The reading of the vote was demanded to gain time for consultation, and just as the seventh roll call was begun Wilson (W. Va.) moved to take a recess until 11 o'clock the following day. The Chicagoans raised points of order and insist-ed the motion came too late, but Speaker

Reed declared he had recognized Wilson in time. Wilson then demanded the yeas and nays and they were ordered. There was much excitement at this time. It was half-past 4, and the New York men were urging a recess for the purpose, it was rumored, of transferring their strength and that of St. Louis over night to Washington. The yea and may vote showed 138 in favor of and 174 opposed to a recess. "Call the roll," came from the Chicagoans, and the eventh ballot was taken.

Three bundred and cleven votes were cast -154 for Chicago, 112 for New York, 27 for St. Louis and 17 for Washington. Chicago was just two votes short of a majority Mason (III.) dragged Reyburn, the new mem-her from Pennsylvania, forward, and he said e wanted to change his vote and he did so It was expected this would lead to a stam pede to Chicago, but it did not. When the second second the result When the speaker announced the result and a victory for Chicago, the Chicagoans shouted and cheered. The house was in an uproar, and in the midst of it at 6 p. m. ad-journed.

New York, Feb. 25.—There was much regret expressed by citizens of New York when it became known that the house of representatives had voted to have the World's fair located at Chicago. The resuit was attributed by many to political quarrels in this state, and by others to the efforts of the railroads centering at Chicago secure the fair for that place.

Mr. Thomas C. Platt was soon at the Fifth Avenue hotel. He said: "I am very much improduted with the vote at Washington.

VOL. 25, NO. 9

as I had hoped that New York would secure the World's fair. I do not give up hope yet, as there is a possibility of the senate deciding to give the fair to New York, believing as I do that the majority of that body is in favor of New York."

To a statement that it had been generally thought that he opposed the fair being held in New York and that he went to Washington to achieve such a result, he said:

"I venture to say that any such remark as to my visit to Washington came from a Democratic source. My visit was on busi-ness of a commercial nature, but while there less of a commercial nature, but while there is pent some time among the Republican members trying to secure votes for New York, and I know that I got votes that would otherwise have gone to Chicago. It is not true that I have opposed the fair at any time, but, on the contrary, have done all I could to bring it here."

The 1892 Question. Mr. Platt further said he did not think the Republican party feared having the fair here in 1892 because of its being a presiden-tial year, and gave as his reason for so thinking that the two-third amendment to the bill enacted at Albany precluded any possi-ble advantage to any political party. He believed the result at Washington was due to the massing of southern Democratic con gressmen in favor of St. Louis and Chicago

Washinoron, Feb. 20.—The house committee on the library has authorized a favorable report on the bill introduced in the house by Mr. Caldwell, appropriating $25,000 for the erection of a monument to the late President William Henry Harrison, at North Rand O. A report accommander. the late President William Henry Harrison, at North Bend, O. A report accompanying the bill states that the distinguished public services of Mr. Harrison, through a number of the most trying years in the early history of this country, and notably his military achievements, his prominence and ability as a statesman in the capacity of governor of Indian territory, member of congress, state senator and president of the United States, renders a monument necessary as a tribute to renders a monument necessary as a tribute to his memory, and the committee believe that there is no more appropriate place than the locality to which he retired after active service and in which his remains are intered, and the committee recomm passage of the bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Andrew A. Lewis of Christ Street church, Lewisburg, Pa., bas asked the treasury department a curious question, in which the scope of the airen ontract labor law is involved. Interest in the testamentary dispositions of Gotham's great millionaires is considerably discounted by the fact, recalled in legal circles, that about five years ago John Jacob Astor made a deed of gift of his entire es tate, real and personal, to his only son, William W. Astor, reserving only a life annuity of $1,000,000 for himself. It was Mr. Astor's intention at the time to seek the rest and recreation this princely income would afford him, but the business habit was too strong within him. He spent the greater part of his income in real estate investments, made in his sous name. The residue of the estate left after this disposition of his wealth will, it is said, be tequesthed satirely to charita-ble and religious ends.

The deceased was worth probably $200,-000,000.

Catarrh IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla — the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C. Beggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood." -Charles H. Maloney, 113 Biver st., Lowell, Mass. Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
