Next morning after an early breakfast, and while the sun was beginning to cast his scattered rays across the eastern hills lending enchantment to the scenery, they wended their way up the valley to the dam, a beautiful sheet of water, covering about one hundred acres, and well stocked with fish.

Quite to the surprise of the gentlemen, some of the ladies proved themselves as efficient in catching and landing the "finnied beauties," as in preparing the excellent meals.

About five o'clock P. M. they started for home after having enjoyed a day's outing among the hills and woods of Lycoming, SARATOGA, Sept. 15.—The Democratic state convention is in session here today and the city is filled with hundreds of politicians all battling earnestly for their respective favorites in the gubernatorial fight. These who pretend to know say that the following is the ticket that will oppose Hon. J. Sloat Fassett and his confreres. For Governor, Roswell P. Flower; for lieutenant governor, William F. Sheehan; for secretary of state, Frank Rice (renomination); for treasurer, Elliott Danforth (renomination); for controller, Frank Campbell; for attorney general, Simon W. Rosendale; for engineer and surveyor, Martin Schenck.

The Convention Meets.

The convention assembled shortly after noon at the Casino rink, on Spring street. Edward Murphy Jr., called the convention to order and Hon. George Raines was Chairman Raines' Speech. SARATOGA, Sept. 16.—The Democratic state convention, which adjourned for the day without making any nominations Tuesday afternoon, convened again this morning about 11 o'clock. It is believed that today the Democrats of New York will come out for honest money. If the statements of those who have assisted in preparing the resolution on this most important subject may be trusted the declarations. tion will be equally as strong as the Re-publican one, which was so loudly eneered publican one, which was so loudly cheered at Rochester.

In his speech to the convention Chair-man Raines drew forth cheers when he quoted Hill's oft repeated phrase, "I am a Democrat." He praised Jefferson, Jack-son and Tilden, and then announced that the programme was to confine the cam-paign to state issues. Then the speaker scored ex-Senators Platt and Miller and J. Sloat Fassett. He said:

We are no longer left to conjecture as to Re-publican leadership. Plattism stalks in midday for popular view and judgment. Exile Miller is silent, Belden is indifferent, Wadsworth is sullen, Becker has a genuine German fit of in-dignation. The cultured White had been the candidate of Mr. Platt for several months, then Cummings & Verdy's. 18 2t.

A FISHING PARTY.

Last Wednesday arternoon a party consisting of Messrs. Herman Smith, Duchin Design France of Mr. Platt for several months, then general spontaneity uprose in its majosty, and ordered events in favor of a young gentleman whose name had been mentioned in no caucus coverniton of the party. The Deuts ex machina "winked the other eye," and instantly all the subways of Plattism poured forth blue flame, and in the great light the name of Fassett "led all the rest."

World's Fair Matters. The delays imposed on the World's fair legis-The delays imposed on the word's tair legis-lation by Fassert, in a struggle to secure a par-tisan advantage in patronage, resulted in the assembly in New York of the most magnificent array of worth and talent in its citizenship to utter the indignation of New York. The hour of that assembly was the signal for the sur-render by Mr. Platt of his senatorial blockade. The sensation of relief when it was announced at that meeting that Platt would permit the project to have consideration, and, if not too late, aid with his influence the movement to

The greatest offense of Plattism has been committed against the free and equal suffrage of our citizens. Why a momber of assembly in St. Lawrence county should be selected by 25,000 people, in Washington county by 22,000 people, while in Erie, Monroe, Kings and New York over one-third of the state in population, more than 65,000 people are necessary to select one member of assembly, cannot be explained. The motive and injustice are apparent; its dangers to our institutions are apparent; its immorality is below the level of practical politics of the most venal and audacious kind. of the most venal and audacious kind.

Mr. Raines lauded Governor Hill's administration and eulogized the governor in warm terms.

Cheers for German. District Attorney Ridgway offered a resolution commending the congressmen who opposed the federal elections bill last who opposed the federal elections bill last winter, and giving special praise to Sen-ator Arthur P. ### LOOKING FOR LEADERS. then entered a protest about being kept out of the convention.

Judge Maynard Withdraws.
Judge Isaac H. Maynard, deputy attorney general, has determined not to allow his name to be presented to the convention for the nomination of attorney general. The committee on platform and resolutions was selected with especial care, as it has been manifest that questions of much moment would be discussed. The main point at issue has been the money plank. Daniel G. Griffin, the near neighbor of Roswell P. Flower in Watertown, has maintained that such a plank should be left for the consideration of the national convention. It had no place in a campaign involving solely state issues. Others insisted that a plank condemning the free coinage of silver should be inserted. The committee met in the Grand Union at 4 o'clock. A preliminary draft of the platform was read. Governor Hill's pri-vate secretary, Timothy Williams, was present most of the time. The introduc-tory planks in the document were general tory planks in the document were general in their character, and reaffirmed the national platforms of 1884 and 1888. The opinion that the money question should be left to the national convention provoked discussion. Mr. Jenks, Mr. Boody and Mr. Tracy believed that a specific plank against the freer coinage of silver ps,000,000 a month. It was also determined to speak specifically for what the majority termed "honest money," and unless the decision is upset this programme will prevail. One of the most interesting features of the meeting was the resolution offered by Almet F. Jenks, of Brooklyn. It was: That we stand with the record of the Demo-cratic party and with the declaration of Grover Cleveland against all legislation tending to bring about the reckloss experiment of free, unlimited and independent coinage.

Those present objected to any such reso-lution. The name of Grover Cleveland hadn't been mentioued in the convention and neither had Governor Hill, and it was thought inadvisable to introduce any of the Cleveland ideas in this committee assembled to settle so important a question.

Mr. Cockran and Mr. Croker and others agreed that this policy was the better. The Jenks resolution was not allowed to come before the committee. The resolution objecting to the Sherman bill was introduced and carried by the aid of Mr. Cockran, Mr. Croker and their friends.

Hinkley as secretary.

When the Erie county contest came up William F. Mackey talked for the First district fighters, and accused the Sheehan faction of all sorts of snap tactics in the caucuses. Then he said:

"This is a serious question. The Democracy of Erie is now split in two, and unless something is done the result will be disastrous. We will be bound by and acquiesce in your decision, but we cannot be responsible for the people."

William E. Delaney, for the Second Erie district, followed in much the same line, as did John G. Milburn for the Third district.

Charles F. Whitcher, who spoke for the Sheehan side for all three districts, told how 200 grain handlers carried off one of the houses at which a caucus had been called.

The assertion that the party in Erie was seriously divided he denied, and said that all there was to that was an effort to make it appear so on the part of a certain ele-ment which, finding that it could not lead William F. Sheehan by the nose, was try-ing to kill him. In conclusion he said that the contestants did not want to go into the county convention nor to go into was to stir up strife.

Has England Occupied Mitylene? LONDON, Sept. 16.-The assertions and denials regarding the alleged occupation of Mitylene keep the public mind in a ferment, and no official denial will be satisfactory that does not eminate directly from the British foreign office. It is suggested that the purpose is to keep Europe in the dark until the occupied post has been so strongly fortified as to make a successful attack very difficult.
