In addition to the foregoing the Moore head Weekly News gives the following partic-

alars :
At the time of the murder F. J. Shreiber was with his crew threshing oats a short distance from the house. The nephew had been standing around near the threshing machine all the afternoon. According t the testimony at the inquest he had asked his uncle where his father had got certain money, and Mr. Schreiber had explained it o Jacob ; some of the men thought Jacob was acting strangely, and the victim had said to them that he was acting as if he was crazy. There had been no harsh words between them. Mr. Schreiber wa shot twice, the first ball penetrating the right shoulder blade, and lodging just beneath the skin in the centre of the breast. As he turned towards the murderer the at D. Lowenberg's popular Clothsecond shot was fired, penetrating above the right groin. Mr. Schreiber did not ing house. speak after being shot. He was carried into the house and laid on the table, where he died shortly after. The murderer ran swiftly across the prairie towards Moorehead, and was captured about two hours later. The News says: "Mr. Shreiber was a thoroughly practical farmer, and has taken many advanced steps in his farming operations to test the capability of the so and climate here, and has been of material benefit to the agriculturists of this region. He was a genial pleasant and undemonstrative man, peaceful and quiet, of the strictest integrity and the highest honor. WANAMAKER'S.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, Sept. 30, 1889. If there were an official inspection, a census of merchanlise, the staetment about the Autumn Dress Goods now here would be that they surpass in elegance, completeness and number of styles, without doubt in quantity as well, the united total of all other Dress Goods stocks in this city. This statement is made ad-

There is a feeling of depression as one turns from even a superficiae study of this stock to writing of it. The simple truth told in the most prosaic style would make a story taat would challenge credulity. Shall we attempt to interest you by detailed description? Our best sense answers "no." Then "no" it is.

A study of Art in Dress Goods is always attractive. ing an advertised medicine, Dr. Pierce's Don't laugh, but there is an art feeling in the stuffs. You would sonor the physician who, when he knows be dull, indeed, where you to look over these products of infinite skill and patience without feeling.
