The other three fourths in one year with interest from confirmation absolute. Deed at the expense of the purchaser. All personal property and grain in the ground reserved. Possession will be given upon the payment of the one fourth of the purchase money.

GRANT HERRING, Atty. EDWARD EVERETT, Executor.

The Way of It.

From the New York Ledger.
When most pretty girls who are also poor reach 19 they become engaged to some poor young man and as he hasn't the money to marry on they wait until he has saved it. If the young man is improvident the process is a long and tiresome one.

While the young man is having a good time, spending sixty cents out of each spare dollar and saving forty cents for his marriage, the girl is growing a little older, a little more care-worn and wasting her youth in caring for a man who, in most cases, finds some one more attractive and breaks the engagement.

If girls will look around at girls who have "waited" for such a man they will hesitate before entering upon an engagement that promises to be fruitless, and that leaves them worn out and with no faith in human nature.

Very often a girl who is waiting for an improvident young man to become rich is a slave to the caprices of a man who finally deserts her. Very often under such circumstances a woman accuses the world of faults it is not guilty of.

In a way men take very good care of themselves, for the reason that they accept the lessons of life, hard though they sometimes are; but women make the mistake of trusting too much and suffering for it.

Abraham Lincoln and Men of War Times.

BY THE VETERAN JOURNALIST, COL. A. K. McCLURE, LL. D., EDITOR IN-CHIEF OF THE PHILADELPHIA TIMES.

COL. McCLURE needs no introduction to the public. He is well and widely known as a forceful and perspicacious writer, as a close and sagacious student of men and events, as a writer of experiences, extraordinary alike in scope and interest.

Of the many books that have been published relating to Abraham Lincoln and his administration, this is among the most interesting and valuable. It is not a biography of Lincoln, nor a history of the Civil War, but it presents a series of pictures of Lincoln in his relation to the great events of his time and to the distinguished men who surrounded him, from the point of view of an experienced observer who was closely associated with the political movement of the day, and was frequently called in to the confidential councils of the President.

Mr. McClure records in this book only those things of which he had personal knowledge, or which came to his knowledge directly, and his personal recollections of Lincoln present a truthful and vivid portrait of that great man at many of the critical periods of his life, such as has not been presented before. The revelations of Lincoln's judgment and skill as a politician are particularly interesting, because this side of his character was known to comparatively few now living, although it formed an essential element in the public history of war times.

The successive chapters describe the relations of Lincoln with the members of his cabinet, the leaders in Congress, the Commanders of the Armies and others of the prominent men about him, whose various and often conflicting efforts and ambitions he so wisely combined to the service of the country. The book is written with entire independence and freedom from partisanship or prejudice, in a spirit of just appreciation, and each chapter gives a clear, complete and considerate historical judgment of the subject to which it relates.

THE CHILDREN'S health must not be neglected. Cold in the head causes catarrh. Ely's Cream Balm cures at once. It is perfectly safe and is easily applied in the nostrils. The worst cases yielding to it. Price 50c.

ONE of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and, much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

The plague of breaking lamp-chimneys is abroad in the land.

There are two sorts of chimneys; brittle and tough. Ninety-nine in a hundred are brittle. The worst are imported from Germany. The best are Macbeth's "Pearl-top" & "Pearl-glass."

Two sorts as to workmanship; fine and coarse. The fine are Macbeth's "Pearl-top" and "Pearl-glass." The coarse are rough and out of proportion; misfits and misshapen; they do not make a good draft; they smoke.

Two sorts as to glass; transparent and gray. "Pearl-top" and "Pearl-glass" are clear, fine and tough—not tough against accident—tough against heat. Call for "Pearl-top" or "Pearl-glass" chimneys.

A FORTUNE

Inherited by few, is pure blood, free from hereditary taint. Catarrh, consumption, rheumatism, Scrofula, and many other maladies born in the blood, can be effectually eradicated only by the use of powerful alternatives. The standard specific for this purpose—the one best known and approved—is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the compound, concentrated extract of Honduras sarsaparilla, and other powerful alteratives.

"I consider that I have been

several hundred dollars' expense, by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and would strongly urge all who are troubled with lameness or rheumatic pains to give it a trial. I am sure it will do them permanent good, as it has done me."—Mrs. Joseph Wood, West Plattsburgh, N. Y.

Dr. J. W. Shields, of Smithville, Tenn., says: "I regard Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best blood medicine on earth, and know of many wonderful cures effected by its use."

"For many years I was laid up with Scrofula, no treatment being of any benefit. At length I was recommended to give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a trial. I did so, and about a dozen bottles, was restored to perfect health—weighing 230 pounds—and am now a believer in the merits of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—James Petsy, Mine Boss, Breckenridge Coal Co. (Limited), Victoria, B. C.

One of Dean Burgon's Stories.
A story of Dean Burgon's was about a friend's experience in a conjuror's exhibition. On entering with the crowd the friend felt somebody at his coat pocket and expected to find his handkerchief gone. Instead he found two wooden dolls in his pocket.
"Oh, no doubt," he thought, "the conjuror is going to make game of me by pretending that he has conjured these dolls into my pocket, but I will be more than a match for him."
The two dolls were promptly transferred to the pocket of a stout gentleman in front, and from him the original victim of the conjuror's confederate took care to sit at a distance.
By-and-by the conjuror, pretending to throw dolls among the audience, said, pointing to Dean Burgon's friend,—
"I think if that gentleman will do me the favor to look in his pocket he will find that he has the dolls."
Dean Burgon, telling the story at a breakfast, acted the visitor, exhibiting his coat pockets in proof of their being empty. Standing up on his chair at the breakfast table, and turning his back, he pulled out the linings of his pocket and showed them in an empty and flaccid state. Then, turning around, he said,—
"No, I don't carry about dolls in my pocket; but I shouldn't wonder if that stout gentleman yonder should find a doll or two in his."
Then he acted the stout gentleman, who, he explained, was a little irritable.
"What, me, sir? What do you mean, sir? I carry dolls?"
Then he put his hands into his pockets and made believe to bring out the dolls, with a look of amazement and horror—a quasi guilty look, which, as he did it, was indescribably ludicrous. The audience, he continued, were convulsed. But oh, the poor conjuror! How heavily the wheels of his entertainment seemed to drag all night afterward! Outdone in a trick by one of his spectators, who might, for all he knew, be a great adept in legerdemain, a Prospero or a Merlin.

A large and complete line of Wall Paper at Mercer's Drug and Book Store.

Some one has said that a bargain is an article sold under its real value. Some advertisers are not believers in this theory or are as economical of the truth as they are with their bargains.

But 'an honest tale speeds best being plainly told.' This is our purpose in offering Wall paper bargains. They are bargains because they are as we represent them, full length, full weight, bona-fide goods.

We know one instance of a bargain in wall paper which after it was on the walls lead pencil marks showed through. Whose was the bargain? Come and see us before buying elsewhere.
