THE COLUMBIAN.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, JULY 29, 1892.

Camp meeting at Rupert Sunday was largely attended.

This is hot weather for candidates. Fortunately there are but few offices to fill.

According to the statements published last week, the two national banks of Towanda have on deposit nearly $1,500,000.

The members of the Catholic churches of Danville and Bloomsburg will hold a picnic at Rupert on Saturday.

A Towanda lady who bought seven lots at Eaglesmere about nine years ago, for $700, sold them last week for $6,000. A pretty good speculation that.

La Vallette Commandery Knights of Malta will take an excursion to Central on the B. & S. on Saturday, July 30th. Everybody is invited.

The hot wave reached here on Sunday. The thermometer ranged from 94 to 102 in the shade. It continued until Wednesday night when there was a slight change.

There will be a festival in the grove of Mr. E. M. Laubach, Forks, on the afternoon an evening of Saturday, August 6.

"I would like to sound the praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla over the entire universe," writes Mrs. Longenecker of Union Deposit, Penn.

The dining room at Philips' Cafe has been enlarged by taking out a part of the hall, removing a partition and lowering the floor. New windows have been put in the front.

The Bloomsburg Bazaar company had a big sale on Saturday. They handle horses, wagons, harness, furniture, stocks, or any thing saleable, for a reasonable commission.

C. B. Christman had a large green turtle sent to him last week that weighed 200 pounds. He cut it up and sold it to his customers for soup and steaks.

A union Missionary Service will be held in the Lutheran church next Sunday evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society, to be addressed by Dr. Neal, who has recently returned from China.

C. Mears & Son have erected a fire hydrant near their factory, in compliance with the condition imposed by the Town Council in exonerating them from town taxes for ten years. The exonerating of this enterprising firm was an act of justice, as their factory is as deserving of such consideration as any other industry in town.

Gera Hower died at his residence on Seventh street on Sunday evening, after a long illness. His age was sixty eight years, and he leaves a wife and four children, the latter all grown up. He was born in Locust township and learned the carpenter's trade. In 1881 he moved to Bloomsburg, and has resided here ever since. The funeral took place Wednesday, and the remains were taken to Numidia.

There will be a Union Basket Picnic Excursion under the auspices of the Sunday School of Orangeville to Central Park on Friday, August 5th, all neighboring Sunday Schools and friends along the line are cordially invited. The train will start from Bloomsburg and will leave Orangeville about 8:30 A. M. Should Friday be too inclement the excursion will take place the next day.

A class of the Loyal Temperance Legion, pursuing the regular study of manuals, meets every Friday evening at the home of M. P. Lutz on Third street. This class expects to complete the study of the first year before the State convention which meets at Millville on the 17th and 18th of August.

The graduates of this year, who are fortunate enough to be at the convention, will have the great pleasure of receiving their Diplomas from the hand of the National Superintendent, Mrs. Helen C. Seice.

The phenomenal success of Ayer's Sarsaparilla started into existence a host of competitors. This, of course, was to be expected; but the effect has been to demonstrate the superior merits of Dr. Ayer's preparation by a constantly increasing demand for it.

COUNTY COMMITTEE MEETING.

The members of the Democratic Standing Committee met at the Court House last Saturday afternoon, in pursuance of the call by chairman John R. Townsend, for the purpose of making an apportionment of delegates to the county convention, in the several districts. The following members were present: Beaver, Jesse Rittenhouse; Benton, John A. Chapin; Bloom, 3rd district, J. R. Townsend; Bloom, 4th district, Lee Harman; Briarcreek, Wm. Ash; Centralia, 2nd ward, John Langon; Centre, A. D. Brader; Conyngham, N. B. J. Doyle; Conyngham, S., Joseph Patton; Conyngham, W., John Heffron; Fishingcreek, L. Beishline; Greenwood, E., Adam Utt; Greenwood W. Eyer Allen; Hemlock, S. W. Gilton; Madison, Chas. Fruit; Millville Borough, Wm. Demott; Montour, Jas. Quick; Mt. Pleasant, F. P. Davis; Orange, J. B. Delong; Sugarloaf S., W. A. Kile.

The chairman stated that if the delegates were apportioned in accordance with the last Governor's vote there would be eighty-six delegates in the convention, which is one or more than is allowed under the rules of the party, and suggested that the township having the lowest approximate vote lose the delegate. Upon examination, it was discovered that at the last gubernatorial election Briarcreek township had cast 161 Democratic votes and Centre 165.

After some discussion, motion one delegate was taken from the representation of Briarcreek. On motion of B. J. Doyle, of N. Conyngham, and seconded by Chas. Fruit, of Madison, it was resolved to recommend to the next County Convention the advisability of revising the rules of the Democratic party of Columbia County, relative to the representation of election districts, to meet the requirements of the increased number of the same. The meeting then adjourned. The following is the apportionment made, the first column being the old number and the second column the new.

Not in the Ghost Business Now.

From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
"Near Found du Lac, Wis., there used to be a farm house that was reputed to be haunted," said Chris Booth at the Laclade. "It was an old, deserted, tumble-down affair, in which a pack peddler was once found with his throat cut. One night a party of eight or ten wild young fellows went out to the house determined to capture his ghostship. After spending a couple of hours at the lonely place, and finding no ghost, we started home. We were walking down the railroad tract through a large cornfield, when suddenly a white object sprang out of the corn and rushed toward us, uttering shrieks evidently intended to be appalling. Did we run? Not much. We were out hunting ghosts, and were overjoyed to have one rush up to us. We advanced upon it, and it changed its mind and made good time in the other direction. We captured it and tied it to a telegraph pole. It protested that it was no ghost, but only a Fond du Lac clerk, who had come out to have a little fun with us, and that its hunger for hilarity was now satisfied; but we didn't believe it. We tied it up securely and went on, supposing that another party, some distance behind us, would tie it loose. Instead of that they shot at it a couple of times, then came in and alarmed the town. Four big policemen went out on a handcar and brought it in. It was a terribly cool ghost. A white shirt and a pair of low-cut shoes made rather a scant toilet for a November night in Wisconsin. The young man was furnished with a second-hand pair of pants and permanently retired from the ghost business."

THE KING'S DAUGHTERS

ORIGIN AND ORGANIZATION OF THE WELL-KNOWN ORDER.

As there is an organization of the King's Daughters in Bloomsburg, the following article from the Philadelphia Times will be read with interest: King's Daughters in a democratic country, where the stars and stripes wave supreme? Yes, hundreds of them, too, in all the States and nearly every city from the Golden Gate to Plymouth Rock, from the Peninsular State to the farthest north. A Maltese cross, a knot of royal purple ribbon, perhaps a tiny silver ring or the pretty violet stationery are about the only outward insignia of the royalty, for the King's Daughters are to be all glorious within, not dwellers in palaces, but simply a sisterhood of service.

The name "King's Daughters" has come to have quite a familiar sound to it, but a large majority of people, including many intelligent church-goers are entirely ignorant of the origin of the society and the character and scope of its work.

ORIGIN OF THE ORDER.

On the back of the little cross which is the seal of the order is engraved "1886," which marks the year of its organization. Sixteen years ago, one winter day there met at the residence of Mrs. Margaret Bottomo a little band of earnest Christian women prompted by the feeling that they could best glorify God by benefiting their fellow creatures. Long and earnest was the debate on "What shall we do?" "How shall it be done?" "Where shall we begin?"—perplexing questions answered one by one after timely consideration. "They bound themselves together by a triple cord, whose stands were Faith, Hope and Charity, and decided to organize into an order or sisterhood of service, hoping by this closer union to increase their usefulness manifold."

Such is the simple story of the origin of the order of Christian service, called the King's Daughters. From this little circle of ten women who believed that much was to be gained by taking hold of hands has grown a society numbering many thousands.

Little by little around the primary "circle," now known as the "Central Council," others have formed until the whole world is encircled. Across in merry England and sunny France, in central South America is worn the Maltese cross. Even in Calcutta a King's Daughter labors from day to day with 1,400 little Hindoo children.

AN UNSECTARIAN ORDER.

The non-sectarian character of the order necessarily multiplies its opportunities and enlarges the sphere of its usefulness. It does not attempt to define any creed nor lay down any denominational tenets. Article III of the constitution specifically declares that "any person may become a member of this order whose purposes and aims are in accord with its object (that she will endeavor to develop spiritual life and Christian activity in herself and others), and who holds herself responsible to the King, our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ."

The largest liberality is allowed in the choice of a field of labor; and it is not a Methodist, Presbyterian or Baptist heart that beats under the little silver cross, but one longing to do some good "in His name."

FORMED INTO TENS AND CIRCLES.

According to the original plan, the various societies as they were formed came to be known by the name of "tens;" but as the work advanced the formation of bands of "tens" gave way to "circles" numbering many more, and sometimes less than ten. The membership fee is ten cents, to be paid annually to the treasurer of the order. The badge of membership is the purple ribbon, or the Maltese cross engraved with the letters I. H. N. bearing the date 1886 on the reverse side, but the wearing of the badge is not obligatory. Indeed there are daughters of the King, poor but precious in His eyes, who cannot afford to buy a cross.

The various mottoes, "Look Up and Not Down," "Look Forward and Not Back," "Look Out and Not In," and since "to look upward is to trust, to look forward is to hope, and to look outward is to feel the woes of others, forgetting our own, and to lend a hand is only love in action," suggest the great idea of helpfulness which is the inspiration of King's daughters work.

This "helpfulness" has been shown in as many ways as there are circles of young and old, rich and poor, strong and weak King's Daughters. Indeed the "shut ins," as the invalid sisters are known, help as much in their own way as the more active members.

WORKS OF CHARITY.

A "Helping Ten" adopts as its special work ministering to the sick, clothing the naked, feeding the hungry, perhaps giving a cup of cold water to a little one, for no service should be too great nor yet too small for a King's Daughter. The "Missionary Ten" visits the poor, sings in the long hospital ward or carries there a bunch of posies bright. A "Dorcas Ten" sews for a little baby whose mother's fingers are willing but too busy.

With the children fairs, flower missions, fresh air funds, and doll societies are the most popular, but some wear the cross for "nasty tempers," or as another little girl expressed it: "This is to help me mind my mamma."

These are a few out of many examples; but they serve to illustrate the mission of the King's Daughters to attain higher life and to do all things "in his name."

The Governor's Policy the Best.

From the Pittsburg Post.
Governor Pattison has met every emergency of this disheartening business. Neither life, person nor property has suffered since the matter was subject to his action, while the disturbing elements have calmed down and are open to reason and authority. Go back to 1877 and compare the needless and reckless way disorganized and inefficient troops were thrown into the disturbed district, with the killing and destruction of property that followed—compare these well-remembered events, we say, with the well-considered, well-ordered and self-possessed action of Governor Pattison in the movement now culminating with an efficiency that promises the best results without riot or bloodshed, and we see the advantage of having a man like Pattison at the head of affairs.

A Little Girls Experience in a Lighthouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich. and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last winter she was taken down with Measles, followed with a dreadful Cough and turning into a Fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones."—Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at C. A. Klein's Drugstore.

PURE OLD RYE AND WHEAT WHISKEY.

We formerly had bonded warehouse room sufficient to store 8,000 gallons of whiskey, which we considered a stock sufficient to meet our trade, but we found however, the demand for our whiskey such, that for us to be able to get a larger stock of old whiskey, we were compelled to increase our storage room and have just completed an Ironed bonded warehouse with a capacity sufficient to store 30,000 gallons of whiskey.

We aim to sell no whiskey less than one year old and from that on up to the oldest we have in stock except in original packages, thereby giving our patrons the benefit of the age.

What we claim over a great many other distillers: FIRST: Briarcreek being a rich fertile valley, we are able to get a superior quality of grain to manufacture our whiskey from.
SECOND: Having our distilling mill in connection with our distillery we clean all our grain for distillation over a rigid process of the smelter, thereby making it as clean as the grain that is ground into flour.

THIRD: We hand mash, double distill our whiskey and then redistill on a copper still.
FOURTH: We wash our whiskey well thereby getting out the fuel oil and all impurities, which new whiskey contains.

FIFTH: We use no second-hand barrels, our whiskey is all put in new, clean, Indiana White Oak barrels which is considered the best barrel in the market.

SIXTH: It is a known fact that the hotter whiskey is kept the faster it will age, therefore we heat our bonded warehouse with steam so the thermometer will register 70 degrees, when the temperature is at zero.

We have never distilled any corn, and do hereby guarantee all our whiskey positively pure rye or wheat and for purity and quality we defy competition, and to any person who will find any poisonous drug in our whiskey, put in by us, as it leaves our distillery or sales-room we will forfeit $200.00.
