

THE COLUMBIAN AND DEMOCRAT, BLOOMSBURG, COLUMBIA COUNTY, PA.

The Columbian

Published every Friday. Subscription price, $1.00 per year. Entered at the Post Office at Bloomsburg, Pa., as second class matter, March 1, 1883.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1890.

CORRECT RAILROAD TIME TABLE.

Trains on the P. & R. R. leave Rupert as follows:

MORNING. SOUTHERN. 7:30 a.m. 10:30 a.m.

10:30 a.m. 12:30 p.m. 3:30 p.m.

12:30 p.m. 2:30 p.m. 5:30 p.m.

2:30 p.m. 4:30 p.m. 7:30 p.m.

TRINITY THE L. & W. D. RAILWAY PASS BLOOMSBURG AS FOLLOWS:

MORNING. SOUTHERN. 7:30 a.m. 10:30 p.m.

10:30 a.m. 12:30 p.m. 3:30 p.m.

12:30 p.m. 2:30 p.m. 5:30 p.m.

2:30 p.m. 4:30 p.m. 7:30 p.m.

BLOOMSBURG & SULLIVAN RAILROAD Taking effect MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1890.

SOUTH. NORTH.

STATION. AT. AT. LV. LV. LV.

BLOOMSBURG... 6:28 11:45 7:30 8:30 9:30 10:30

Main Street... 6:15 11:45 7:30 8:30 9:30 10:30

Pine Hill... 6:05 11:30 7:30 8:30 9:30 10:30

Lake... 5:30 11:30 7:30 8:30 9:30 10:30

Orangeville... 5:45 11:15 7:30 8:30 9:30 10:30

Forks... 5:45 11:15 7:30 8:30 9:30 10:30

Easton... 5:45 11:15 7:30 8:30 9:30 10:30

Sullivan... 5:37 11:05 7:30 8:30 9:30 10:30

Huntington... 5:30 10:45 7:30 8:30 9:30 10:30

Central... 5:05 10:30 7:30 8:30 9:30 10:30

Jamison City... 4:45 10:15 7:30 8:30 9:30 10:30

LV. LV. LV. AT. AT. AT.

A. M. A. M. A. M. P. M. P. M.

SALES.

SALE, Nov. 1.—E. H. Little will sell at his farm near Light Street, Columbia City, Pa., on Saturday evening, Nov. 1, 1890, at 10 o'clock, a fine collection of live stock, consisting of six of his Grade Holstein Friesian cows and heifers, and such of his full blooded Holstein Friesian bulls and calves as are under two years old. The sale will be held at the Hotel Bull. Sad cattle will be sold without reserve, this being an attempt to inaugurate annual stock sales at said farm. Terms six months credit with approved security. At the homestead of deceased, at 10 o'clock, a.m.

NOV. 10.—Issachar Robbins will sell 25 young cows and heifers, 2 bulls, 3 horses, at John Deily's below Bloom, at 1 o'clock p. m. Will probably be sold if they do not bring half price. They are of the best breeds. Terms six months with interest, or 2 per cent. off for cash.

NOV. 12.—William S. Kase, executor of Peter Kase will sell valuable real estate on the premises in Benton Township.

FOR SALE—Dwelling house in Bloomsburg, Orangeville, Eddy and Robert Farms, and Farms, and Virginia.

Vacant lots in Bloomsburg. Store properties, Grist mills and other property by M. P. Lutz, Insurance and Real Estate Agent, Bloomsburg, Pa.

For Sale, house and lot in Rupert, lot 130 140 ft. Two story, house with nine rooms, Bay windows, out kitchen, ice and coal house, good stable, chicken and pig pen. Choice fruit, evergreen trees, lawn, fence, two railroads, two trains a day each way, to Bloomsburg, fare 25 cent trip. Low taxes. A great bargain, if taken soon.

M. P. Lutz, Insurance & Real Est. Agt.

Personal.

W. Clark Sloan, and W. J. Barry of Philadelphia spend Sunday in town.

The first snow of the season in this section fell on Tuesday.

Mrs. D. Pagan of Owenton, Kentucky, grand-daughter of Judge Elwell, is visiting relatives here.

Miss Ella Fox has been quite seriously ill with a fever, in Philadelphia. Late reports say she is improving slowly.

The Berwick Borough Council is advertising for electric light.

The office of Clerk of the Courts in Schuylkill county pays over $7000 a year.

The new gasoline street lamps are working well thus far and give a good light. It remains to see how they hold out.

Catfish indicates impure blood, and to cure it, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood. Sold by all druggists.

Now the merchants should commence their holiday advertising. Christmas will soon be here.

The report of the Madison township Sunday school convention, and the proceedings of the Reform convention are crowded out this week. They will appear in next issue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Funston have made many additions and improvements in their home on Rock street at Mrs. A. A. Butler's.

Judge M. G. Hughes of Catawissa, spends much of his time in his elegant bachelor quarters. He is variously engaged in business matters.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Mr. Arthur A. Clark and Miss Jessie Evans, at St. Paul's church on November 15, at 12 o'clock.

The steeple on the new Presbyterian church is stately in appearance, and beautiful in its proportions. It can be seen from any point in town.

Henry Shepherd, the chef at Phillips' Cafe, is at his post again. The delicious odor of cooking makes one hungry in passing. Tickets for twenty-one meals can be procured by regular boarders for $3.50.

The Ku-Klux is abroad. One night last week there was hung on the Court House fence a mud containing skulls and cross bones, and these words, "To the Council, Give us better light."

The remaining stock in the store recently owned by Stephen Baily at Catawissa, was sold at public sale by Geo. E. Ewell, trustee, last week Thursday to Watson & Co. of Philadelphia for $1000.

Tickets for the balance of the Course of Lectures can be obtained at Denler's for $1.50. Do not fail to attend the illustrated lectures of W. M. R. French at Opera House Nov. 19.

William C. Johnston, Register and Recorder of Montour county, had a slight attack of heart failure last week Monday, in his office at the court house in Danville. He was taken to his home when he soon recovered.

It was once supposed that seafarers could not be traduced from the system, but the marvellous results produced by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla disprove this theory. The reason, the medicine is the most powerful blood-purifier ever discovered.

As a master protection committee of citizens ought to be organized to prosecute the foul-mouthed and unscrupulous who take exception in our values and protest language when we tell them we are keeping distance. That is the kind of protection we believe in.

J. E. Elcholtz, one of the editors of the Sunbury Democrat, has just returned home from an extended western trip, including Denver.

DR. A. P. HELLER.

Through the kindness of a friend we have been furnished the following sketch of the late Dr. A. P. Heller.

Dr. A. P. Heller was born in Hemlock Township, April 9, 1829, the only son of James and Hannah Heller. His parents moved to Shinn Street, Now East Millville, in 1839. When along in his teens he worked for a teacher, school during the winter and continued to work on the farm in the summer, till 1852 when at the age of 23 he commenced the study of medicine under Dr. P. John and graduated 22d Feb. 1864.

He commenced the practice of his profession at Unionville, Carlton County, Pa. On Nov. 28, 1854, he married Susan W. Eves, daughter of Benjamin Eves. They lived at Unionville till the spring of 1857, when they moved back to Millville where he practiced medicine as the successor of his preceptor, Dr. P. John. Dr. Heller in company with C. W. Eves engaged for a few years in the mercantile and lumber business, under the firm name of Eves & Heller. After the Doctor bought the David Eves farm at Millville and moved upon it, the firm of Eves & Heller was dissolved. Since then the Doctor has lived upon his farm improving his buildings and its fertility, and practicing his profession.

On the first of May, 1857, while attending a patient he had occasion to go into the barn yard, he was gored by a vicious boar; he did not think of being seriously hurt and made several other visits the same day and attended the meeting of the Society of Good Intent in the evening. The day following his condition from the hurt became alarmingly serious. His greater and then much worse so that the medical attendants pronounced his case incurable and that he could live but a few days. His family and friends sorrowed without hope but his days of usefulness were not finished. He began to recover. H. S. Christian having at that time just graduated with the highest honor of his class returned to Millville and entered into partnership with Dr. Heller in the practice of Medicine. Mr. Heller's health continued to improve and about the middle of May he was walked out doors for the first time since Feb. 1st. He soon was able to resume the practice of his profession much to the gratification of his family and friends. He actively continued his practices and was on his way to visit his daughter-in-law who was seriously ill, when he died.

Dr. Heller was a useful man and the community has been greatly blessed by his life. He could be counted in for any undertaking having for its object the goal of the community. He served his township as school director, was a Trustee of the Greenwood Seminary Co., an active member of the Friends' Monthly Meeting's Educational Committee, Vice President and Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Millville and a Vice President of the Columbia County Agricultural Society at the time of his death. He was an active Republican and a constant member of the Religious Society of his choice.

In reviewing his life we find much to admire. As a husband and father he was devoted and true, as a friend and neighbor may well testify to his frankness, his geniality and his liberality and friendliness, as trustee, a committee-man or an officer he was always faithfully active in the discharge of the duties devolving upon him, as physician he was calm, careful and yet withal, contains valuable lessons for every one.

Season tickets for the remainder of the course can be had at Denler's for $1.50. Tickets for any one lecture will cost 75c.

There are yet four entertainments to be given as follows:

W. M. R. French, Nov. 19; John R. Clarke, Dec. 5; Louis Glaz Club, Jan. 9; R. J. Burdette, Feb. 6th.

The best seats are not all taken and those who purchase course tickets now, can secure very desirable seats by having them marked before Nov. 19.

Closing the Campaign.

Last week Thursday a large delegation of democrats went to Catawissa on the P. & R. at 8:35 p. m. to attend the club meeting there. There were over one hundred members of the Bloom Band. This crowd of veterans was unexpected to the Catawissa democrats and evidently pleased them. The Catawissa Band was also on hand, and the procession marched to the hall where eloquent addresses were made by Grant H. Irving, John W. Gorman of Nanticoke, and Fred T. Keeler. Dr. J. C. Robbins presided. The ball was packed and there was much enthusiasm.

In the procession was a banner with the words "Our next Governor," and on the other side "For the Union on the right."

This was carried by G. F. Harder, a life long republican. The Bloom party came home by the midnight train, and made the town a great convenience for both the callers and the inmates of our large building.

The ball was packed and there was much enthusiasm.

At the conclusion of the meeting for the Republicans at half seven that morning, the small triangle was worked up and then the next one taken up in the same way and so on until the atlas sheet is finished.

These triangles are then divided into atlas sheets of 15' square (Lat. and Long.) and polygonal projection (allowing for the curvature of the earth's surface) are constructed for each of these sheets and the primary points are plotted upon them and the plane-table can then substitute the theodolite. This is called the graphic method. With the plane-table a great many points are determined at shorter range until a complete network of triangles is thrown over the sheet, and at each located point vertical angles are taken to determine the elevations and these different systems of angles are connected with a line of levels run from the mean level of the sea at Port Amboy. When this is done it is called the control, or skeleton map and the detail work begins. Filling in the detail is largely a matter of common surveying. One small triangle is taken up at a time, the roads are traversed and many prominent points are cut in, from these traverse lines and the topography is sketched in between the located points. Vertical angles for elevations are carried along the traverse lines and the intermediate points in the sketch are determined by stereoscopic barometers and in this way the great triangle is worked up and then the next one taken up in the same way and so on until the atlas sheet is finished.

The bringing in of these books by the societies, does in no way deprive them of ownership. The books are theirs, but are now placed where all students may be grieved to see them.

On Thursday, Oct. 31, 1890 at 5 o'clock a. m., he left his home to drive to Bloomsburg. On his way down the king bolt of his buggy broke. He was thrown from the buggy into the muddy street at Everts grove, his horse ran down to T. C. Weller's son's front wheel of the buggy. The Doctor called Jacob Weller to get the use of his telephone to have his son Frank bring another horse and buggy. Frank got the message immediately and in great haste supplied the Doctor with another horse and buggy with which he proceeded to Bloomsburg time for the Republicans' meeting at half seven that morning. During the meeting he occupied a chair on the stage. After the adjournment of the meeting he rode with Rev. D. J. Waller to the door to see the departure of the train. They drove back to the store of I. W. Hartman & Sons. The Dr. got out and went into the store to buy a pair of gloves as a birth day present for his granddaughter Margaret Viola. He sat upon a stool paid for it in his pocket. Mr. E. L. Caldwell and Samuel Purse, both of the class of '89, are taking Manual Training on Saturday.

They visited the work-shop and at once

saw what wanted somethng that work.

Indeed the more one sees of the nature of the work, and the zeal with which the great body of students enter into it, the more we wonder that our educational eyes were so long held to the direct benefits of this new branch of education.

One of the latest and most popular moves "in the hill," is the centering of all the libraries in one room. The Reading Room has been handsomely shewed, and the School library placed therein.

The Philo Society, acting in the same line, on last Saturday, brought their entire library, consisting of several hundred volumes of choice books into the library, and the Caliph's society, it is expected, will do likewise.

The bringing in of these books by the societies, does in no way deprive them of ownership. The books are theirs, but are now placed where all students may be grieved to see them.

On Thursday, Oct. 31, 1890 at 5 o'clock a. m., he left his home to drive to Bloomsburg. On his way down the king bolt of his buggy broke. He was thrown from the buggy into the muddy street at Everts grove, his horse ran down to T. C. Weller's son's front wheel of the buggy. The Doctor called Jacob Weller to get the use of his telephone to have his son Frank bring another horse and buggy. Frank got the message immediately and in great haste supplied the Doctor with another horse and buggy with which he proceeded to Bloomsburg time for the Republicans' meeting at half seven that morning. During the meeting he occupied a chair on the stage. After the adjournment of the meeting he rode with Rev. D. J. Waller to the door to see the departure of the train. They drove back to the store of I. W. Hartman & Sons. The Dr. got out and went into the store to buy a pair of gloves as a birth day present for his granddaughter Margaret Viola. He sat upon a stool paid for it in his pocket. Mr. E. L. Caldwell and Samuel Purse, both of the class of '89, are taking Manual Training on Saturday.

They visited the work-shop and at once

saw what wanted somethng that work.

Indeed the more one sees of the nature of the work, and the zeal with which the great body of students enter into it, the more we wonder that our educational eyes were so long held to the direct benefits of this new branch of education.

One of the latest and most popular moves "in the hill," is the centering of all the libraries in one room. The Reading Room has been handsomely shewed, and the School library placed therein.

The Philo Society, acting in the same line, on last Saturday, brought their entire library, consisting of several hundred volumes of choice books into the library, and the Caliph's society, it is expected, will do likewise.

The bringing in of these books by the societies, does in no way deprive them of ownership. The books are theirs, but are now placed where all students may be grieved to see them.

On Thursday, Oct. 31, 1890 at 5 o'clock a. m., he left his home to drive to Bloomsburg. On his way down the king bolt of his buggy broke. He was thrown from the buggy into the muddy street at Everts grove, his horse ran down to T. C. Weller's son's front wheel of the buggy. The Doctor called Jacob Weller to get the use of his telephone to have his son Frank bring another horse and buggy. Frank got the message immediately and in great haste supplied the Doctor with another horse and buggy with which he proceeded to Bloomsburg time for the Republicans' meeting at half seven that morning. During the meeting he occupied a chair on the stage. After the adjournment of the meeting he rode with Rev. D. J. Waller to the door to see the departure of the train. They drove back to the store of I. W. Hartman & Sons. The Dr. got out and went into the store to buy a pair of gloves as a birth day present for his granddaughter Margaret Viola. He sat upon a stool paid for