Iron Street is almost impassable on account of the mud. Several other streets are no better, while Main Street is in a worse condition than this known for years.

The best case of this is the continuous rain; but as long as our Council and Street Commissioner persist in hauling dirt and loose material upon our streets we can not look for better streets. It one-half the money annually spent upon our streets were used in completing a small portion in a proper manner, there would be a vast saving of money. Our town has expended sufficient to have made beautiful streets.

Gift books of every description to suit all ages and tastes at W. H. Brooke & Co.

There are also cradles, baby wagons, furniture, dishes, and a thousand articles from which to select, for boys or girls. Call early before the rush begins, and while the assortment is full. 11-29-90.

J. H. Mercer has the finest lot of cut glass bottles ever brought to Bloomsburg. His large Bohemian hand-made bottles are the only ones of this kind ever brought here. They are now on exhibition at the Drug and Book store.

"Mamma! Gittin' Better." There is gladness in the household; The shadow fades away; That darkened all the sunshine Of many a summer day; "O, mamma's getting better," The happy children cry; And the loving husband's bright eyes, In the light of his wife's smile.

In thousands of homes women are "licked unto death" with the terrible disease so common to their sex, and it would seem as if all the happiness had gone out of life and the household in consequence. For when the wife and mother suffers all the family suffers with her. This ought not to be, and it need not be, for a never-failing remedy for women's ailments is at hand. Many a home has been made happy because the shadows of disease had been banished from it by the potent power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—the unfailing remedy for all weaknesses and diseases peculiar to women.

Mrs. Eliza Shipman died at her residence on West Street last Friday after a brief but painful sickness, at the advanced age of 74 years. As far as known she was the survivor of the family; a sister is supposed to be living, but no one knows her place of residence. Mrs. Shipman had two sons and a daughter, all of whom have long since passed away. Her two sons lived to maturity and were active in the Friendship Fire Co. Much valuable service was done by them. Her only descendant living is that of a grandchild, a child of Lemuel Shipman. Funeral services were held at the Reformed Church Sunday afternoon, and were largely attended. Interment in Rosemont cemetery.

The largest line of Juveniles at Mercers' Drug and Book Store.

On Monday morning when the trial list was called in court it was found that but four cases were for trial. All others were continued or settled. The first case called was that of the heirs of Dr. John Ramsey against C. B. Brockway, to recover a strip of land about ten feet wide, lying between the property of Peter Bragler and C. B. Brockway on Third street in this town. The suit was started against Capt. Brockway in his lifetime. M. G. Hughes bought the property from Mr. Brockway's assignee, and is now the real defendant. Dr. Ramsey sold the property to Jesse Hicks, and it is contended by the plaintiffs that the deceased did not cover the land in court, but that it was left open as an alley for the convenience of Hicks, until an alley should be opened in the rear of the lot, which was subsequently done. Hicks sold to Charles Doehler, and Doehler sold to Brockway, and Brockway fenced in the alley, and it has remained up to this time. The defendant claims that the alley is an easement that belongs to the property, and that it was so agreed at the time of the sale by Dr. Ramsey. C. B. Brockway is attorney for plaintiff, and H. B. Herring for the defense. The case went to the jury and verdict rendered in favor of defendant, Wednesday afternoon.

Persons holding reserve tickets to Revere's lecture on prison life should secure them at once. A word to the wise is sufficient.

The first (November) issue of CHAT was an exceedingly good one. The second, a Christmas number, has just come to us and is better than the first. It is really a really puzzling how so much good reading can be put in one 48-page book, illustrated, and sold at so low a price.

The American Woman's College Papers are continued by Miss Jacqueline S. Epps, of Augusta Seminary, Virginia, who writes most interestingly on Southern Life and Character. C. B. Brockway is attorney for plaintiff, and H. B. Herring for the defense. The case went to the jury and verdict rendered in favor of defendant, Wednesday afternoon.

Death by Drowning. The body of Moses Colborn of Rupert was found floating in the wide water of the Pennsylvania Canal between Rupert and Catawissa Monday morning about 11 o'clock. The conductor of the north bound passenger train at about 11 o'clock notified George Meers, station agent at Rupert, that he had seen a body floating in the Canal. Mr. Meers notified H. D. Quick, section boss of the canal and he with one of his workmen went down and drew the body upon the west bank of the canal. John G. Quick Esq. was notified and immediately the following jury for the purpose of holding an inquest—Wm. Mensch, Francis Leiby, William Leiby, J. W. Yinger, James Quick, and John Wright After viewing the body the jury endeavored to ascertain whether it was a suicidal act or that of foul work. Colborn was last seen about eight o'clock Monday morning. He was tracked from the Keg factory through the sawdust and mud and his footprints led directly to the feeder along the loc., and just opposite the keg factory. It having rained the day previous, there were no other foot prints visible. Further inquiry found that the deceased had left his watch at the hotel, as well as his vest, and artificial arm. According to the evidence ascertain the jury reached a verdict of "death by drowning himself."

Mr. Colborn was about 70 years of age. He lived at Rupert, boarding at the hotel, for the past 25 years. He was a laborer in the keg factory, under the superintendency of J. W. Yinger, at this time. The factory was not working on Monday, and this together with the heavy fog Monday gave him an excellent opportunity to accomplish his act. It is said that on Sunday he was seen walking near the loc, making loose observations. What induced him to commit suicide is a mystery, but he has several times in the past said that he would not trouble any one, and that when he died he would go quick.

He has a brother living in Sacramento, California.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning, under the direction of Est Post G. A. R., in interment in Rosemont cemetery, Bloomsburg.
