BLOOMSBURG, PA

FRIDAY, JUNE 27, 1890. WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) Washington, D. C. June 22, 1890.
What has become of the principle of protection so prominent in the Chicago platform of 1888?

The hardest blow yet received by the Tariff, and the ring, heretofore the sole end has just been delivered by the President. He has had his occasion to be seriously provoked by the manner in which his suggestions were tabled during the present session, by both Houses of Congress.

In fact, the old Republican Ship is at rea, and in a heavy gale of wind. She has drifted amongst dangerous rocks that threaten her with destruction.

The Pilot has ordered "hard a port" and the G. O. P. is now drifting before the wind, directly out of the course that it has pursued "from such a time that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary".

The constitution authorizes and en courages the President to frequently offer advice to Congress. But the tariff and silver questions were so oc-cult, and the introcacies and interests of his political position so great and various that the President chose to refrain from any public expression on the subjects. Nevertheless he managed to have his exact ideas on both questions conveyed to the prominent republican members. But, in spite of that caution, his own party has made the present administration appear ridiculous

When that body of illustrious and conservative statesmen in the Senate flew off on a wild tangent, and depart ing from every sound principle of pol-itical economy passed the silver Bill, the ill-tidings of its action nearly took away Harrison's breath. He ainly deserves forgiveness, blue-blooded Presbyterian though he is, if he made some remarks emphatic enough to bring a blush to the cheeks of Mr.

As the matter no v stands, a few men who own silver mines in the West propose to arrange the whole busin as of the country for their personal benefit. It is natural that they would want a steady market for their product. The bill, which they have just succeed-ed in passing through the Senate, makes the government their regular ous tomer, which is obliged to pay them an exorbitant price for their ore-a price it would not command in the market.

The President has been pricked to heroic measures to recover from the position it has held so long, to Free Trade. But to make the journey easier, as the first stage the President proposes to extend commercial liberty only to countries of the Western-hemis-themselves in an effort to pass the eral election law, that it may become operative before the fall elections. Mr. Lodge has reported the bill, drafted in pursuance of instructions from the republican caucus. The republican members say that they will allow the ocrats about thirty days for debate and filabustering; if they are so inclined; but at the end of that period, considering the urgency of prompt action on their part, discussion will be cut off and the bill passed.

Mischevous Partisans-

We can not commend the taste or temper of the Democratic journals that are trying to introduce an element of enmity in the contest between Mr. Wallace and Mr. Pattison for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Fortunately there are not many of these extreme partisans, but the few there are seem to be doing all they can to array the Democratic party of Penn sylvania in two hostile camps on the Governor question. They carry their personal attachment to their favorites to too great a length. There is no oc-

Nothing could be in worse taste than for a Democratic journal to assume that it opposes Pattison because he is Quay's candidate, or that it objects to Wallace because he is favored by the corporations. Yet we find extremists indulging in this mischievous kind of foolishness. Neither of these charges is true. Mat Quay is far from wanting to see Pattison nominated, and the ing to see Pattison nominated, and the sistently declare the views so boldly corporations expect no favors from wallace. In fact, each of them has his answer to the Minneapolis millers, and the sistently declare the views so boldly asserted in his letter to Congress and his answer to the Minneapolis millers, an element of strength peculiarly his and give even passive assent to the own. Mr. Pattison could draw the new tariff bill of either the House or larger support from the opposite party: the Senate. It must be obvious to all Mr. Wallace could more thoroughly or that the McKinney bill has steadily ganize the party that would nominate him. Which of them would afford the day it was reported to the House, and their knowledge, and to-day believe they greater advantage to the party in a Mr. Blaine evidently sounds the alarm quit drinking of their own free will. No contest with the enemy is the question by his several recent and emphatic to which the convention should address itself, without giving consideration to He states the exact truth when he any other object than success.— says that it "will wreck the Republican party,"—Times.

Politics In The State

EX-AUDITOR GENERAL TEMPLE BELIEVES WALLACE WILL PR NOMINATED.

Ex-Auditor General Temple, who is one of the delegates from Greene County to the Democratic State Convention, being asked his opinion as to the relative merits of the candidates for the Democratic properties for for the Democratic nomination for Governor said: "Democratic Greene is for William A. Wallace for Governor. First, because her Democrats favor straight Democracy; second, because they want a statesman to fill the executive chair; finally, because they believe that Wallace has a positive strength, both as an organizer and as a representative of the conservative bus-iness interest of the State, which would add greatly to the Democratic poll in

"I have noticed that it is claimed that Patison would get a great many Republican votes. This talk comes from a class of Republicans who try to force Quay to drop Delamater in the Republican State Convention. After Republican State Convention. After that convention shall have been held, there will be little of that sort of thing left. Democrats will find themselves deceived if they permit themselves to be governed by that kind of influence in making their nomination. On the other hand, Wallace's strength is solid and lasting. The more his record is examined the brighter it will shine. A man of national reit will shine. A man of national re-putation. When he was in the United States Senate he was made the active leader of the party in that body at the suggestion of men like Allen G. Thurman, Thomas F. Bayard and James B. Beck. He has given the best years of his life to the service of his party. It will not do to turn down such a man in order that some personal preference may be subjected.

"I have traveled over the State a good deal and I believe that Wallace will be nominated."

Milk Without Ice.

HOW IT MAY BE KEPT SWEET ALL DAY IN MIDSUMMER.

The following description by a physician of his method of keeping milk sweet all day in hot weather without ice is reproduced from the Baltimore

"The method is this: The milk when bought is at once put into ten or twelve bottles—yeast bottles are good enough—one bottle for each nursing. As much water as is desired is added, say one sixth or one-quarter the amount of the milk. The bottles, ought not to be quite full, are then corked tightly with a wad of raw cotton two or three inches long. The bottles are next placed, five or six at a time, in a pan of water, which is heated to boiling for at least half an hour. The bottles are then put in the shade, still corked with the cotton, and when the baby wants to nurse one of the bottles is unstopped and the nipple is out on as usual.

"One of my patients keeps milk fresh all day in this way, putting it into a cupboard in the yard without any ice, and the milk agrees nicely with her baby. My belief is that the introduction of this method will save hundreds Congress through the medium of the Secretary of State, is very long and with it was transmitted a report of the Pan-American Congress, recommending treaties of reciprocity with Ameri. Children who are fed all summer in America "would leap to the opening of this way, if they take nothing but this new and profitable markets for the milk and water which has been well products of which we have so large a boiled, are likely to go all summer boiled, are likely to go all summer without any disease of the stomach or bowels."

Blame's Significant Utterances.

No careful observer of events can age over the United States, in commerce; but it was recommended that the portant utterances made by Secretary ports be left absolutely free to all Blaine on Friday last. The whole American countries with which treaties on reciprocity with the American Republic, and of his reply to the Millers' Convention at Minneapolis, antago nized the whole theory of the McKin ley tariff bill, and it should arrest the final passage of the measure.

The McKinley tariff bill, as well as the amended Senate bill, directly an-tagonizes Mr. Blaine's policy of reciprocity, and the singular spectacle is presented of a caucus measure being driven through Congress under the party whip, while the Premier of the administration is publicly protesting against its leading features. But the most pointed rebuke given to the high war tax champions was administered by Mr. Blaine before the Senate committee on the same day, where he ap-peared to urge an enlarged appropria-tion for the Pan-American Congress The tariff was incidentally discussed during Mr. Blatne's presence, and the New York Herald reports him as making the following pungent utter-ance about the McKinley bill:

It is the most dangerous, if not the most infamous, measure that was ever concocted by any rarly. The men who vote for this bill will wreck the Republican party. If I were in the Senate I would rather have my right casion whatever for the introduction of arm torn out of its socket than vote for

> It is simply logical that Mr. Blaine should express himself in the fore-going terms about the McKinney bill. His two public deliverances made on the same day, one of which was an of-ficial letter to Congress transmitted by the President without dissent, are utterly wrong if the McKinley tariff bill is right; and Mr. Blaine could not con

Delamater Nominated

The Secrets of Success.

(From The Lyons (N. Y.) Republican.) In 1879 Mr. H O. Filer, of this village, became possessed of a formula for the compounding of a medicine for horses and cattle which had been in horses and cattle which had been in his family for nearly a century, having been originated by his great grandfath-er, a chemist in England. During these hundred years the remedy has been continually improved by experi-ment and experience until in 1847, when it was brought to this country, it was known to all stockmen in England as without equal for the cure of various diseases of horses and cattle and for the keeping of the same in fine condi-tion. During the early years of its ex-istance it was sold at four shilling the pound ($1). When it came into Mr. Filer's possession in 1879 he conceived the idea of putting it up in one full pound package which should sell at the price within the reach of all. He gave it the name People's Horse and Cattle powders, a name which has since be ome a synonym for excelence and pur-

The business, starting in a small way, has rapidly extended under Mr. Filer's management, until it now reach-es every State and Territory and takes in Australia and South America. At the beginning of the present year the buiness was converted into a stock company, and is now being carri-ed on by the Joppa Manufacturing Company.

The success of this remedy has bee due to its recognized excellence and to the scrupulous care which has been taken to use only the best of chemically pure materials. Everything passes a most thorough test, and when the ingredients go into the well-known red label package and receive the seal of the company they are accepted at once as just what they are represented to be. Purity has been insisted upon at every stage of the manufacture, and this is undoubtedly the great secret of the success of the goods, especially as of late years there are great numbers of the light weight powders, concocked of cheap and worthless materials which are put on the market in competition with People's Powders.

6,000,000 Letters Yearly Fall to Reach Their Do Justion.

The number of lost letters reported to the post-office department at Washington ast year, was very large, and some facts regarding these stray missives may be of general interest. There were received at he dead letter office at Washington nearly 6,000,000 missives, which, for one reason or another, failed to find their addresses Of these, 10,700 were not addressed at all: 18;000 contained money, amounting in all to $35,000; and there were inclosures of checks, drafts, etc., to the amount of $1,-600,000 in 22,000 letters. Of course in such in immense correspondence as is done in the United States, mistakes are invetiable but one would hardly expect that every half hour of the day and night a letter would be dropped in the post-office with no address whatever. The amount of money which found its way to the dead letter office instead of to the persons to whom it was due, indicates a singular care essness in financial matters. It ought to be possible to trace the ownerships of the checks and drafts, but much of the money loubtiess will go into the national treasury because of the insbility of the officials to find the owners. There is a lesson in these facts and figures, of interest to all, for the Illiterate are far from being the only ones to misdirect correspondence.
