THROUGH THE WAR, AND THRICE A PRISONER.

Mr. John W. Urban, formerly of Company "D" First Regiment Pennsylvania Reserve Infantry, and a native of Lancaster County is making a personal canvass for this thrilling and most interesting history of the late Civil War. Mr. Urban was in twentyfive desperate battles and three times a prisoner. His work is published in one handsome volume of 486 pages, with many illustrations, and is sold only by subscription, at the low price of $1.50. The author will soon call upon the citizens of this county, and take subscriptions. We take the following from the newspapers of his own county.

From the Lancaster (Pa.) Intelligencer.

"About half the work is devoted to the story of the war in the Virginia campaigns, ... and the balance narrates in detail and with much vividness the horrors of Andersonville and other prison pens. As Mr. Urban was a sufferer he naturally writes with a good deal of feeling, but his story is a most interesting one.

From the New Era, Lancaster, Pa. It almost seems incredible that the
