

The County Commissioners have appointed, B. F. Zarr as attorney, J. D. Bodine as clerk and Dr. J. C. Ritter as physician for the jail. These are the same appointees as last year.

Persons contemplating sales in the spring should decide upon a date now, and send it to us, which will be printed in our sale calendar, and thus prevent others in the same locality from selecting the same day.

To Farmers and others.—We have a few bobbed, circular wool yarn, corn-shells, also our new fadder cutters and grinders, which we will give bargains in. Call early.

The sale of the real estate of Samuel Nussenger, deceased, in Beaver township will be resumed. The property is sold. U. W. NUSSENGER, Wm. E. YEAGER, Admrs.

Great reductions of prices for remainder of winter seasons at E. Barkley's in ready trimmed hats and bonnets, felt caps, children's plush, velvet and wool caps and fancy fabrics. Bargains will be given in these goods to make room for spring goods.

The regular growth of our job printing department is encouraging. In 1885 the number of jobs done was 600, which was the largest number for any year up to that time. Since then it stands as follows: 1886, 706; 1887, 753; 1888, 900; 1889, 1101. This is the result of good work, low prices, and the best facilities in this section.

Rev. Dr. Frost, who was removed from Bloomsburg by the last Methodist conference to Harrisburg, has evidently the best wishes of his parishioners in the former town. Christmas Day both the Doctor and his family will receive the friends who are present from their Bloomsburg friends.—Mt. Central News.

W. G. Girton kept a record of deaths in Bloomsburg for 1889, and has given us the result as follows: In January there were 10 deaths; in February, 5; in March, 4; in April, 5; in May, 4; in June, 3; in July, 3; in August, 4; in September, 5; in October, 3; in November, 5; in December, 2. Total, 46.

A petition was presented to the court by residents of Greenock township, on December 23, asking for the appointment of a commission to inquire into the necessity of dividing that township into two election districts. The court appointed Samuel Neyhard, H. H. Hulme and John S. Kline, who are to report at February court.

A very small audience, witnessed "The Booby" at the Opera House last Thursday night. Owing to the fact that a report had been put in circulation that it was a poor show. Those who were present were greatly pleased, the play being full of thrilling incidents of the war, and the music made up of excellent casts. It was one of the best that has been here for some time.

Rev. P. A. Hellman who was elected pastor of the Lutheran church of this place on the 29th of December, has accepted the call. He came over Saturday last, preached Sunday morning and evening, and is holding nightly meetings this week—observing the week of prayer. Special services will be held Friday evening, preliminary to the Communion services which will be held Sunday morning Jan 12th at 10 o'clock.

The following letters are held at Bloomsburg, Pa., post-office, and will be sent to the addressee on January 21, 1890. Mr. Samuel Camp, Mr. Samuel Coleman, Mary E. Smith, B. Siler, Frank Scott, Daniel Snyder, Mark Twain, Thomas Van Hook, and Mrs. J. M. Evans.

Persons calling for these letters please say they were advertised Jan. 7, 1889. One cent will be charged on each letter advertised. A. B. CATCHEL, P. M.

Messrs. T. W. Riley, Dr. Geininger, of Centralia, and M. H. Kulp, of Shamokin, together with a number of Milton friends, were banqueted at the Riverside House, Monday evening, as the guests of Messrs. F. M. Kelly, Dr. Miles, William and Manfred Barr. It was a royal occasion, on which the prominent actors did not "play home" although with but few exceptions, all are well known horsemen on our circuit.—Beard.

On Friday last the D. L. W. R. R. Co., procured an injunction restraining the Bloomsburg Belt R. R. Co. from Philadelphia and Reading R. R. Co. from crossing the tracks of the plaintiff at any point between Market street and Fishersburg at Rupert. This will prevent the Belt Line from connecting with the P. & R. until the suit is decided. A motion to continue the injunction will be argued before Judge Kleker on the 21st.

There are now pending three suits concerning railroad grade crossings in Bloomsburg. The double frame house on the northeast corner of the cemetery plot and belonging to the Cemetery Company, was discovered to be on fire about half past seven o'clock Wednesday evening. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective fuse. The Fire Companies immediately rushed to the scene and succeeded in putting out the fire, after the roof and top story were about destroyed. A great deal of the property was saved, among it being a bureau drawer with $100 in money. There was an insurance of $1000.

The Pueblo Chieftain, of Pueblo, Colorado, for January, is a 32 page paper, in a handsome illustrated cover. In it we find the following notice of a former Bloomsburgian: "A man who is eligible for jury duty, by his not having read the papers, may not know who H. F. Sharpless is, but there is not another man or woman or child in the city who does not read his attractive advertisements and to whom his name is not familiar. Mr. Sharpless is located at 509, the real estate headquarters of Santa Fe avenue, where people do not see him constantly to inquire about houses and lots. Mr. Sharpless does a big business, and possesses in a large degree the confidence of the people. No firm enjoys a higher reputation for integrity in business transactions. He can refer to all the banking institutions of the city. He operates largely for eastern clients and eastern capital.

Mr. Sharpless makes the handling of inside property a specialty. He has made a study of and is well informed on the most desirable business properties. He has consummated a large proportion of the most important sales ever made in Pueblo. Mr. Sharpless controls through his clients the best and most desirable properties in the city. It is a well known fact that he enjoys an enviable reputation among the real estate men of our city. Sharpless & Co. treat everybody fairly and may be depended upon as business men."

W. E. Dietterich, merchant of Esby, adopted the ready pay system on the first day of January 1890. Cash buyers will find it to their interest to give him a call.

A. C. Press, Esq., agent of the New England Life Insurance Company of Boston, has our thanks for a handsome calendar for 1890.

After diphtheria, scarlet fever, or pneumonia, Hood's Sarsaparilla will give strength to the system, and expel all poison from the blood.

Mr. E. M. Tawherry of Catawissa, J. B. Yeter of Catawissa and Cyrus Robbins of Fishersburg, are auditing the accounts of the County Commissioners this week. The statement will appear the first week of February.

Mr. E. R. Drinker last week received some oranges grown in the Florida orchard of his son, H. O. Drinker, being the first yield. We were presented with some of them, and found them excellent.

Under the law, opera houses and theatres are obliged to pay a mercantile license of $50 a year. Last year was the first time that this has been enforced in the country town. In Columbia county the Merchants' Appraisers found only one place of amusement, and that was the Bloomsburg Opera House. Millville, Catawissa and Herwick all have opera houses, and if one is obliged to pay this license all should be treated alike.

On Thursday, December 19th, 1889, Dr. William H. Magill, departed this life in the ninety-fifth year of his age at his residence in Danville. From the History of Montour County we clip the following: "William H. Magill, retired physician and surgeon, of Danville, is the oldest physician in this part of the state. He was born in Montgomery county, Penna., March 24th, 1795, son of William and Mary (Dunlap) Magill. His ancestors were among the early settlers of Pennsylvania. At the age of twelve years he entered the Doylestown Academy, in Bucks county, Penna., from there he went to Baltimore, Md., and read medicine with James Smith, M. D., four years and graduated from the Medical University of Baltimore, in 1817. He then attended lectures at Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia until the spring of 1818, when he began the practice of medicine in Danville, opening an office in the same house where he now resides. This house is of brick, erected by his mother in 1841, the family having moved there in the spring of that year. When Dr. Magill began the practice of medicine in Danville was a very small place, and the houses in that vicinity were few. Dr. Magill was a man of more than ordinary ability and skill, and possessed wonderful powers of endurance. He rode on horseback over a large scope of country day and night enduring hardships and surrounding difficulties that doctors of this day could know nothing of. He married May 1, 1828, Miss Mary, daughter of Gen. Dan Montgomery. This union has been blessed with eight children, viz: Daniel Elizabeth, William H., Hannah L., Robert D., Christina M., Mary D. and James D., six of whom lived to be grown. Mrs. Magill died in 1888, she was an energetic Christian and a member of the Presbyterian Church; Dr. Magill was also a member of that church. He was the first burgess of Danville in politics he was a Whig, but since the organization of the Republican party he has been one of its strong supporters. His name will be revered for his professional skill and honor, but for his deeds of Charity and Christian example."

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

On Tuesday morning just before twelve o'clock a man entered the First National Bank, and walking around behind the counter, said that he needed a thousand dollars, and must have it right away. With this remark he drew a revolver from his pocket and aimed it at Cashier Tustin. Dr. Tustin, and his daughter, Miss Mary were sitting at a table when the man entered. Edward Tustin was in the vault sealing up a package of money. As soon as the man made his demand Mr. Tustin arose and faced him, believing that he had a lunatic to deal with. Under this impression he at once concluded that the proper mode of procedure was to engage his visitor in conversation and, if possible, direct him to the vault where the money was, and then the man would be able to get the money and would not have any trouble, and invited him to walk from behind the counter and they would talk about it. Just at this time Mr. Edward Tustin, having heard the conversation and seen the revolver from his position in the vault, the money was started sealing up, and the man saw that the door, which made a little noise, and that the man commenced to back away. Mr. Tustin following him, until he reached the bank door, when he went out, saying as he did so, "Don't you follow me or I'll shoot." He went down Market street to the north, where the money was started in pursuit. At one point William Eyerly of Buckhorn caught the horse, and the bride, and near the M. E. Church C. P. Sloan and Theo. Smith attempted to stop him, but he drew his pistol and ordered them to keep hands off, which they very naturally did, under the circumstances.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

A BOLD ATTEMPT TO ROB THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK. FRUSTRATED BY THE PRESENCE OF MIND OF CASHIER TUSTIN.

On Tuesday morning just before twelve o'clock a man entered the First National Bank, and walking around behind the counter, said that he needed a thousand dollars, and must have it right away. With this remark he drew a revolver from his pocket and aimed it at Cashier Tustin. Dr. Tustin, and his daughter, Miss Mary were sitting at a table when the man entered. Edward Tustin was in the vault sealing up a package of money. As soon as the man made his demand Mr. Tustin arose and faced him, believing that he had a lunatic to deal with. Under this impression he at once concluded that the proper mode of procedure was to engage his visitor in conversation and, if possible, direct him to the vault where the money was, and then the man would be able to get the money and would not have any trouble, and invited him to walk from behind the counter and they would talk about it. Just at this time Mr. Edward Tustin, having heard the conversation and seen the revolver from his position in the vault, the money was started sealing up, and the man saw that the door, which made a little noise, and that the man commenced to back away. Mr. Tustin following him, until he reached the bank door, when he went out, saying as he did so, "Don't you follow me or I'll shoot." He went down Market street to the north, where the money was started in pursuit. At one point William Eyerly of Buckhorn caught the horse, and the bride, and near the M. E. Church C. P. Sloan and Theo. Smith attempted to stop him, but he drew his pistol and ordered them to keep hands off, which they very naturally did, under the circumstances.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court house on the look-out for him.

From the information that has been gathered it is known almost beyond a possibility of doubt, that this bold attempt at robbery was made by a man named Amos Appelman. He was dressed like a cow-boy, with a broad-brimmed light slouch hat, a tin hat, a heavy coat, and sandy moustache. It is said by some that his moustache was dark, but if so it has been colored recently, as its natural shade is red. Appelman was seen in Danville on Tuesday. He bought a ticket at the D. L. & W. depot in Danville for Reading morning for the train for Reading, which left at 10 o'clock. He met H. R. Grimes at Catawissa and inquired the first train to Sunbury. He boarded a freight train for Sunbury at two o'clock, and that is the last that has been heard of at the court