BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1889. Mrs. Parnell, mother of Charles Stewart Parnell, the Irish patriot, is said to be in destitute circumstances. Steps are being taken for her relief.

Reports come from Russia that its government is unwilling to stand up longer against the judgment of the civilized world, and has resolved to abolish the exile system. The treatment of Siberian exiles for many years has been most barbarous.

Lewis C. Cassidy, the prominent lawyer and politician, and the Attor-ney General of Pennsylvania under the administration of Governor Pattison, died at his residence, at Germantown, on Monday morning.
Although Mr. Cassidy had been ill for several days suffering with inflammation of the lungs, his condition was not considered serious and his sudden death was a shock to his large circle of acquaintances. The cause of death was beart failure.

The Philadelphia Press of last Sunday publishes an expose of the vice that is covered by massage and bath advertisements. Five out of eight socalled masseuses were found to be women of bad character. Of course, all such things should be investigated and exposed, but it would seem from the reading of the article, that the investigators enjoyed themselves while in pursuit of knowledge on which to base the exposure. It remains to be seen whether the information thus given to the public will break up the massage business, or give it a boom.

There has been a revolution in Brazil, and the empire is no more. Dom Pedro who has been Emperor for more than fifty years, has been deposed, and he and his family have sailed for Lisbon. The name adopted by the new government is the Republic of the United States of Brazil. The national emblem adopted by the new ministers is the United States flag with Brazilian

The change of government has been made practically without bloodshed and with the slightest possible amount of disorder After the first excitement caused by the declaration of the army and navy in favor of a republic perfect order was maintained. The imperial Ministry retired peacefully when informed of their deposition, and the Provisional Cabinet was formed.

Washington, D. C. Nov. 18, 1889. Representative Samuel J. Randall is not making as rapid progress towards good health as his admirers would wish and many of them fear that he will never again be able to stand the wear and tear of active work in the House. Mr. Randall firmly believes that he will resume his work as soon as the House meets, and tells everybody who goes to see him that he is only resting now in deference to his physicians

The republicans who have failed to get themselves appointed to office by President Harrison are rapidly announcing themselves as candidates for the three or four desirable offices under the House of Representatives. Among the latest in this category are ex-representative Guenther, of Jowa, and Gen. George A. Sheridan, once of Louisiana, but now of almost anywhere, or everywhere. Both of these gentle-men want to be elected Clerk of the House, and so do several others, including Hon, Ed. McPnerson and Mr. Carson, both of Pennsylvania. There is more of a contest so far over these minor places than over the speakership. From the present out look there is but one real republican candidate for Speaker-Reed-the rest are only mentioned to compliment them They will of course, be voted for on one, and possibly two ballots in the republican caucus, but on the third ballots at the farthest Reed will get two thirds of the votes.

Robert P. Porter, superintendent of the eleventh census, in his report to the Secretary of the Interior, suggests that the delay accompanying the print-ing of the tenth census be avoided by having the printing for this census done by private contract, or letting the Census Bureau print them itself.

The census, in addition to the population and other things usually given, will ascertain the language spoken by every person of 10 years of age and upward; a most complete classification of occupations; the names, organizations and length of service of surviving veterans of the war; the financial condition of every county, city, town and incorporated villiage in the country.

SICK HEADACHE

This flemedy is the persentation of one of the leading physicians of Paris. France, and was used by him with unparalleled success for over thirty years, it was first given to the public as a proprietary medicine in 1818. Since which time it has found its way into almost every county on the face of the globe, and become a favorite remedy with thousands of the leading physicians. Medical socioties have discussed its marvelous success at their sanual conventions, and after their o ticial chemists have analyzed it and found that it contained no opiates, bromides or other harmful ingredients placed it among their standard remedies.
