The plague of breaking lamp-chimneys is abroad in the land. There are two sorts of chimneys; brittle and tough. Ninety-nine in a hundred are brittle. The worst are imported from Germany. The best are Macbeth's "Pearl-top" & "Pearl-glass."

Two sorts as to workmanship; fine and coarse. The fine are Macbeth's "Pearl-top" and "Pearl-glass." The coarse are rough and out of proportion; misfits and misshapen; they do not make a good draft; they smoke.

Two sorts as to glass; transparent and gray. "Pearl-top" and "Pearl-glass" are clear, fine and tough—not tough against accident—tough against heat.

Call for "Pearl-top" or "Pearl-glass" chimneys. Pittsburgh, Pa. Geo. A. Macbeth Co.

Some one has said that a bargain in an article sold under its real value. Some advertisers are not believers in this theory or are as economical of the truth as they are with their bargains.

But "an honest tale speeds best being plainly told." This is our purpose in offering Wall paper bargains. They are bargains because they are as we represent them, full length, full weight, bona-fide goods.

We know one instance of a bargain in wall paper which after it was on the walls lead pencil marks showed through. Whose was the bargain?

Come and see us before buying elsewhere. W. H. BROOKE & Co.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, July 25, 1892.

Senator Hill does not as a rule dignify with a denial any of the numerous "fakes" published about him in republican papers, and he did not authorize me to deny the latest, that he was contemplating an early resignation from the Senate, but anyone at all acquainted with the character of the man should know that he would not have used a republican paper, or in fact any paper at all to have made the announcement, even if he actually did intend to resign. There are other reasons which make it certain that Hill has no present intention of resigning, but I am not at liberty to give them at this time. There is, however, one thing that may be said for the special benefit of those who predicted differently. Senator Hill proposes taking a very active part in carrying New York for Cleveland and Stevenson and in electing a democratic legislature, which will elect Senator Hiscocks successor, and his activity is not to be on paper, but on the stump in every section of the State.

This will probably be the last week of the present session of Congress, unless there shall be a dead lock between the House and Senate on the World's Fair appropriation, and that is not regarded by those who ought to be best informed as probable. A member of the House Appropriation bill said this morning that he did not think the attempt of the republicans to make political capital out of the democratic opposition to the appropriation would influence any votes when the question comes up again on the report of the conference committee to the House, but that those democrats who voted against it on Constitutional grounds would be satisfied with having put themselves on record and would not filibuster in anyway to prevent the House receding from its previous position, if those favoring the appropriation can muster a majority, and it is generally believed that they can.

As soon as the World's Fair appropriation is disposed of the House will be ready to adjourn, and unless the anti-option bill, now before the Senate, shall prove a stumbling block, the Senate will raise no objection. The supporters of the anti-option bill in the Senate say that it has been demonstrated that they are in a majority and that they intend to pass the bill before adjourning, but the opposition is very determined minority and they say they will talk all summer, if necessary to prevent a vote being taken on the bill. There is good deal of "bluff" in both statements, and if the World's Fair appropriation be disposed of the very warm weather will do the rest, and adjournment may be looked for at once.

Lots of silly twaddle has been sent out from Washington during the last two or three days about the democratic Senators having agreed to aid Senator Cameron and Quay to bring about the rejection of the nomination of Mr. Shiras, of Pennsylvania, in the hope that the vacancy might eventually be secured by a democrat. It is all rot. A member of the Judiciary committee said on the subject: "There has been no agreement among democrats, and the committee in deferring action on the nomination at the request of the Senator from Mr. Shiras' State only acted in accordance with precedent. As no charges have been made against Mr. Shiras I expect to see his nomination confirmed this week."

Col. Oates, chairman of the Pinkerton Investigating committee, has only one arm, but he has nerve enough for a man with a dozen arms, and it was not surprising therefore that when John Devlin, one of the Knights of Labor executive committee, intimated to him that he had favored the Pinkertons in their examination that he should have responded with language which always means fight in Col. Oates' section, and he would have followed it up with a blow had Devlin not been taken away.

So much has been said about the opposition to Mr. Cleveland among those democrats who favor free coinage and of threats being made by them of bolting the ticket, that I went to Representative Bland, of Missouri, who during the several silver contests of the present session was everywhere recognized as the leader of the silver democrats, just before he left Washington to do a little campaign work, in search of information. He said in answer to question: "Yes, we silver democrats were disappointed, and we are still a little mad, too, about our second defeat; but not one of us has ever had the remotest idea of bolting the ticket of our Party. I expect to take the stump for Cleveland and Stevenson, and I expect that every democrat who voted for free coinage will do the same."

Mr. Harrison succeeded in convincing the democratic members of the House committee on Foreign Affairs of the necessity for railroading through the House the bill authorizing him to retaliate upon Canadian vessels for Canadian discriminations against American vessels, and the same bill, after statement made by members of the Foreign committee, in executive session, was unanimously

THE MOST RELIABLE

To correct the constipated habit, remove sick-headache, relieve dyspepsia, to purify the blood, cure jaundice, liver complaint, and biliousness, Ayer's Pills are unequalled. They are an excellent after-dinner pill, assisting the process of digestion, and cleansing and strengthening the alimentary canal. When taken on the invasion of a cold or a fever, they effectually prevent further progress of the disease. Being sugar-coated and purely vegetable, they are the best and always give satisfaction."—Harry Robinson, 52 E. Pearl St., Fair Haven, Conn. "For a long time I was a sufferer from stomach, liver, and kidney troubles, and having tried a variety of remedies, with only temporary relief, I began, about three months ago, the use of Ayer's Pills, and already my health is so much improved that I gladly testify to the superior merits of this cathartic."—Manoel Jorge Pereira, Oporto, Portugal.

passed by the Senate, although a number of democratic Senators doubted the wisdom of placing such autocratic power in the hands of the President.

For the Mountains and by the Seaside.

A drowsy August afternoon, the light shimmering through the dense leaves of the broad spreading beech-trees; a figure lying upon the grass holding in his hand a Magazine—not too heavy—just heavy enough for easy holding—the COSMOPOLITAN, for August; just the sort of reading matter for a midsummer afternoon—full of attractive illustrations; scenes and life in the far off Philippine Islands, with an experience of an earthquake; photographs of the Atlantic Beach accompanying a charming sketch of Jersey's "Salt-Water Day," by Hamlin Garland; charming Spanish bits by the artist Chase; lovely vistas, and enticing groves, illustrating a California Farm Village, in which Col. Fitzsimmons describes the growth and development of a model community of fruit farms. Of the fiction, Henry James' "Jersey Villas" makes delightful midsummer reading and there is an odd story of Southern Life, while Curiosities of Musical Literature will furnish a half-hour's entertainment for every lover of music. English high society is always an interesting subject when discussed by one who is of it, and knows it thoroughly. Henry Arthur Herbert of Mucross, formerly an Officer of the Guards and an M. P., gives in an entertaining way the cause of the revolution which has taken place in the society of London during the past thirty years. Even Murat Halstead's description of the Convention at Minneapolis is breezy and bright, and the beautiful photographs which illustrate an article on Bridges and Bridge Building would attract a very unscientific reader. The one heavy article of the number is that of the famous English writer on Evolution, St. George Mivart. It is a part of the discussion in which he seeks to harmonize the principles of Evolution with the doctrines of Christianity—one of the most important series of papers ever produced in a Magazine, and attracting the widest attention among religious and scientific minds, both in England and this country.

THEY SELL WIND. A Great and Curious Trade That Has Sprung Up of Late Years. "Leave orders for oxygen under the door" is the odd legend that greets the eye in the second floor hall of an upper Broadway building. The door in question leads to the living apartments, to use a complimentary plural, of the dealer in oxygen. His office is the front hall room on the same floor, sufficiently cramped quarters for one whose stock in trade is of so expansive a nature. He is one of a great many persons whose business it is to purvey wind, sweetened and otherwise, to the inhabitants of this town. The sale of invisible and almost intangible and imponderable merchandise is one of the most curious of the many strange business developments of this great community. You may buy bottled gases as you buy bottled beer, and have them delivered at your house as newspapers, or soda, or fresh vegetables are delivered. Oxygen, hydrogen, nitrogen and carbonic acid are sold daily as boots and shoes are sold. One factory sells 80,000 feet of oxygen per month, and keeps on hand nearly that quantity in storage tanks. That volume of the gas weighs more than a ton and a quarter. Several other concerns sell nearly as much more, and a large quantity of hydrogen is sold to go with it for use in producing the lime light at theaters, lectures and clinics. Besides this, oxygen and hydrogen are sold in mixtures of various proportions, and a great volume of nitrous oxide or laughing gas is sold to dentists, surgeons and hospitals. Not only are gases sold in large quantities to local consumers, but they are sent by express all over the country. Laughing gas, in particular, has an enormous sale in various parts of the United States, and is also shipped to the most remote parts of civilized South America. The express companies handle this peculiar freight without special charge, and the makers say that accidents never occur.—New York Sun.

Toothpicks. Polite folks are abolishing the use of toothpicks. They are used neither as a sideboard decoration nor as a centerpiece for the table. Neither are they served with the after-dinner coffee. It is not polite to pick the teeth at table; it is rather the act of a scavenger, even if the face and mouth are covered by a napkin, as some people seem to think is correct. Really refined people suffer pain rather than to offend in this manner. A person might just as well brush the teeth at a meal, and it would be quite as agreeable a diversion. The toothpick is properly an article of toilet and for the bathroom and the dressing-room, and not for the dining room. People do not clean their nails at the table, which would be far more preferable than the opening of cavernous mouths. The whole thing panders to a low taste instead of a refined one, and it is high time to abolish an obnoxious custom.
