All kinds of school supplies at Mercer's A large audience greeted Mr. Frank Mayo on his first appearance in our city last evening. We had never seen the play before, and we may now say we have rarely been better pleased or entertained than by the faultless presentation. Mr. Mayo links so completely his own identity in the noble character of "Crockett" that one becomes unconscious of the surroundings, and is impressed with the reality of of the scene and persons. Nothing more natural, graceful, and freer from gush or rant have we ever seen on the stage than Mayo's "Crockett;" and, indeed we may say that so faithful a portraiture of a chivalrous, pure, and noble character is equal to a sermon .- Smannah (Ga.) KILLED BY THE CARS.

SUICIDE OF FRANKLIN P. KLINE. On Tuesday noon as the Bloomsburg & Sullivan train came around the curve at the rocks at the bridge, it is over a man. He was seen by a little boy at Mr. Stiner's house near the bridge, sitting up on the rocks above the track for a couple of hours. As the train came in sight the man started down toward the track, and the boy called to him saying that the train was coming This attracted the attention of Mrs. Sarah Stiner who came out on the porch and saw the man walking between the tracks and the rocks, and she called to him that the train was coming and he would get squeezed. He looked back at her and then as the train appeared around the curve he dropped on his knees and threw himself across the inside rail, in front of the engine. Mrs. Saran Stiner and Mrs. Mary Stiner both saw his movements, and saw the engine strike him. The whole train passed over his body literally custing him from twenty to thirty thousand distinct in two, and severing his left arm. The engineer of the train was Philip Zeigler, the fireman was William Geise, and the conductor, J. W. Scott. None of them phenomenally brilliant minds if they can but the fireman saw the man, and he not until it was too late to stop the cars. Many of the passengers noticed the jar as the wheels passed over the body. The train was stopped, and the passengers and trainmen went back to the mangled remains, but no one recognized the deceased. He was well dressed in dark clothes, had on new shoes, and a black derby hat lay near. Thos. W. Conner of Orangeville was left sent a messenger for Esquire Jacoby, who Joseph Sharpless, G. W. Sterner, J. C. Brown, Dr. T. O. Harter, William Hartzel Price 50c and $1. and G. G. Baker. They went down to the track and viewed the body before it was removed, and then it was taken to the undertaking rooms of Baker and McBride. and placed in an ice box. None of the jarors recognized the deceased. His face was black and his eyes protruded, and he was so disfigured that even when a postal card was found in his pocket addressed to Franklin P. Kline, they did not identify him. His name was also found on a piece of paper in his hat, but no one suspected who he was, though hundreds saw him as he lay there. He was finally identified by Frank Wilson, by his hat, his stockings and clothes, and the filling in his teeth. The terrible news was gently broken to Mrs. Kline, who is prostrated by the blow. A hearing was held by Guy Jacoby Esq. acting as coroner, at his office at 2 p. m. and after hearing the testimony of the two Mrs. Stiners, a verdict was rendered that the deceased came to his death by throwing himself before the cars of the B. & S there seems but little hope that the operations over the canal will continue many years longer. For some years past the only part of the canal, with trifling exceptions, which has produced any net earnget arrears. ings, or has earned the cost of its annual maintenance, has been what is called "the no longer travels eastward from the sun, main line," extending from Nanticoke to Columbia, a distance of 144 miles, which has continued to transport such coal as could not, from time to time, find car or other facilities by railroad, and, the increasing facilities and diminishing rates of the several railroad lines, there seems little probability of any increase in the canal tonnage. In 1889 many of the divisions were, to a great extent, destroyed by the unprecedented freshets of that date. The Juniata division from Newton Hamilton miles, was entirely destroyed. The Wea Branch division was destroyed to a considerable extent throughout, and west of the Lovalsock, was mostly obliterated. The Western division was destroyed, in the Eastern division damage was also done, but restored at a cost of $35,294 52. The West Branch division was also restored at a cost of $72,846.61, as far west as Muncy On the 30th, he sets at 0 h. 20 m. a. m. Dam, but all the portion west of Loyalsock has been abandoned. The company favors the abandoning and selling of al

the canal but the main line. But, even if these parts of the canal, which can no longer earn their cost of maintenance should be abandoned and sold, there is a present a new and serious obstacle to real izing net earnings, even on the main line. This is due to a sudden advance made during the past year in its tolls on anthre cite destined for tidewater by the Susque banca Canal company, which is, in effect, prohibitory. This has induced the Susquebanna Coal company, which is substantially the only remaining anthracite canal shipper, to make new arrangement for all the rail transportation of its whol product, so far as destined for tidewater, which will probably curtail considerably the canal shipments to tidewater in future, even if practicable tolls should be agreed on.

In their report the company says that all the available money and credit have been exhausted in the repairs of the East ern and lower West Branch divisions and the lower part of the Juniata division. It has been found impossible to borrow any considerable funds in view of the heavy mortgage liens now existing on the proper. ty, the annual interest on which largely exceeded the earning capacity of the com-Venus on the 2nd at 4 h. a. m., being 20 6 pany, even before the damage of this year, and it will be impossible to complete the repairs, until more funds or increase carnings can be procured or made avail

"Several years ago I was severely ill.
The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day,"—James Birchard, Darien, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to bave a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B.
