We say to the District Attorney in reference to those returns generally that he take them in charge and inquire of the facts and circumstances of each case and in his discretion when he finds that the testimony upon the reports of constables warrants such action, he may draw up and present to the grand jury an indictment according to the return of the Constable. If on writing to the supervisors and on consultation with the Constables and other witnesses whose names are reported, he believes that the roads are in bad condition from the state of the weather, or the season of the year and that there has been no intentional delay or default by the supervisors, or other officers charged with the duty of keeping the highway in order, perhaps a letter of admonition will be sufficient. We leave it with the District Attorney to decide what action he should take in each case.
