Searles Says Mrs. Hopkins Did Items Which Are of Particular the Proposing. Interest to Pennsylvanians.

HE MARRIED FOR LOVE AND MONEY. IN THIS AND NEARBY COUNTIES.

But Love, He Says, Was the Principal Reason Why He Wedded a Woman Who Was a Score of Years Ills Senior-The Contest Commenced.

SALEM, Mass., Sept. 23 .- Timothy Hopkins, of San Francisco, the adopted son of Mrs. M. F. S. Hopkins Searles, sat among half a dozen noted lawyers in the probate court yesterday. He was ready to contest the wealthy woman's will without regard to cost. He had refused, it is said, to compromise the case for $2,500,000.

Searles Was on Hand.

Edward F. Searles, of Methuen, who married the widow of Mark Hopkins, and to whom the $30,000,000 or more of her property was left, to the expressed seclusion of Timothy Hopkins, was on hand to stand by the will. He had several prominent lawyers to aid him also. They were Wil-liam Allen Butler, Wilhelminus Mynder-see, General T. H. Hubbard and Thomas E. Stillman, of New York; Colonel Solo-mon Lincoln, of Boston, and Richard Dodge, of Cambridge. Judge Rollin E. Harmon sat on the bench when the court opened. The witnesses to the will, Messrs, Dodge, Thornton and Nomis, were called to the stand by Colonel Lincoln.

Before the witness could answer, Mr. Burley, counsel for Timothy Hopkins, called for the will made prior to the one in dispute and dated Nov. 8, 1887. Counsel for Searles objected, but Judge Harmon ordered it produced. It was made on the date of the marriage of Mr. Scarles and Mrs. Hopkins, and gave half of Mrs. Searles' estate to her husband and the other half to Timothy Hopkins. Mr. Searles was then put upon the stand. He told his life history, which has a tinge of romance. He was born in Methuen, Mass., fifty years before July 4 last. He lived there off and on until 1881.

She Proposed to Him

In the spring of 1883 he met Mrs. Hop-kins in San Francisco. He went to her with a letter of introduction, asking permission to view her house. On numerous occasions thereafter he met her in the east occasions thereafter he met her in the east and west by invitation. Mrs. Hopkins had told him that she was twenty years his senior. When the mar-riage was proposed Mrs. Hopkins consulted her adopted son. Mr. Searles did not know what Timothy said, but he objected. lind Wilkes took the 2:15 trot in straight heats. "When was the proposition of marriage first made?"
