BLOOMSBURG, PA. FRIDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1889.

The President's Message, which was sent to Congress on Monday, appears in full in this issue.

The Sentinel of last week contains a two column article upon the subject of blanks used in the offices of Prothonotary and Register and Recorder, for which the county commissioners have paid those officials. This payment was made in accordance with Act passed April 25, 1859, providing that the county shall furnish the stationery &c, for these offices. This law stands to-day as the law of the State, and will continue to do so until the courts shall decide differently, the opinion of a Washington county lawr to the contrary, notwithstanding If the law is such a pernicious one, Rep esentative Krickbaum should have pointed out its vicious features, before its passage in the legis ature. If he uttered a word in opposition to the bill, other than voting, we shall be glad to print his speech.

The opinion is expressed both by Mr. Snyder and Mr. Campbell, and by two of the county commissioners, that this tempest in a teapot is account ed for, by the fact that the Sentinel did not print the blanks.

As to the bonds referred to which bear the unprint of the Republican, but are said to have been furnished by the Columbian we have only to say that such bonds were never printed at this office, never borrowed or bought by us from anybody, and that Mr. Campbell now remembers that they were among some blanks purchased by him from his predecessor, G. W.

The prices paid for the blanks were not unreasonable, and the basis of valuation taken was the best obtainable, being the price list of a firm that makes a special business of printing such blanks, from which a liberal discount was made by Messrs Campbell and Snyder. Neither of these gentlemen nor the county Commissioners have done anything in this matter which invites a suspicion of dishonesty

HISTORY REPEATING ITSELF.

In 1852 the Democrats swept every Northern State from Pennsylvania to California. Only two Northern States -Massachusetts and Vermont-voted for General Scott against General Pierce, and two Southern States-Kentucky and Tennessee-were the only break in the Democratic sweep in the South. Every indication pointed to a long period of Democratic supremecy, and it could have been long maintained had wisdom increased with power; but the very cause that gave the Democrats their ovewhelming victory in 1852, broke them into fragments in 1854, gave them a narrow minority triumph in 1856 and then doomed them to a quarter of a century of unbroken rule by their opponents.

The cause of the great Democratic victory in 1852 was slavery; the cause of the overthrow of the same party in 1854 was slavery; and the cause that made t voiceless in the national government for nearly a generation was slavery There was profound unrest among the people because of the growing power of slavery in the administration of our boasted free institution, but the peril to the tranquility of the nation in assaulting slavery that had the high sauction of the Constitution, and the odium east upon the Abolition agitation of the day, made hundreds of thousands assent to the Compromise Measures of 1850 as a finality, hoping for peace and prosperity by an adjust-ment that was expected to end the disturbing controversy.

But slavery aggression not only did not cease when the people voted in 1852 by an exceptional majority, to end slavery agitation, but it became bolder and advanced its standard by the Dred Scott decision and by the desperate and bloody struggles to en-slave Kansas and Nebraska. The latent anti-slavery sentiment was thus kindled into a flame, and in 1854. every New England and Northern State excepting only California—lost by a few hundred—voted against the administration and the party that had but lately given the most triumphant summons to power ever given in any national contest since the re election ot Monroe, Stubborn Democratic States like Maine, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Michigan, swung from their Democratic moorings and, with the single exception of Indians, have been a stubborn Republican States for the period of a full generation.

In 1854 when the profound antislavery sentiment asserted itself, the answer was made that "iocal issues" had temporarily disrupted parties and the blind leaders continued to lead their blind followers until the deluge came. True, local issues were seized upon in many States and magnified in to potential importance, but a party united in conviction is not thus dis rupted by local questions. It is only when a great party assails the convic tions of its people that "local issues" can rise to the importance of swinging such States as Virginia, Ohio, Iowa, New York and New Jersey against the party just on the threshold of power by almost unprecedented major-

The issue that is repeating the revo lutionary work of the slavery issue of 1854 is the now vital question of tariff reform. It had many pretexts in the "local issues" to open the way for the empire. And the revolt of 1889, like the revolt of 1854, will grow in power and become more and more revolutionary in every section of the New York Pest-office directed to the Newada Bank, in San Francisco. At Union, until needless taxation of the 9 o'clock on the same evening it was Union, until needless taxation of the people shall be overthrown, and band-on its way with other mail matter for the Pacific Coast, and at 9.50 o'clock protection at the cost of consumers.
