It Should be in Every House.

J. E. Wilson, 371 Clay Street, Sharpsburg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with Pneumonia after an attack of "La Grippe," when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cookport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for Lung Trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free Trial Bottles at C. A. Klein's Drug Store. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

Lamp-chimneys cost so little that we let them go on breaking. We go on buying and grumbling.

What should we do? Get Macbeth's "Pearl-top" and "Pearl-glass," they are made of tough glass, tough against heat; they do not break in use; they do from accident.

They are fine, well made, exact; they fit the lamps they are made for; stand upright; the shade is right; they make a right draught for light; they are uniform. Both bear a label for your protection. Look for it. Be willing to pay a nickel more and stop this constant expense and annoyance.

Pittsburgh, Pa. Gro. A. Macbeth Co.

Some one has said that a bargain is an article sold under its real value. Some advertisers are not believers in this theory or are as economical of the truth as they are with their bargains.

But "an honest tale speeds best being plainly told." This is our purpose in offering Wall paper bargains. They are bargains because they are as we represent them, full length, full weight, bona-fide goods.

We know one instance of a bargain in wall paper which after it was on the walls lead pencil marks showed through. Whose was the bargain? Come and see us before buying elsewhere.

HOMESTEAD'S TARIFF LESSON.

Salt Horse and Hard Tack Instead of the Promised Roast Beef.

The most potent tariff lesson of the year is Fort Frick, which Scotchman Carnegie has built around his protected steel works near Pittsburgh to keep his "protected" working people from tearing his temple of Mammon to pieces.

These are the working people whom the tariff framed by Carnegie's friend McKinley was to make the lords of creation; whose pay was to be increased indefinitely; who were to grow fat on roast beef and plum pudding; who were to revel in luxury on taxes forced by the robber tariff from the farmer, merchant and professional man.

The heyday of their opulence has been postponed from time to time while they have been faithfully adhering to the party of monopoly and fraud and waiting with growing impatience for the dawn of their millennium.

When the delusion can no longer be kept up, the Pennsylvania dupes of the tariff brace game get a rude though instructive lesson in the economies of politics. With his pockets lined with ill gotten gains Carnegie, like the charlatan prophet of a false creed, takes himself far away from the scene of his knavery, well out of earshot of his victims' angry curses.

Then, while he takes his ease in that notable Scotch castle, his man Frick calmly notifies the men at Carnegie's Pennsylvania mills that this isn't the year for roast beef and plum pudding; that salt horse and hard tack are good enough for hirelings, and in short that they must accept wages reduced by 20 or 60 per cent. or tramp. If they object at all blumpiously to doing the one or the other they will be scalded with hot water or shocked to death with the latest electric devices.—St. Louis Republic.

It Will Not Deceive Any One.

The Republicans cannot extract much comfort from the action of Typographical union, No. 6, in declaring confidence in the men who tried to pledge the printers to Whitelaw Reid. The facts are that Reid fought organized labor for years by fair means and by foul. He never lost an opportunity to injure the organization. The peace which he is said to have made with the union will not deceive anybody. It is a trade pure and simple, and the man himself stands just where he did when he made The Tribune a rat office. Men do not change their convictions in a night, but they sometimes barter them for a nomination to the vice presidency.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Cleveland Is no Word Juggler.

The partisan organs now so persistently asserting that the Democratic issue of tariff reform means free trade and the destruction of American industries have with equal persistency declared Mr. Cleveland a free trader and a radical. But no amount of assertion can make a man what he is not. Mr. Cleveland has never sought to juggle with words and confuse the people of the United States as to his views on the tariff. Should he be elected those views would determine the policy of the administration.—Buffalo Enquirer.

The King of the Protected.

Andrew Carnegie has fallen into discredit among the Republican leaders, by whom he has always been held in high regard, because he is forcing many thousands of employees to resist a reduction of wages. The cut down of the earnings of iron and steel workers proposed by the firm of which Mr. Carnegie is the head will put $1,200,000 into their pockets annually, a grab from the wages of the men which millionaires of the Carnegie greed cannot resist.—Harrisburg Star (Ind.).

The Purest Moonshine.

The talk about breaking the solid south is all moonshine. If Republican success did not clearly menace the south with another force bill and the consequent revival of the race question, one or two of the southern states might possibly be fighting ground. As it is there is not the least likelihood that Mr. Harrison will get a single electoral vote from that part of the country.—Boston Globe.

An Ominous Opening.

The campaign opens ominously for the party of the so called protective tariff. Labor riots, strikes and lockouts all over the country make the outlook particularly dismal for the ticket which contains the name of Whitelaw Reid.—Buffalo Enquirer.

A Superfluity of Love.

Those who propose to love Harrison for the enemies he has made must expect to indulge in a great deal of affection. In the way of making enemies Harrison's record is brilliant, if not unrivaled.—New York World.

Must Cringe to Platt Again.

Ex-Senator Platt still holds his grip on the New York machine, every one of his old lieutenants being re-elected to their places on the state committee. The administration must make terms with Platt.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Widespread Demand.

The national convention in making Grover Cleveland its nominee acted in response to the demand so widespread, so enthusiastic and so insistent that it could not be resisted.—San Francisco Examiner.

Not McKinley-Fattened.

Canada is praying for rain. It is a cheaper plan than ours of paying for it out of the federal treasury; but then Canada is not a prosperous, McKinley-fattened country.—Philadelphia Record.

New Kind of Protection.

Mr. Carnegie's kind of protection is now secured by detectives with seven footers.—Chicago News-Record.

As Like as Two P's.

Pinkertonism and protection are as like as two P's.—Philadelphia Record.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Stands at the head of all blood medicines. This position it has secured by its intrinsic merit, sustained by the opinion of leading physicians, and by the certificates of thousands who have successfully tested its remedial worth. No other medicine so effectually

CURES

Scrofula, boils, pimples, rheumatism, catarrh, and all other blood diseases.

"There can be no question as to the superiority of Ayer's Sarsaparilla over all other blood-purifiers. If it was not the case, the demand for it, instead of increasing yearly, would have ceased long ago, like so many other medicines I could name."—F. L. Nickerson, Druggist, 75 Chelsea st., Charlestown, Mass.

"Two years ago I was troubled with salt-rheum. It was all over my body, and nothing the doctors did for me was of any avail. At last I took four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was completely cured. I can sincerely recommend it as a splendid blood-purifier."—J. S. Burt, Upper Keswick, New Brunswick.

"My sister was afflicted with a severe case of

SCROFULA

Our doctor recommended Ayer's Sarsaparilla as being the best blood-purifier within his experience. We gave her this medicine, and a complete cure was the result."—Wm. O. Jenkins, Dewese, Neb.

"When a boy I was troubled with a blood disease which manifested itself in sores on the legs. Ayer's Sarsaparilla being recommended, I took a number of bottles, and was cured. I have never since that time had a recurrence of the complaint."—J. C. Thompson, Lowell, Mass.

"I was cured of Scrofula by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—John C. Berry, Deerfield, Mo.

Franklin and Tilden as Will-Makers.

From the Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph. Benjamin Franklin made a more substantial will than did Samuel J. Tilden. The latter's testamentary desires were ignored by the courts of New York, soon after his death, but after more than a century the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania declares that the will of the former must stand. The discoverer of electricity left a fund to enable mechanics to marry. His heirs of the present day, who do not want mechanics to marry at the expense of Franklin's estate, asked the court to turn the money over to them, but the court said them nay.
