BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, JUNE 6, 1890. The Supreme Court is now in session at Harrisburg.

The tomb of Lafayette was bandsomely decorated by Americans in Paris on May 30th.

Some republican organs are finding fault because their state chairman, Andrews, is using his official position to secure the nomination of Delamater for governor. What do they suppose Andrews was elected for, any how!

Demogratic State Convention.

The democratic state convention of Pennsylvania, will assemble at the academy of music in the city of Scrauton at 10 o'clock a. m., on Wednesday July 2, 1890, to nominate candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs. The convention will consist of representative delegates chosen under the rules of the party from, the several assembly dist-ricts, one for each 1,000 democratic votes cast at the last preceeding gub-ernatorial election, or for a fraction of 1,000 such votes amounting to 500 or more in the respective representative districts, provided that each represen-tative district shall have at least one

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C. June 2, 1890 Senators Sherman and Allison are at logger heads over the crazy quilt hodge podge known as the McKiuley tariff bill, and Senator Allison is reported to be preparing a speech to be delivered against the bill on the floor of the Senate, should he fail, as now seems probable, to carry his point in the Finance Committee. In the meantime the party leaders seem to have gotten the whip hand of the kickers, certainly so far, as the republicans of the committe are working like Beavers to get through with the bill, and up to date they have made no changes of importance. Some republicans say the bill will be reported in a week, but it is more probable that it will take four weeks to get through, allowing that harmony continues in the committee, which is by no means crtain.

Speaker Reed is getting a good deal of cheap notoriety because he issued an order prohibiting the sale of drinks in the House restaurant. The only effect of the order has been to stop the sale harmless bit of sentiment by exhibiting the flag of the confedercy, was in his glory in this vicinity or D glory in this vicinity on Decoration He was quite numerous but also perfectly harmless. No sensible person does anything but laugh at him.

When Senator Stewart stated on the floor of the Senate that Major Powell, director of the Geological Survey, was at the head of "a lying in hospital for lame ducks", he struck the nail square on the head. The Geological Survey occupies large and luxuriously fitted up quarters here, and no man has ever een able to put his hand upon anything tangible performed by the bureau and it has long been a standing joke that the only work performed by Major Powell and his numerous assis tants was in the nature of lobbying to get fancy appropriations through Coness for them selves. These fellows call themselves scientists, and perhaps they are. They have certainly learned cience of living in style at expense of the Government. An investigation would amount to nothing unless the "pull" which Major Powell has so long and successfully had your factors. and successfully had upon Congress should fail to work.

Assistant Post master General Clarkson, who has of late been passing as the special champion of the anti civil service legon, has disgusted many of them by proving himself to be as great a bug as the civil service law. Mr. Clarkson recently discovered that just as his official life was nearing its close, the postal service on the Pacific cost was needing an official inspection by him, and yesterday, having previously made arrangements with an obliging railroad official for the use of a private car, Mr. Clarkson started on his farewell junket. At Des Moines his family will join this model official who is loing his level best to reduce the Treasury surplus. As soon as Mr. Clarkson gets tired of traveling over the Pacific slope he will return to Washington, and resign. Senator Carlisle is the latest democratic statesmen to give the Farmers some good advice In reply to a letter from a gentleman asking his views of the bill, which has just been reported adversely dy the House Committee on Ways and Means to provide for the establishment of subtreasuries for the storage of agricultural products, Mr. Carlisle says: "The farmers have been taxed so long for the beneft of other ses and have seen so much legislation for the aggrandisement of corpor-ations and scyndicates that their patience is exhausted, and finding it impossible, for the time being at least to abolish the system which has op-pressed and despoiled the greatest industrial interest of the country, they have heretofore denounced as unjust and ruinous, shall be applied to them, or rather a part of them, for no scheme has yet been suggested that will oper-ate alike upon all foreigners. But no evil can be corrected, no wrong can be righted by increasing its magnitude nd extending the scope of its opera-on. There is but one effectual remedy for the evil which undoubtedly exists, and that is to reverse the policy which produced it." Postmaster General Wanamaker is earning the illwill of all the small publishes a paper, to violate the postal laws in sending out copies of that paper. Like Mr. Wansmker, the head of this favored concern was a large contributor to the Reublican campaign fund, which excuseth many things.

A Correct Forecast

It is the opinion of dispassionate political observers that the Democratic chance of defeating the Republicans in the State at the next election depends upon the action of Quay. If Quay shall succeed in enforcing his will in the making of the Republican ticket the resu't will likely be Republican defeat. This view was expressed the other day in an interview with ex-Gov-ernor Cartin in New York, who, when questioned as to the political situation in Pennsylvania, said:

"It looks to me as though Boss Quay would succeed in forcing Delamater on his party."
"And if he does?"

"If he does he would be beaten that's all; that is, if the Democratic party makes a wise nomination. It is my opinion that about the only hope the Democrats have of carrying Penrsylvania is in the stupidity of Republicans and the aggressiveness of Quay."

"Governor, how about the recent attacks upon Mr. Quay's private charact-

The Governor was emphatic in reply "Quay has not answered them. Why does he not answer! No man can afford to be silent under such a stigma." This is unquestionally a correct view of how the political land lays in Pennsylvania at this time. Results depend greatly upon Quay's action. If he is aggressive in the making of the State ticket thousands of Republicans will decline to give it their support. And there is every appearance of his determination to be aggressive.—Bellefonte Watchman.

A State Redeemed

The exposures made by The World some months ago of the corrupt and corrupting character of the Louisana Lottery were intended to defeat the effort of the gambling concern to get its lease of life extended for another quarter of a century.

The news from New Orleans now is that this purpose, so ably and coura-geously supported by Gov. Nicholls, is to be crowned with success. There is a clear majority, though a small one, against the Lottery in each house of the Legislature.

Further than that, an alert and beter minded Legislative Committe has been set to investigate the bribing done by the Lettery people or in their behalf and there is every promise that enough of the iniquity will be exposed to work the pu ification of Louisiana politics through the permanent retirement—to State prison and elsewhere—of a considerable number of hitherto active and influental statesmen and politicians.World.

A New Property of Steam.

SOMETHING THAT MAY ACCOUNT FOR MYS TERIOUS BOILER EXPLOSIONS.

Mr. F. G. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn, addressed a society of engineers recently respecting his discovery of a property of steam which, under some ircumstauces, will cause an instantane ous doubling of boiler pressure without the application of more heat. His claims were demonstrated by a small boiler, were demonstrated by a small boller, in which the pressure was raised to forty pounds, and after being removed from the fire suddenly thrown to eighty pounds. In another experiment the pressure was raised in an instant from of the order has been to stop the safe of drinks over the bar, and to put the proprietor to the trouble of serving liquor to his gnests seated instead of standing, in the good old fashioned way. Sitting at a table to take your whisky is a Boston idea.

The fiery G. A. R. order whose fellings suffered excrugiatingly because the ings suffered excruciatingly because the pressure. It was shown how this operty could be readily removed from he boiler, and the same was demon strated by successful experiments.

The Real Interests of the Farmer-

What can the Government do for the farmers? We should say decidedly that there is not a great deal the Government can do for the farmers, and that it ought to do for any class or occupation. The business of the Government is to maintain peace and order, to protect person and property, and to defend the nation against foreign aggression. There is not much beyond that that lies within the proper scope of Government. But there are two things within the power of the Federal Government that would be of immense benefit to the country as a whole and to the farmers in particular. These two things are the reduction in Federal taxation and the securing of wider markets for our produce. The greater part of the tax-ation imposed by Federal laws never goes near the Treasury. When Mr. McKinley advances the duty on win-dow glass the American mapufacturers meet in Pittsburg and chalk up their prices or they stop their furnaces for prices, or they stop their furnaces for three months in order to bring about a scarcity. Every man who buys American glass pays a tax on it just as truly as though he bought imported glass, but it doesn't go to the Government. It goes to manufacturers, who, on account of the great profits in the business are increasing their plants, according to Quay's and Bayne's friend James Campbell, so rapidly that they cannot get glassblowers enough in this country and have to import them, in violation of law, from Europe. A decrease of Federal taxation that would reduce the revenues $50,000,000, would reduce the burden on the tax payer vastly more it might be $200,000,000, or it might be $800,000,000,and the reduction could be made so that it would be a positive boon to the manafast aring inerests themselves. The other measure is the opening of new markets for our produce. The people of Europe who need cheap American food are keeping up a con stant agitation against the tariffs of their own governments upon our breadstuffs and provisions. These tariffs are maintained by nearly all the nations of continental Europe for protective reasons, for what Republicans call the "American" system, is, as Daniel Web-ster told Henry Clay, an importation from Europe. Some tariff concessions on our part would undoubtedly secure large concessions from France and Germany because our interests are the interests of large portions of the French and German people. But our discrimination against Mexican silverlead ore has already led Mexico to put prohibitory puty on the corn Kansas has been exporting to our sister republic, and the McKinley bill has started movement in France, Holland and food from this country. The interest of the farmer is reduced taxation and increased markets for farm produce, the policy of the McKin-ley bill is increased taxation and reduced markets .- Ez.

IZATION OF DECORATION DAY.

The Grand Army men of Williamsport are opposed to the secularization of Decoration Day, and at a meeting adopted resolutions expressive of their feeling. They say that the practice of descrating a day which has been recognized by universal consent as sacred to the memory of those who died that the nation might live, by the growing practice of devoting the day to sports and pastimes, has a tendency toward creating among the young a sentiment entirely foreign to the spirit which actuated the setting apart of May 30 as sacred to the memory of the fallen soldiers. The matter was discussed by the members of the Memorial Committee, and the resolution was passed unani-

The angler should take care of his fish after he has caught them. It is discreditable to fetch back a lot of sun and wind dried trout, all curled up and stiff. Put a handful of grass or ferns in the bottom of the creel and kill the fish as soon as caught, by hitting them a sharp blow on the back of the head. If the weather is hot, clean the moraing's catch at noon, and every few hours dip the creel in the stream. The best way to keep trout to take home is as follows: Clean them thoroughly, taking care to remove the gills and blood under the back bone, wipe dry inside and out, but do not wash them, sprinkle them inside with black pepper, but on no account use salt. Pack in cool, fresh grass and keep them in the shade. If ice is used it should be put in a tin cau or at least at the bottom of the creel, for it spoils the flavor of trout to have them soaking in

The two latter gentlemen were looking after a large simber tract, which they expect to purchase. They were conveyed from Jamison City to Ganoga Lake by stage where they will remain for a few days.
