THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

t a meeting of state railroad commissioner their accredited representatives, held a shington in March last, upon the invitation of washington in starch and, upon the invitation of the interstate commerce consulisation, a resolution was unanimizatly adopted urging the commission. To consider what can be done to prevent the loss of life and limb in coupling and uncoupling freight oars, and in handling the brakes of such cars." During the year ending June 30, 1888, ever 1,000 railroad employes were killed in service, and more than 30,000 injured.

It is competent, I think, for congress to require uniformity in the construction of cars used in interstate commerce, and the use of improved safety appliances upon such trains. Time will be necessary to make the needed changes, but an earnest and intelligent beginning should be made at once. It is a represent to our civilization that any class of American workmen should, in the pursuit of a necessary and useful vocation, be subjected to a peril of life and limb as great as that of a soldler in sime of war.

(The president then speaks of the department of agriculture, the weather service, ment of agriculture, the weather service and the District of Columbia.)

The proposition to observe the four hundred The proposition to observe the four hundreds antiversary of the discovery of America by the opening of a world's fair or exposition in some one of our great cities will be presented for the consideration of congress. The value and interest of such an exposition may well claim the promotion of the general government.

In the course of lengthy reference to the civil service commission, he says:

The reform of the civil service will make as asfe or satisfactory advance until the present law and its equal administration are well established in the confidence of the people. It will be my pleasure, as it is my duty, to see that the law is executed with firmness and impartiality. It some of its provisions have been frauduently evaled by appointing efficers, our resentment should not suggest the repeal of the law, but reform in its administration. We should have one view of the matter, and hold it with a sincerity that is not affected by the consideration that the party to which we belong is for the time in power.

My predecessor, on the 6th day of January, 1880, by all executive order to take effect March 15, brought the railway mail service under the operation of the civil service law. Provision was made that the order should take effect sconer in any state where an eligible list was sooner obtained. On the 11th day of March, Mr. Lyman, then the only member of the commission, reported to me in writing that it would not be presented to have the list of eligibles ready before May 1, and requested that the taking effect of the order be postponed until that time, which was done, milject to the same provision contained in the original order as to states in which an eligible list was sooner obtained.

As a result of the revision of the rules of the In the course of lengthy reference to the

and order as to states in which an engine use a sconer obtained.

As a result of the revision of the rules, of the new classification, and of the inclusion of the rail-way mail service, the work of the commission has been greatly increased, and the present elerica force is found to be inadequate. I recommen-that the additional cierks asked by the commis-sion be appropriated for. * *

I am satisfied that both in and out of the classi-fied service great benefit would accrue from the

I am satisfied that both in and out of the classified service great benefit would accrue from the adoption of some system by which the offices would receive the distinction and benefit that, it all private employments, comes from exceptiona faithfulness and efficiency in the performance of our street of the st duty.

I have suggested to the heads of the executive departments that they consider whether a recording to the kept in each bureau of all those alements that are covered by the terms "faithfulness" and "efficiency," and a rating made showing the relative merits of the clerks of each class, the rating to be regarded as a test of merit in making promotions.

romotions.

I have also suggested to the postmaster genthat he adopt some plan by which he can, up the basis of the reports to the department and frequent inspections, indicate the relative me the basis of the reports to the department and of frequent inspections, indicate the relative merit of postmasters of each class. They will be appropriately indicated in the official register and in the report of the department. That a great stimulus would thus be given to the whole service I do not doubt, and such a record would be the best defense against inconsiderate removals from office (The president here suggests a national experimental grant in aid of education.)

The "Color Question." The "Color Question."

The colored people did not intrude themselves upon us; they were brought here in chains and held in the communities where they are now chiefly found, by a cruel slave code. Happily for both races they are now free. They have, from a standpoint of ignorance and poverty, which was our shame, not theirs, made remarkable advances in education and in the acquisition of property. They have, as a people, shown themselves to be friendly and faithful towards the white race, under temptations of tremendous strength. They have their representatives in the national cometeries where a grateful government has gathered the ashes of those who died in its defense.

They have furnished to our regular army results that have won high praise from their course. They have furnished to our regular army regiments that have won high praise from their commanding officers for courage and soldierly qualities, and for fidelity to the enlistment oath. In oriti life they are now the toilers of their communities, making their full contribution to the widening streams of prosperity which these communities are receiving. Their sudden withdrawal would stop production, and bring disorder into the household as well as the shop. Generally, they do not desire to quit their homes, and their employers resent the interference of the emigration agents who seek to stimulate such a degire.

But, notwithstanding all this, in many parts of our country where the colored population is large the people of that race are, by various devices.

But, notwithstanding all this, in many parts of our country where the colored population is large the people of that race are, by various devices, deprived of any effective exercise of their political rights and of many of their civil rights. The wrong does not expend itself upon those whose votes are suppressed. Every constituency in the Union is wronged.

It has been the hope of every patriot that a sense of justice and of respect for the law would work a gradual ours of these flagrant evils. Surely no one supposes that the present can be accepted as a permanent condition. If it is said that these communities must work out take problem for themselves, we have a right to ask whether they are at work upon it. Do they suggest any solution? When and under what conditions is the black man to have a free ballot? When is the in fact to have those full civil rights which have so long been his in law? When is that equality of influence which our form of government was intended to secure to the electors to be restored? This generation should courageously face these grave questions, and not leave them as a heritage of wor to the next. The consultation should proceed with candor, calmness and great patience; upon the lines of justice and humanity, not of prejudice and crucity. No question in our country can be at rest except upon the firm base of justice and of the law.

I carnestly invoke the attention of congress to the consideration of such measures within its well defined constitutional powers as will secure to all our people a free exercise of the right of suffrage and every other civil right under the constitution and laws of the United States. No evil, however deplorable, can justify the assumption, either on the part of the executive or of congress, of powers not granted; but both will be highly blamable if all the powers granted are not wisely but firmly used to correct these evils. The power to take the whole direction and control of the election of members of our courts, as an elector for members of congress,

I recommend that such appropriations be made for ocean mail service, in American steamships, between our ports and those of Central and South America. Chins, Japan and the important islands in both of the great oceans, as will be liberally remunerative for the service rendered, and as will encourage the establishment and in some fair degree equalize the chances of American attempting lines in the competitions which help make meet. That the American attacks lying south of us will corduly so-operate in establishing and maintaining such lines of steamships to their principal ports i do not deute.

We should also make provision for a naval reserve to occase of such merchant slips, of American estabriculas and of a specified tonings and speed, as the owners will sometic to place at the meet of the powerment, in case of need, as armed cruisers. England his adopted this policy, and as a result can now, upon necessity, at once place upon the world. As some of the fastess steamships the world. The enlarged participation of our people in the carrying trade, the new and increased markets that will be opened for the products of our farms and factories, and the fuller and better employ-ment of our mechanics, which will result from a liberal promotion of our foreign commerce, insure the widest possible diffusion of benefit to all the states and to all our people. Everything is most propitions for the present inauguration of a lin-eral and progressive policy upon this subject, and we should enter upon it with promptness and de-cision.

The legislation which I have suggested, it is ancerely believed, will promote the peace and honor of our country and the prosperty and se-curity of the people. I invoke the diligent and se-rious attention of congress to the consideration of these and such other measures as may be pre-sented, having the same great end in view.

Scenery for the Passion Play.

The Oberammergau Passion plays are fast becoming modernized. Hermann Burghardt, of Vienna, has received an order to paint the scenery for the new stage, and call bells will be introduced The scenery is taken for the most part from the old masters—"The Last Supfrom the old masters—"The Last Sup-per" of Leonardo, and "The Crucifix-ion," after Raphael, etc. Two drop scenes, which are painted upon wood, are also being prepared, and will be shifted backward and forward by means of rollers. The stage receives all its light from above, being covered by a glass roof.—London Graphic.

The story is told of a German, who took the hands of his check to the maker to have them fixed, because they did not keep proper time. Of course, the clock smaker demanded the works, as in them lay the trouble. Boils and blotches, pimples and other cruptions on the exterior tell of a disordered condition of the blood within. If you have these indications, be wise in time, and take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It puts the liver and kidneys in sood working order, purifies the blood, cleaness the system from all impurities, from whatever cause arising, and tones up the functions generally. "Golden Medical Discovery" checks the frightful inroads of Seretula, and, if taken in time, arrests the march of Consumption of the Lungs (which is Lung-scredula, purifies and enriches the blood, thereby cirring all Skin and Scalp Discover. Sufferers are not generally aware that these obseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the liming membrane of the nose and enstaction tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact and the result is fond a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three slape, applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks.

N. B.—For catarrhal discharges peculiar to females (whites) this remedy is a specific. A paraphlet explaining this new treatment is sent on receipt of ten cents by A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 West King St., Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

and acts like a straw-chopper, which cuts them into single matches. The machine cuts 150 bands at the same time, and a mechanical device pushes them forward the thickness of a match at each stroke of the entter. This little machine with its one sharp knife ean cut over 10,000,000 matches

From the cutting room the splints are taken to the dry room, where they are placed in revolving drums, which absorbs all the moisture the splint may contain. They are then prepared for the dipping process, which is avery important operation, as each splint must have sufficient space to be fully coated and yet not placed so close to the others as to cause the mixture to Let the heads of the other splints. To to the they are placed under an in geniously cons neted machine, which eems to work with almost human intelligence, and are caught up and plac-ed closely but at regular intervals in a dipping frame. These fram's contain forty four movable lathes and between each lathe the machine places with clock-work regularity fifty splints, making over 2,000 splints in each

The heads of the splints are all on he same level and a single attendant at each machine can place over a miion splints in the frames per day. The dipping vat is a stove of masonary, which contains three square pans. The fir t pan is for healing the splints so they will absorb the mixture; the serond contains mo'ten paraffine in which the points are dipped, and in the third they are coated with the igmiting composition. Over 8,000,000 matches can be dipped by a skillful workman in one day. After the dipping process the matches are dried while still in the frames and are then taken to the packing room, where they are put into boxes by hand.—Chicago Mail.

The Silver States.

It is agreed by and between Dakota, Washington and Montana that their representatives in congress shall unite with anybody and everybody to secure the passage of a law which will authorize and compel the secretary of the treasury to coin an unlimited amount of silver dollars. It was expected that they would take silver into heir confidence b cause the metal has a firmer hold on the average citizen of the late territories than the average citizen has on silver. But there are other citizens living in the region of gold mines, and others who eke out a splendid existence on National Bank notes, who are opposed to silver for teasons more plentiful than dollars of The Best and Biggest any kind in the pockets of needy bor-

There are a number of places in the northwest where there are available sites for rivers and harbors but which for a lack of moisture are going into decay. There are countless gorges and canons steep enough to hold the largest ships; they continue for miles and miles; are well protected from cyclones and trade winds and in fact have every advant-age except that of water which never comes except when it rains. There are other streams not so deep nor so wide, which, at times, have too much water and then at other times are so dry that the dust raised by the salmon on a hunt for a drink becomes so thick as to imperil the lives of navigators. Now, as these northwesterners say, why should these rivers and places for rivers go dry and be dry when the government under the 'general welfare clause" in the constitution could make them "roll, Jordan, roll!" and what kind of a government is it anyway that cannot make a few rivers and haroors to encourage the infant industries of new born states ?

What action congress may take in the matter it is a little premature to evident that the politicians of the new states have a firm grasp on the republican idea of a paternal government, and should congress fail to provide them with water enough to fill up their canons, gorges and gullies there will be gicom galore "in the land of the Dakotas, in the land of the wayoffers. - Patriot.
