

The Columbian

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1890.

Some other year Delamater will be looking for his vindication.

Quay has gone to Florida on a fishing excursion.

In issuing his Thanksgiving proclamation, President Harrison forgot to mention the blessings of the recent elections.

Who killed the Republican party? 'I, said McKinley, with my little tariff bill, I killed the party.'

Mortimer F. Elliot of Wellboro is said to be seriously ill, the result of exposure and over-exertion during the campaign.

Dick Quay, son of Senator M. S. Quay, was elected to the legislature in Beaver county by a majority of 116 when it would ordinarily have been 1500.

It is astonishing how harmonious the Republican organs are nowadays. They want peace, and they are beseeching the Independents, whom they have been calling all sorts of names for several weeks, to come back into the party and "pull together for 1892."

It is probable that the United States Senate will be controlled by the Democrats in two years more. 'Democrat' will be chosen this winter to succeed Everts of New York, Farwell of Illinois, Spooner of Wisconsin, and Ingalls of Kansas, which will reduce the present Republican majority to six.

WASHINGTON LETTER

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Senator Quay has by unanimous consent been selected as the republican nominee for the presidency, and there exists the best of reasons for believing that he will be asked to retire, not only from the chairmanship of the republican National committee, but to resign his membership. It would have been done before now, but that the question of what to do with J. S. Clarkson has not been decided. Clarkson is Vice-chairman of the committee and has always been a humble tool of Quay's, and there is a feeling among influential republicans against his being made chairman of the committee, as he would naturally expect, when Quay retires. As soon as a satisfactory solution of that difficulty is reached Mr. Quay will receive what the boys call the "kick," and he is now in Florida, and Clarkson is also down South somewhere. They both thought it a good time for disappearing for awhile.

Mr. Harrison is having a terrible time over the Force bill. Mr. Blaine whose predictions about the tariff bill have materialized so soon, and a few other prominent republicans are trying to persuade him to let the Force bill alone in his message to Congress, which he is now preparing, and the radical element in his party which embraces nine-tenths of its recognized leaders, are urging him to insist upon the immediate passage by the Senate of the bill. Mr. Harrison is very badly frightened at the tornado of popular disapprobation that struck his administration and party on election day, and would most willingly take Mr. Blaine's advice, but for the fact that he had committed himself in favor of the Force bill last summer.

Senator Blackburn has made public a scene which took place in a Senate committee room last summer where he was the only democrat present, and where Mr. Blaine stated in the plainest language that if the McKinley bill, which was then before the Senate committee, was passed it would ruin the republican party and prevent its electing the President in 1892. He became so excited during his denunciation of the measure that he smashed a new silk hat which was lying before him on a table. Mr. Blaine has not changed his mind.

It will be many a day before the democrats get through endorsing over the recent election. Every tariff brings in prominent demagogue, and every arrival means a fresh jubilee. The local democrats fired a salute of 52 guns Friday night, although Col. Plafie, in charge of public buildings and grounds did his best to prevent it by refusing to give them a permit to fire them in the same places that the republicans were granted a similar permit two years ago, but that didn't prevent it; nothing could. The guns were fired and close enough to the White House under Mr. Harrison to enjoy the music.

Under this administration Federal employes are slaves. An estimable lady clerk in the Washington City Post-office is now under suspension, because she requested a jovial remark of a fellow clerk to Dick Quay, a son of the Senator. Dick presented an order for the Senators mail at the general delivery window and the lady went back in the office and inquired where the Senators mail was. 'Oh, the lady's mail has gone to the dead letter office,' said one of the clerks laughingly. The lady walked back to the window and thoughtlessly repeated the remarks to Dick, who, by the way, she did not know. He went to the Post-office department and reported the lady as having insulted him and his father, and an order was issued to the City Post-master for her immediate suspension.

Mr. Wannamaker has not made a popular official, but now that reports of the pending failure of his big Philadelphia firm are circulated, a great deal of sympathy is expressed here for him, and it is hoped that the claims of a friend—who is not here—that the rumor originated by Jay Gould for the purpose of injuring Mr. Wannamaker's credit, is one of his post-mortem in behalf of a well-to-do job system, to which Mr. G. will be opposed, may prove to be true. It is not often that the leaders of a political party have to complain because they are given too much by the voters of the country, but that's about the condition of the democratic leaders. They fully appreciate the emphatic endorsement of the principles of the party given by the people, but they would have anticipated far less trouble had their majority been about a hundred less in the next House—it is now so large that it actually causes anxiety.

The feeling that the short session of Congress will, in its anxiety to pass political legislation neglect to pass all of the regular appropriation bills, and thus make an extra session of the Fifty-second Congress, in the spring, necessary, to provide for the needs of the Government, has precipitated the campaign for the speakership and the other officers of the next House.

Congressional Returns.

The returns for the 7th Congressional District, met at Sunbury on Tuesday last. D. R. Coffman represented Columbia county. The vote was as follows:

Table with columns: Dem., Rep., Total. Names: Northumberland, Berks, Lancaster, York, Adams, Dauphin, Schuylkill, Lehigh, Luzerne, Sullivan, Wyoming, Chester, Delaware, Kent, Franklin, Lancaster, York, Adams, Dauphin, Schuylkill, Lehigh, Luzerne, Sullivan, Wyoming, Chester, Delaware, Kent, Franklin.

PATTISON'S MAJORITY GROWING.

THE NOW HAS A PLURALITY OF OVER SEVENTEEN THOUSAND.

Some slight changes in the returns, resulting from the official count in such counties as have been completed, bring the plurality of Governor-elect Pattison up to 17,322. The Associated Press returns give Water, for Lieutenant Governor, 18,675 plurality, and Stewart, for Secretary of Internal Affairs, 19,120 plurality.

The official returns so far received show the election to the State Senate of 10 Republicans and 16 Democrats. In the lower branch of the Legislature there will be 122 Republicans, 80 Democrats and 3 Fusionists, making a Republican majority of 60 on joint ballot, a Republican joint ballot loss of 52 as compared with the present Legislature.

The following table gives official and unofficial majorities by counties: DELAWARE.

Charles Osgrove. Who has not been able to attend to his business for years, was interviewed by our reporter yesterday, and says: 'For years I was troubled with Bright's disease of the kidneys. The doctors gave me up. Through an Eastern friend I obtained a bottle of Salpiter Bitters. I took five bottles and now I am almost well. Keith sells them—San Francisco, Cal. 11-14-91.'

Mr. Cleveland's Triumph.

The man above all others who has reason to feel proud and gratified at the result of the November elections is that brave and modest American who formulated for the popular comprehension the doctrine of tariff reform, which the country has at last so enthusiastically accepted. The verdict of Tuesday week is the triumph of President Cleveland's epoch-making message.

He knew well what he was doing when that message was delivered. He knew how it would startle not only the timorous and time-serving politicians, even of his own party, but the great mass of the people, whom these same politicians had so long misled, so kept in ignorance of the very rudiments of political economy, that they could not at once receive the truth. But he knew also that the time had come when the truth must be told and the education of the people begun, and at whatever cost to himself he would not shrink from his duty.

His party, hesitating for a time came up manfully to the standard, and a majority of its own party, but the great mass of the people, who had been misled, and who were kept in ignorance of the very rudiments of political economy, that they could not at once receive the truth. But he knew also that the time had come when the truth must be told and the education of the people begun, and at whatever cost to himself he would not shrink from his duty.

The education begun in the Presidential campaign was continued by the debates in Congress. Every newspaper in the country took up the discussion. It was carried on in the homes, in the shops, wherever two or three met together. For the first time the true relation of a tariff to taxation and the cost of living, as well as to commerce and industry, were perceived and critically examined. And when the dominant party persisted in its despot course and went further than ever had been proposed before in the imposition of taxes on the masses for the aggrandizement of the favored classes, the people arose and struck it to the earth.

In less than three years the seed planted in that famous message has grown up into a hardy tree that has spread over the whole land. Mr. Cleveland was as truly the leader in this stupendous revolution as though he had been himself the candidate. He did not need to take a part in the campaign. He had already framed the issue and the people followed him—'Times.'

That Tin-Plate Tax. Taking advantage of the benefits of "protection," the Chicago packers of canned meat have decided to give another lesson to the poor man that has to pay the tariff.

By deciding to advance canned meats one-fourth of a cent a pound the packers will add an additional profit not only to themselves, but to every one handling their goods. The wholesaler, grocery, who has to pay the price of his advance, will add another one-fourth per cent, and thus the advance will bring him a clear profit. The retailer will of course have to join in the upward movement, and he will recoup himself for the half-cent advance by charging an extra cent or more. Of course the full increase comes out of the pocket of the consumer.

This is a practical illustration of how the tariff works. Everybody is protected except the poor man. He pays all and the other fellows get all the benefits.

Deafness Can't Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound for imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed for ever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure (by using Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.) F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75 cents.
