THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

TEN PLANES IN WHICH ARE FORMULATED THE PARTY'S DOCTRINE.

The following is the platform adopt ed by the Democratic State Convention: The Democracy of Pennsylvania, in convention assembled, declare:

"First. That all powers not expressly the tenth amendment to the Constitu-tion itself is essential to the preserva-to 9 nays. tion of the principles of home rule and ment, to the end that labor may not be robbed of the bread it has earned.

"Third. We regard trusts, in whatever form organized, as the result of the existing monopoly tariff, and we demand the repeal of such tariff taxes as enable them to control domestic production, by unlawful combination, and to extort from the people exhorbitant prices for their products.

"Fourth. We accept the decision of the people of Pennsylvania rendered by the ballot on the prohibitory amendment as a declaration in favor of a reasonable just and off estimates. reasonable, just and effective regula-tion of the traffic in ardent spirits. We hold that the agreement of the Republican party, through its Representatives in the Legislature, to the proposed pro-hibitory amendment to the Constitu-tion, and its defeat at the polls in spite of the Republican majority of 80,000 votes, are facts that establish beyond doubt the hypocrisy of the Rebeyond doubt the hypocrisy of the Re-publican leaders in their treatment of the question of prohibition.

"Fifth. We hold the Republican party responsible for the failure—a failure wilfully and corruptly incurred —to enforce by 'appropriate legislation' the sixteenth and seventeenth articles of the Constitution, designed to pro-industries of this Commonwealth.

"Sixth. We hold the Republican "Sixth. We hold the Republican in getting it on the Senate calendar, party responsible for the failure to pass where it passed third reading and final any law for the relief of the manual any law for the relief of the manual passage with a creditable vote, and laborers of the State of Pennsylvania, from the kind manner the members of and we recommend the enactment of the House had so far treated us, no desperate parti-an services. such laws as will give equal protection serious opposition was expected, but and equal opportunities in every branch we were disappointed. of industry to all citizens, irrespective "This bill, more than any other of of race, religion or nativity. We also the bills entrusted to the committee, hold the Republican party responsible for the failure of the Legislature to consider favorably the petition of the working men and farmers of this State classes of this State to place themselves the burdens of the bu actions of monopoly.

"Seventh. We hold the Republican party responsible for the notorious corruptions which have for many years prevailed in the management of the State Treasury, for the system of depositing loans without interest, enriching favorites of the ring by the use of the public money and for the flagrant violation of law by the Commissioners of the Suking Fund, and we pledge the faith of the Democratic party that the candidate this day nominated will, if elected, reform these

"Eighth. We favor the Australian ballot system as adapted to meet the requirements of our Constitution and the special wants of our people, in order to secure the freedom and purity of elections menaced by the combined power of monopoly and the corruption of the Republican rings and bosses.

"Ninth. That the sufferers by the recent floods have our sincere sympathy, and that while we deprecate and condemn the management on the part of the State authorities by which relief to our sorely-afflicted fellow citizens has been unnecessarily delayed, we arge our representatives in the Legislature to take such constitutional action as will give substantial relief to the communities. "Tenth. While we favor a liberal system of pensions to such veterans of the late war as have been honorably discharged, and who from wounds or the association, made an able and elodischarged, and who from wounds or other physical infirmities have been did other members of the bill, as rendered unfit for manual or other rendered unfit for manual or other labor, we deem it unjust to that large class of those faithful soldiers of the Union who take a just pride in the heroic achivements of their comrades in arms that there should be added to the pension roll the names of any who are not qualified therefor by reason of honorable and faithful service in the line of duty."

LABOR REFORM.

The mechanics, mill-hands, win rs, laborers, in fact, the wage-carners of hope that each and every member is the State, represented at Harrisourg satisfied with this account of our stew-last winter by a special committee of the Knights of Labor, asked the Legis-of legislative committees at each ses. the State, represented at Harrisourg lature to pass a number of bills. From sion of the Legislature. Wishing the the report of that committee, lately next committee better success, with distributed privately to the various labor societies of the State, we can best give an idea of what these bills were, and what the evils are that they were intended to remedy, and what the Republican Legislature, under the guidance of Speaker Boyer, did with these bills in answer to the appeals of Approved: the workingmen.

at Union college, naturally inclined to a military life and trained to some extent in voluntary military organiza-tions, he was ready in the full vigor of educated young manhood to fill with conspicuous ability the prominent place to which he was called from the ordinary pursuits of a retired life by the proclamation of the president of the United States, April 15, 1861. In the eventful years which followed his response to the call of the president for men to enforce the laws, he occupied successively the positions of colonel of the Fourth regiment of Pensylvania volunteers during what is known as the Three months service and as a colonel of the Fifty-first regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers, brigadier-general of United States volunteers and brevet major-general of United States volumeers respectively during the remainder of the war of

The calm courage, the quiet devotion, intrepid zeal and the lofty patriot ism which characterised his military service and won for him the success which crowned his efforts are known and appreciated by all who have given heed to the history of the stirring times during which this service was rendered.

The same year in which he retired rom the military service of the United States he was called by the people of this commonwealth to serve them in an important civil position, and from the time of his election in 1865 down ernor and major general of the Nation al Guard, he has almost without inter ruption rendered efficient and distinguished services to his native state To recount these services would be to repeat in a large measure the history of the Commonwealth during these years. They are well known and will be long and gratefully remembered." The funeral took place at Norris-town on Monday, and was largely at-tended, the Nationl Guard of which

A Disoreditable Appointment

The selection of Green B. Raum a Pension Commissioner to succeed Tanner is one of the few very discreditable appointments of the present advote of 28 to 4.

In the House: first reading April record to qualify him for the delicate and responsible duties of the office.

Green B. Raum is no such man. He omes with the offensive flavor of the worst demoralization of the Gran reign, under which he was called to the office of Commissioner of Internal Revune, and in which position he was the backbone of the Whiskyring and a blatent peripatetic campaigner He entered every important State political ontest in person, flo ded the country with political bulletins over his signature, and summoned his large internal revenue force to the most reckless and
