The floral decoration on the graves in Rosemont Cemetery last Saturday were the finest ever seen. There was scarcely a grave in the entire cemetery but what bore some token of esteem.

Grant Herring, although the youngest Senator in the Pennsylvania State Senate, makes 'em all squirm when he gets to talking. His recent defense of the right of the executive to make such appointments as he pleases, was a masterly effort.—Sullivan Review.

The Independent Cornet Band of Centralia, will hold a picnic in Park Street Grove, at that place on Saturday, June 13th. The Committee are determined to make it a success, and have arranged for sparring exhibitions, wrestling matches and various other games of sport.

By the will of the late Thomas Beaver, of Danville, his estate is left in trust for twenty-one years, when it will revert to his children or their heirs. The income of the same, after paying certain annuities, is divided among his children. He appointed his grandson, Mr. Wm. B. Chamberlin, Trustee of the same.

Ex-Senator Verus H. Metzger of Williamsport died at his home last Friday. He had been suffering from diabetes for a year or more. A widow and two children survive him. He was a son of Judge J. J. Metzger, and represented this district in the state senate for four years, his term expiring last January. Mr. Metzger was a member of the bar and a young man of much promise.

The Bloomsburg Car Co., barely escaped a destructive fire last Friday, about five o'clock. The boxing on the main shaft in the Car building became overheated, and set fire to the surrounding wood work. When the fire was first discovered the whistle blew quickly and Harman & Hassert responded by blowing their mammoth gong. The hose of the company was at once applied and the fire extinguished immediately. The fire was gaining rapid headway when first discovered.

Sunday School Convention.

The 22nd Annual Convention of the Sunday School Association of Col. Co. met at Benton, Wednesday and Thursday, May 27 and 28th, in the pleasant M. E. Church.

All sessions were full of interest and the church full of people: Wednesday evening and Thursday afternoon a large number were unable to get inside the door.

The Wednesday morning session was opened by service of Prayer and Praise conducted by Rev. Mathers. Rev. Hamlin, pastor of the M. E. Benton Church, gave the delegates, workers and visitors a cordial welcome to which the President H. R. Bower gave a response setting forth the objects of the Convention. Delegates were then enrolled by a system of envelopes in which the contributions from the schools were enclosed and upon the outside the names of school and delegates were written. These were placed in the hands of the Treasurer and Entertainment Committee and delegates were soon handed cards of introduction to their entertainers.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

A crowded house joined in a service of song conducted by Mr. Robbins of Asbury. After prayer by Rev. Bard the minutes of last year were read and approved.

The following committees were appointed: On nominations—M. I. Low, O. F. Ferris, Mrs. E. Kressler, J. Wesley John, Arthur Roberts, I. M. Betz.

On Time and Place.—F. I. Shultz, Rev. S. B. Boone, G. W. Roberts.

On Resolutions.—Rev. W. R. Whitney, Miss H. Breece, Cyrus Robins.

The Corresponding Secretary gave a full report which by motion was placed in the hands of a Committee consisting of John Sutton, Aaron Smith, Rev. Straub.

The irregularity of teachers was dwelt upon in a very interesting and impressive manner by M. I. Low. The speaker gave as a certain cure for this cause of so much unsuccessful work here.

The audience then rose and sang and then Daisy McHenry, a little Miss from Stillwater, gave in a beautiful manner a recitation entitled "The Heavenly Ladder."

The audience was next favored by a masterly address of twenty minutes by Rev. Davis of Orangeville on "Our sacrifices for Christ and our Rewards." The speaker set forth clearly how insignificant our greatest sacrifices are for the Master we serve and how infinitely beyond our highest conception are the rewards with which we will crown all honest efforts made for His sake. After singing and Benediction by Rev. Davis the session closed.

WEDNESDAY EVENING.

The church was filled when the one-half hour Song Service began and at its close there was not a spot of standing room left.

These were two short, strong, stirring talks on Temperance by Samuel Pursel and Rev. Straub and two recitations on the same subject by Corala Dewitt and Grace Ammerman. Prof. Sprenkel, the S. S. Field Secretary of Pennsylvania was then introduced. As the hour was late he called at once for the Query Box and in a pleasing and effective way he answered the various questions sent to him. The question on the evil of cigarette smoking called forth a powerful answer: apologizing for bringing so disgusting a matter before the audience, he told a few facts concerning the manufacture of cigarettes which known would surely prevent any right-minded man or boy from ever putting the innocent looking bit of twisted paper to his lips. The collection amounted to $10.45.

Rev. Straub dismissed the meeting with the Benediction.

THURSDAY MORNING.

Session opened by prayer by Rev. Souser, and singing, report of Delegate to State Convention only about one third of the Township Presidents responded to roll call. Prof. Sprenkel then gave a very helpful address on Primary teaching, answering a number of questions on the subject which members of the Convention sent up.

The Committee on officers reported and the following were elected: President, H. R. Bower; Vice Presidents, Rev. G. E. Zehner; A. Houtz; P. A. Hellman; Corresponding Secretary, A. W. Spear; Recording Secretary, Miss E. Rupert; Treasurer, Mrs. A. McHenry; Delegate to State Convention, M. I. Low; Alternate B. J. Dyke; Township Presidents—Beaver, Miss S. Bredbender; Bloom, Samuel Pursel; Briar Creek, Rev. M. Hartman; Centralia and Conyngham, B. J. Dyke; Center, M. I. Low; Franklin, J. C. Hile; Greenwood, E. I. M. Betz; Henlock, C. F. Gilton; Locust, R. W. Watkins; Main, J. W. John; Montour, W. C. Richart; Orange, G. B. White;

Roaring Creek, Mrs. S. C. Cherington; Scott, J. S. Grimes; Benton, F. L. Shultz; Berwick, A. B. Kirkendall; Catwissa, G. Manhart; Fishing Creek, J. L. Sutton; Greenwood W., J. E. Eves; Jackson, J. P. Yorks; Madison, D. A. Shultz; Millin, A. Clayberger; Mt. Pleasant, Mr. Fisher; Pine, R. Whitmoyer; Sugarloaf, A. L. Fritz.

Report of H. R. Bower, Delegate to the International Convention. Session closed with singing and the Benediction by Rev. Houtz.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

Opened with a song service and prayer by Rev. Sharrets. The large audience listened with close attention in spite of heat and the crowded room, to an earnest talk by Rev. Houtz on The Use of the Word. He emphasized the fact that the Word of God contains light upon every question and for every condition of life and S. S. Scholars should be made familiar with it. Recitation by Clara Raber. The following was next adopted item by item. The second item called forth prolonged discussion, 1st. We the Committee to whom the report of the Corresponding Secretary was referred, have carefully examined the details of the expenditures and find his bill correct. 2nd. In-as-much as more funds are needed to effectively carry on our County work, we therefore recommend that in addition to the contributions from the schools, the County officers and Township Presidents be authorized to solicit pledges, to be paid annually for as many years as the contributors see proper. 3rd. We recommend that the executive committee meet as soon as possible and divide the County into a convenient number of districts. A district shall be allotted to each member of said committee, whose duty it shall be to co-operate with the Township Presidents and see that Institutes are held in each Township of his district, where practicable.

Signed, John Sutton, Aaron Smith, Henry A. Straub.

As Rev. Heilmann, who was to conduct the Convention in the study of the next Sunday's lesson could not be present, M. I. Low was asked to read an article on "Amusements in the Sunday School Times." Recitation by Daisy McHenry "What can little children do?" A collection was then taken amounting to 7.79 and at the same time pledges were taken amounting to $13.50.

Committee on Time and Place reported in favor of Orangeville Union Church, time left to the executive committee. Report of Treasurer as follows:

Report of Committee on Resolutions as follows:

Resolved: I That as the sessions of this Convention have been unusually interesting and profitable therefore our thanks are tendered 1st to the B. & S. R. R. for giving excursion rates to this Convention; 2nd To Trustees and Sexton of this beautiful church edifice for the use of the same during this Convention; 3rd To the families of Benton and vicinity that have opened their hearts and houses to entertain us so royally; 4th To the choir for their inspiring and appropriate music rendered; 5th To the officers of this Convention for their assiduous and efficient labors in the Sunday School cause during the past year and at this Convention; 6th To the several speakers who by their effective talks helped to make this Convention a success.

Resolved: II That with emphasis we give expression to a conviction which deepens with passing years, that every Sunday School should be in fact and effect, a temperance training school, fitting the rising generation for active and aggressive effort in this and every other department of Christian work.

We trust the time may speedily come when every officer, teacher and scholar in our Sunday Schools shall by example and precept, practice and promote temperance, when none shall follow the bad example of him who asked "Am I my brother's keeper?"

Resolved: III That we earnestly recommend and urge the use of the international lessons in all schools of this County.

Whereas we fear that many teachers of Col. Co. use the Lesson Leaflets exclusive of the Bible and that there are found many who have attended Sunday School for a number of years, yet have neither committed the commandments or other important scripture therefore.

Resolved: IV That the Sunday School teachers be recommended to be more zealous in this work, urging every pupil to own a Bible and use it in preparation and recitation of the lesson.

WHEREAS, We have internal and external evidence that we are raised to a higher plane of life and that our ideal of the Sunday School teacher is a better one than when we came here.

Resolved: V That we go through the 22nd Convention of Col. Co. feeling that "It was good to be here." Signed, W. R. Whitney, Cyrus Robbins, Hannah Breece. Report adopted by a rising vote. With a few appropriate words the President closed. Benediction by Rev. Hamlin.

MEMORIAL DAY.

The programme arranged for last Saturday, as announced in THE COLUMBIAN, was carried out fully. At half past two the line formed on Market square as follows: C. P. Sloan, Marshal, Dr. T. C. Harter, P. S. Moyer assistants, mounted; Bloomsburg Cornet Band; Ent Post G. A. R.; Ladies' Circle; Brockway Camp, Sons of Veterans; American Mechanics; Gilmore's Band; Friendship Fire Co. No. 1; Lightstreet Band; Winona Fire Co. No. 3; citizens in carriages. The Philologist Society joined the procession on Normal Hill.

It was a very creditable parade, and was witnessed by many people, the streets being thronged all the afternoon.

The Winona boys made their first appearance in a uniform of black silk shirts, black pants, white caps, belts and ties. They made a fine showing. At the Opera House, after prayer and music, Rev. D. J. Waller Sr. made an excellent address. A beautiful flag was presented to Brockway Camp, Sons of Veterans, by Mrs. C. B. Brockway, and her daughter, the speech being made by H. A. McKillip Esq. At our request we have been supplied with a copy of this speech, which was as follows:

H. A. MCKILLIP'S ADDRESS. The magic touch of Fame has tinged the fleeting years with brilliant hue; and the records of our country, written by the finger of Time steeped in the well of human blood, gleam with undying and everlasting evidence of patriotism, of loyalty and honor; filling page upon page with heroic sacrifice, with daring deeds on fields of carnage, with valor, with courage, with glorious results, with records of men, brave, loyal and true, who laid down their lives to secure union and freedom for our country, weighted with the shackles which bound her to the throne, and sent down to posterity the thunderbolt of Liberty, making our forests echo, and echo, and re-echo, till the ringing glad shout swayed our primeval pines and rocked the cradle of liberty in which our Nation at her birth was laid wrapped in her swaddling clothes.

In seventeen hundred seventy six the Declaration of Independence gave notice to the world that the Colonies were free and independent States, and absolved from all allegiance to the British Crown: to this fifty-two men signed their names, solemnly pledging their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor, and asking the protection of Divine Providence, sent it forth to the world, a star of liberty, whose light has never yet paled or weakened before the august monarchies of the earth. Their earnest desire for a government conducted by the people themselves was the all-controlling principle which caused these stirring events, and adopted the Stars and Stripes as the ensign of our country, under whose graceful folds they fought with that master courage, known only to men who are in the right; dyed with their blood, sealed with the seal of liberty, gratefully, acknowledged by millions then unborn, the constitutionally sacred emblem of our government still proudly floats, "over the land and over the sea and in every wind under the heavens, bearing that sentiment dear to every American heart, liberty and union, one and inseparable, now and forever."

On this fitting and auspicious occasion, as we bow before the shrine of Patriotism, to render our vows of honor to the dead and living heroes, to decorate the graves of the fallen ones with garlands of roses, to keep them fresh with the dew of becoming tears, to pay our just tribute to their valor and to perpetuate their memory, it is my pleasant duty to present to Capt. Brockway Camp, Sons of Veterans, for and on behalf of the givers, Mrs. C. B. Brockway and her daughters, this beautiful flag. Your Camp honored itself in selecting for its name that of a man, who was a true and loyal soldier, lion hearted and courageous in battle, fearless of death, knowing only the success of the cause for which he fought, whose record is bright as the sabres flashed upon the field of Gettysburg.

The Sons of Veterans, auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, for the purpose of continuing an organization whose brotherhood is strengthened by weary marches, midnight vigils on sentry duty, and cemented on bloody fields of battle, have the same end in view, that of supporting and continuing the union and liberty of our country, and helping forward her great institutions.

The Stars and Stripes, first unfurled by Washington one hundred and fifteen years ago, have been, and are, and always shall be, the sacred ensign of our country; beautiful, glorious, typifying the freedom of every citizen within, and equality before the law, their history teaching men to be honest, upright, loyal and true; to falter not when storms assail our country, but manfully to defend her from traitors within, and from foes without; floating over all, welcoming the honest stranger within our gates, but protecting justice, swift to punish treason, disloyalty and anarchy.

Ingratitude is a debasing sin; he who would basely forsake his country in her hour of need, and leave her to the "oppressors wrong," after having lived under her beneficent government, breathed her pure air, enjoyed liberty, and felt the crowning good of all her free institutions in being able to say "I am an American citizen," is not only guilty of the vilest ingratitude, but has not yet learned the lesson of loyalty and patriotism.

Construe then, and disseminate in your Camp the lesson of fidelity to God and Country; the broad and generous principles of our government, and the nobility and firm foundations of our free institutions; where all men who do right are equal before the law, where the expression of proper thoughts is freely permitted; where just criticism of public acts is a safeguard; where anarchy, socialism and lawlessness meet prompt and sure punishment; where none seek the Lupercal whereon to crown a King, to "bestride the narrow world like a Colossus, for petty men to creep under his huge legs and peep about to find themselves dishonorable graves," but where every honest citizen is his own uncrowned King; teach that America is the greatest, grandest country on heaven's footstool, that while she is strong, they must feed that strength, and that her continued growth must come from within and not from without; teach these principles in your Camp and sow the seed broadcast as your influence is far reaching. And "if you are even tempted to say a word or do a thing which will put a bar between you and your country, pray God in His mercy to take you that instant to His own Heaven. And for your country and that flag, never dream a dream but of serving her as she bids you, though the service carries you through a thousand hells. Never let a night pass, but you pray God to bless that flag; remember you belong to her as you belong to your mother, stand by her as you would stand by your mother."

O beautiful and glorious ensign of our country, float on, float on, forever, adding new stars to thy field, covering and protecting with thy majestic influence, thy defenders and supporters; with thy square of blue for truth and thy level of equality for all ever float with thy graceful folds over the land which the "golden compasses prepared in God's eternal store" have circumscribed for thee. Mayest thou never more need defense at the cost of life, but, if it so be, there are millions of noble ones to defend thee, Ellsworths to plant thee high, unfurled, color bearers to carry thee to their death, yea, and Barbara Fritchie, frosted with honored age to shake thy silken folds in the face of thy enemies and keep thee on thy proud eminence. Indexing by its white purity of our fore fathers motives; its blue, their faith and honor; its red, their life blood to gain it; established by this sacrifice, honored and defended by our people, saved from despoiling hands by our own fathers; Kept pure by the rivers of human blood which incarnated our sands, and formed the waves which rushed thousands upon thousands of patriotic souls; to the realms of eternity; on behalf of the givers I present it to your Camp; stand by it; defend it forever; follow the old flag to the end.

Myron Geddis responded on behalf of the camp.
