium cost, and so on step by step to the very fine. Whatever the grade, tasteful styles always.

The most striking newness in the Wraps is the prevalence of fur at necks, cape edges, wrists. Deep; flowing furcinnam bear llama, angora, and a new name, "Mouflon," like eider-downy wool.

The stuffs are Beaver, Sicilian Beaver, Plaids, and a multitude of shaggy weaves. Little shags and big shags, some with fancy figures.

Accordion plaiting clings to some of the dresses. Bright plaid trimmings, side plaited double sleeves and zouave Jacket effects are features.

Individuality, originality, and strikingly handsome effects. You'll think it if you don't say it.

Just here let us tell you that the Department for Ladies' Tailoring and Costumes to order has been placed under the direction of a distinguished French Modiste of great experience in Paris and London. We are confident that the larger knowledge, improved methods and artistic originality thus at your disposal will be appreciated.

Satin-backed Velvet Ribbons are at the front. "Scarce," they say, and of course everybody wants them. Plenty enough here.

The new ribbons are a rich and handsome lot. And they have a light and handy place to be seen in. From the Satin and Velvet Ribbons on the Main Aisle to the No. 1 "Daisy" Ribbons on Thirteenth street, an unbroken line of sorts in the clear, perfect light of the Transpet.

The Squad of Bargain Ribbons has two new recruits. (1) A new Brocade, made especially for fancy work and dress trimming, rich colors. Price to have been 40c. We make it 14c. (2) Armure and Ottoman, made to sell at 45c; our price 18c.

Belfast is the centre of the world for Linen Handkerchiefs. Fifteen years ago not a cotton or a cotton-and-linen Handkerchief was made in Belfast; now more than half that are sent out from that city are either cotton or cotton mixed.

Cotton has crept into some of the very fine things, but you don't suspect it until the wear and wash test shows the cheat.

For the person of taste who wants a show-white Handkerchief, soft and silky, one that will not wash fizzy or turn yellow with use—Linen.

We began by selling nothing but Linen as Linen. We kept to it. The flood of union goods has never reached our counters.

This year our importation of pure Linen goods has been larger and more varied than ever before. All sorts. Today we have space to hold up but one thing—Men's Plain White Handkerchiefs.

We took a big lot of them. Exactly the quality, style and size that has been pronounced from Paris and London to St. Petersburg just the right thing for a well dressed man. French size—not too big; and French hem—one-half inch.

They are put up dozen and half dozen in a box—intended for the holiday trade. But we crowd them ahead of the season and you save 25 to 35 per cent by it.

Try Curtis Compound. Try Curtis Compound, Blood, Liver, and Kidney Purifier. Try Curtis Compound, blood, liver and kidney purifier.
