No. 33.

Put plenty of leaves in the hen house and compel the hens to scratch.

By this means exercise is obtained. which is one of the best things necessary for the hen as it is conclusive of health, and health means eggs. It also promotes warmth to the fowl. By feeding on the bare floor they gobble up all they can get and then stand around and freeze.

It is not all in the feed, indeed it is hest to feed a variety of food. Wheat and corn is the general feed with an occasional feed of buckwheat or oats. On cold mornings feed a hot mush made principally of wheat bran in which is put a little salt and pepper.

But after all the care and trouble of feeding judiciously, if your hens are permitted to roost on trees and roofs of buildings, or even in a roost full of cracks and crevices, the labor and feed is lost as far as eggs are concerned, for it takes all the feed to supply the necessary warmth for the fowls,

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderluj curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. Noves, 820 Power's Block, Rochester, if I do not blow the horn he never comes mar-6-1y.

"After all," said the great man as he laid down the paper, "it is the living who suffer most when one of our num-ber passes from this life." "Do you think so?" said his private secretary. "Yes; the survivors are the ones who see the newspaper pictures." - Washington Post.

A WHALE STORY.

REMARKABLE PET OF A SOUTH PA-CIFIC PLANTER.

The Big Fish Tropped in a Lagoon Its Sportive Gambols The Story of the Proprietor of a Live Sperm Whale.

On a small island in the South Pacific there lives a planter who has for a pet a whale 67 feet long. A correspondent, who went out in a beat with the planter, gives this account of his interview with his whaleship:

"Shut your eyes," said the planter, "if you wish to enjoy a surprise.

I closed my eyes, and the boys soon ceased their drumming, and some one blew long blasts upon a horn. Then that, too, ceased, and the boat lay motionless, and nothing disturbed the stillness. All at once I heard a huge sigh, and felt a hot and sickish breath. There was no need for the planter to bid me open my eyes, for the lids would not stay shut. Not more than six feet away I saw a huge monster floating on the surface and look ing at us with the most expressionless eye that I ever saw in a living beast.

"That's my pet," cried the planter. "I raised him almost from the time he was a baby of 20 feet long, and now he measures 67 feet, and lots more growth to come yet."

The pet was a sperm whale. He seemed enormous when compared with us men. Behind the great head there stretched a long body, covered in great patches with barnacles as large as a tencup, and the slock flukes of the tail, lying flat upon the water, seemed ever so far away, yet ever so much too near when I recalled whalers' accounts of the behavior of this animal when it is angry.

The great head rose from the sea'so high above the water that it becalmed the boat. The eye was about the size of an ox eye, and had almost the same deep violet shade. The ear was not far distant from the eye, a simple opening in the skin. The color of the skin was a dusty black, which became lighter and more vellow underneath. Except for the barnacles, the skin was quite smooth.

The great animal lay motionless, just out of arm's reach, until the planter called to him and dabbled his fingers in the water much as one attracts a kitten by scratching on the carpet.

The distant flukes made a half turn in the water, and the whale moved easily toward us and ranged up alongside, just touching the boat. The planter reached over the gunwale and gave the whale a slap between the ear and eye, and bade him turn on the other side.

Immediately the great head sank, passed under the boat, and came up dripping on the other side. Then the sea monst r sculled ahead until it was 600 or 700 feet away from the boat. Then it began a series of antics, and displayed an agility scarcely to be expected from so large an animal. It darted straight ahead, it suddenly backed water, it swam in a circle, it gamboled like a dolphin, it threw itself clear from the water, making a great splash and dangerous waves when it fell back; last of all it put its head down and flukes up, throwing nearly half its length into the air, and rose quietly beside the boat. Then the chopped meat was thrown overboard, and we rowed back to shore while this odd pet was feeding.

"How did I get him?" said the planter. in answer to my flood of questions. "It might be more accurate to say he got me first. One day, some years ago, I was chopped meat to bait a pool in the reef beyond. All at once I felt the boat lifted was the whale feeding on the meat which had been scattered all about. He was only 20 feet long then, but that was quite long enough to give me a good scare, in addition to my ducking. Somehow or other he never seemed able to find the pass back into the sea, and now he is so big that he could not get out if he wished to. From being afraid of him I grew reconciled to his presence in the lagoon, and at last I began to feed him. "From that time he attached himself to me, and I found that he relished being petted. Once, when I was ill, I left him untended for several weeks. He came down the lagoon much further than usual, and at last ran himself aground just below my house, and had to wait several hours for the tide to float him off. That shows that he missed me. Here is another example of his intelligence. When the boys drum upon the bottom of the boat, he hears the sound a long distance under the water, and at once comes to the surface. Then, if I blow the horn, he knows that I have come out to feed him, and comes quickly to the boat. But close, but frolies around us at long range. It is not easy to say how much intelligence a whale has, but this ought to convince any one that my big pet is possessed of considerable."

When the Salvation Army Was Started. The Salvation Army has been in existence just 13 years. It had its origin in a sensational way in fhe English town of Whitby, in the rough coal mining district of Yorkshire, where General Booth, at that time Rev. William Booth, was doing humble missionary work. England was then in arms, expecting to jump into the Russo-Turkish war. It occurred to Booth that he might attract a crowd by issuing a declaration of war humor, there was a "red hot, rousing meeting," to quote General Booth, "the penitent fell down in heaps," and the Salvation Army sprang into life full

There is more Catarrh in this sec tion of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by con-stantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hun dred dollars for any case it tails to cure. Send for circulars and testimo-

NO HABITATION.

There can be no nabitation in the blood or body for poisonous microbes when Swift's Specific enters the system. It changes the character of the blood so that the germs must either perish or get out, and of course they leave. S. S. S. also forces out the poison which the microbes have left behind. If there is a sore or ulcer the poison comes out through that, otherwise through the skin.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very, bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

The Best Authorities.

Such as Dr. Dio Lewis, Prof. Gross and others, agree that catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It therefore requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which effectually and permanently cures catarrh. Thousands praise it.
