Catarrh

IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint, and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became convinced, however, from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I felt me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

OSMAN DIGNA ROUTED.

Tokar Captured by the Egyptians After a Fierce Battle.

According to Egyptian stories, a severe engagement was fought at Tokar on February 19 between the Egyptian troops, who recently left E. Tokar, and Osman Digna's forces. Nearly 1,000 lives were lost in the battle which followed the appearance of the Egyptians at Tokar.

The Egyptians made their advance from Afafite during the early dawn of the morning. The enemy was sighted near Tokar, and after an exchange of shots between the skirmishers of the enemy and the advance guard of the Egyptians, the latter pushed forward through the brushwood surrounding Tokar.

The Egyptians fixed bayonets when within easy distance of the enemy and bravely charged upon the defenders of the old ruins. For over an hour a desperate hand to hand, bayonet to spear, and sword fight followed, during which the Egyptian troops fought with the most determined energy. The Egyptian cavalry made a brilliant charge on the dervishes, who retired in disorder, suffering a crushing defeat.

Osman Digna did not take part in the fight, but watched its progress from a point of vantage near Afafite. After seeing that his faithful followers had suffered a disastrous defeat Osman Digna, accompanied by about 50 horsemen, fled toward Temria. The Egyptians bivouacked at Afafite, and will advance on Temria.

Personal Indebtedness Census.

Superintendent Porter, of the Census Bureau, has issued the first statement of returns from the census of private debts of individuals and corporations in the United States.

According to this report the total real estate mortgage debt in Alabama in force January 1, 1893, was $39,027,983; the total real estate mortgage debt in Iowa in force January 1, 1890, was $190,034,957. The average amount of debt to one of population in Alabama was $26; in Iowa, $104. In 1889 the total number of acres mortgaged in Alabama was 1,744,429; total number of acres in the State, 32,985,690; per cent of acres mortgaged, 5.3. Number of acres mortgaged in Iowa, 3,240,432; total number of acres in the State, 35,504,000; per cent of acres mortgaged, 9.1.

The interest charges in Alabama range from 1 to 4 per cent and in Iowa from 1 to 20 per cent. Throughout the South and West the contracts often state that the debt is without interest or give a lower rate than the true rate.

The average of mortgages, with an allowance for partial payments, is computed to be 2.73 years in Alabama and 4.93 years in Iowa.

Is He "Jack, the Ripper?"

A London dispatch states that the developments in the case of Sadler, who is charged with the recent Whitechapel murder, are followed with intense eagerness, since a growing series of links point to him as "Jack, the Ripper."

At the outset of the inquiry into the life of Sadler the chance of identifying the semi-creak seemed to be destroyed by proof that he was at sea when all the previous crimes were committed, but officers deputized by the treasury to track Sadler's past found that when at sea, according to the ship's books, he was seen in Whitechapel.

Laborious researches continue, yielding suggestive statements from Sadler's wife and mother, who concur that his temperament is akin to homicidal in nature. There is a family record of insanity. The wife said that her husband was subject to fits of maniacal fury, and that more than once he had stood over her with a knife.

General Sherman's Burial.

The remains of General William T. Sherman arrived at St. Louis at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning, and were buried in Calvary Cemetery by the side of his wife and two sons at 2:30 p. m. the same day, with imposing military ceremonies.

An imposing military procession followed the remains to the cemetery. Great crowds of silently respectful people assembled at Union Station and along the route of the procession. Bells were tolled, cannons fired, and many signs of public mourning were visible. Two hundred members of the ex-Confederate Association of Missouri marched in the parade. Rev. Thomas Ewing Sherman, son of the deceased general, recited the burial service of the Roman Catholic Church at the grave. The drums sounded "taps," and the military salute was fired over the grave.

Skin Grafting Did Not Save Him.

The sacrifice of the 150 members of St. Bernard Commandery, Knights Templar, at Chicago, who marched to the Emergency Hospital and surrendered under the surgeon's knife portions of their cuticle for the benefit of J. O. Dickinson, recorder of the commandery, who had a cancerous sore on the hip, upon which the skin refused to grow, will probably prove futile. Dickinson's stomach has become so weak in consequence of the large quantities of chloroform taken that he has been unable to eat anything, and is slowly starving to death. The doctors can do nothing for him.

Bismarck Doubts.

A dispatch from Berlin states that Prince Bismarck is convinced that the reports published as to the emperor's injurious opinion of himself are untrue and are inventions of his (Bismarck's) enemies. The dispatch also quotes the ex-chancellor as saying: "The emperor knows too well how to estimate the motives which prompt my political warnings to doubt my patriotism."

Mr. Cleveland Doubts.

In answer to a reporter, sent to interview him in New York regarding the statement that he had withdrawn as a Presidential candidate, Mr. Cleveland said: "It is entirely untrue, so far as I am acquainted with any facts in connection with it." Mr. Lamont, ex-private secretary, also pronounces the report unfounded.

THE WAR IN CHILE.

Insurgent Vessels scattering Along the Sea Coast.

A dispatch received from Valparaiso says that a government steamer has arrived there from Africa, a maritime town in the province of Tarapaca, where she landed troops. The steamer reports being pursued by the rebel ships Honscar and Emeralda and had a narrow escape from being captured.

The insurgents have captured the steamer Comaio. Three regiments have been sent to protect Tania. The government is sending fresh troops to recapture Pisagua. The latest news received from the rebels' squadron is that the insurgent vessels are scattered along the coast, but Valparaiso is not in a state of blockade.

A Scientific Minister.

It is not often that a minister of the gospel is so versatile as to attain equal fame from his skill in tying the wedding knot and in making scientific instruments. Yet such is the distinction of the Rev. Dr. John Peate, of Greenville, Va. When he lived in Jamestown, N. Y., young people used to come from miles around to have him marry them, and now he is engaged in manufacturing what will be the largest telescopic reflecting mirror in the United States. It is 304 inches in diameter, 58 inches thick, and weighs 300 pounds. It is the thirteenth glass of the kind that Dr. Peate has made, and his work is considered equal to that of the famous Clark, of Cambridge.

A Very Queer Guest.

At 147 East 57th street, New York, the second floor rooms of Mrs. Brown were invaded by a 4 year old trick elephant named Fanchon, which escaped from a neighboring stable where a circus menagerie was being wintered. The elephant ascended the stairs, took possession of the kitchen, and proceeded calmly to eat the available food and smash the crockery. Mrs. Brown seized her infant and fled in terror. The elephant held possession of the rooms for four days, until a platform could be erected to safely remove it. Fanchon would not go down the stairs by which she ascended.

Collision on the New York Central.

A collision involving loss of life to six persons and injuries to many others occurred in the Fourth avenue tunnel of the New York Central Railroad Friday morning last. The New York, New Haven and Hartford train No. 10, leaving the Grand Central Depot at 7:02, while running at the rate of 25 miles an hour, crashed into the rear end of a "shop train" of 13 cars, which was moving at the rate of 8 miles an hour. The two last cars of the "shop train" were telescoped and took fire from the upsetting of a stove.

The Delinquent Debtors.

Two hundred of the unsecured creditors of Delamater & Co., the bankers, who failed last December, met in Pittsburgh and all but five signed an agreement to accept 50 per cent of the amount of their claims in full settlement, the first on May 1, 1891, and the last on May 1, 1893. It is thought all the creditors will sign the agreement.

Empress Frederick in Paris.

Empress Frederick, of Germany, and her daughter, Princess Margaret, are on a visit to Paris, stopping at the German embassy, and are the subject of much respectful attention and curiosity in their sightseeing trips about the city. The Berlin papers regard the visit of the ex-empress to Paris as an experiment to prepare the way for Emperor William. They will remain a week.

Spain's Treaty with America.

At a Spanish cabinet council, the queen regent presiding, Premier Canovas del Castillo gave a detailed account of the negotiations with America for a commercial treaty. He announced that he had obtained a reduction of the duties on minerals and other things, and said that he was now negotiating for the free admission into America of tobacco from the Spanish West Indies.

Business Moving Southward.

The Boniton Brass and Iron Works removed this week from Bouton, N. J., and located in Charlestown, W. Va. The buildings, containing 15,000 square feet floor space, were commenced on July 6, and have been completed by T. P. Lippitt, contractor, and the machinery moved in. Other large industries are being located at Charlestown.
