

Democracy Aroused.

A Monster Meeting.

The Opera House Packed to Hear Attorney-General Hensel and Senator Herring.

Monday night belonged to the Democrats. The town was full of them. They came from Benton, Orangeville, Espy, Catawissa, Buck Horn, Light-street, and even as far as from Jamison City and Central to attend the monster meeting at the Opera House.

Vice Presidents—Col. J. G. Freeze, Chas. G. Berkeley, John Lockard, Wm. Rabby, Chas. Ohl, J. R. Townsend, F. D. Dentler, C. C. Trench, J. P. Hill, Dr. B. E. Gardner, Samuel Snyder, A. J. Derr, Judge Diavel, Wm. Case West, Secretaries—C. E. Randall and Fred Ikeler.

Senator Grant Herring was the first speaker, having consented at a late hour to take the place of Mr. Bower of Chambersburg, who was announced as one of the speakers, but was unable to come. Mr. Herring discussed the Force Bill and the tariff question in a very able manner, and held the interest and attention of the vast audience throughout. His oratorical powers are too well known here to need any mention. He made a good speech and was frequently interrupted by applause.

Attorney-General W. U. Hensel was warmly greeted. He is not known to Columbia county Democrats. He made a splendid speech, polished, finished, scholarly, gentlemanly throughout. There was no mud-slinging or blackguardism in either of the speeches. The Democrats are not resorting to that sort of thing. They expect to win by educating the people, and by sound reason and common sense, and not by calling names or attempting to defame the opposition.

It was half past ten when the meeting closed. Mr. Hensel took the eleven o'clock train for Milton, as he was obliged to return to Harrisburg.

The meeting was a great success in every way, and Chairman Mercer is to be congratulated for the admirable arrangements, and the successful result of his untiring efforts.

George Hohman has moved to Wilkesbarre.

Piles of people have piles, but De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve will cure them. W. S. Rishton, Druggist. 14-15-17.

William Kramer is putting down a concrete pavement in front of his property on Main Street, occupied by William Webb.

The Bloomsburg Cornet Band went to Milton last Friday with the Jr. O. U. A. M. The latter have new uniforms, and look very well.

C. H. Campbell is putting down a concrete pavement in front of his residence on Fifth street.

Have tried almost every known remedy for Itching Piles without success, finally bought a box of De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve, and it has cured me. C. D. Haskins, Peoria, Ill. W. S. Rishton, Druggist. 10-14-17.

L. E. Waller Esq., was in Chicago last week, and attended the opening exercises of the Columbian Exposition.

E. M. Kester lost a little son last week Tuesday, with membranous croup. He was aged three and a half years.

What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and then has the dyspepsia so bad that he can't enjoy any of the good things it contains? He won't have dyspepsia if he takes De Witt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Rishton, Druggist. 10-14-17.

Fashionable Livery.

The well known horseman has opened a fashionable livery in connection with his boarding stable at the Exchange Hotel Stables, where fine turnouts can be obtained, single or double. He has well broken and safe saddle and driving horses for ladies, all at reasonable rates. Orders left at the Exchange Hotel will receive prompt attention. Drivers furnished when desired.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24, 1892.

There is a hitch, in fact two hitches, in the republican programme. It was expected that Senator Quay would have been in New York a week ago, to remain until the campaign ended, for the purpose of aiding Mr. Carter in the work which Mr. Harrison has necessarily been compelled to give up. But Quay did not go to New York, and just as Mr. Harrison's friends were wondering what his alleged illness meant he turned up in Washington to tell them that he would not go to New York unless he was given certain assurances by words of mouth in the presence of at least two witnesses, from Mr. Harrison. He was told that it would be impossible for Mr. Harrison to meet him, owing to the condition of Mrs. Harrison. He still insisted, and said he would go back home to remain until after election if these promises were not made. The meeting was then arranged and Mr. Quay had a few minutes conversation with Mr. Harrison in the presence of three other gentlemen. Whether Mr. Harrison made the promises demanded of him cannot be stated with any degree of certainty at this time, but if Quay turns up in New York this week, as I believe he will, it may be set down as certain that he did. So much for hitch number one.

The other hitch concerned Mr. Blaine. The men who have for three years devoted their time and study to belittling everything done by Mr. Blaine and to showing that he was merely a humble instrument in the hands of the master statesman, Benjamin Harrison, suddenly woke up the other day to the necessity of obtaining the help of Mr. Blaine in the campaign. Then a scheme was hatched up to get Mr. Blaine to seem to take an active part in the campaign. Whitelaw Reid, Pat Egan and other personal friends of Mr. Blaine being utilized to persuade him into it. The first part of the scheme is now political history; Mr. Blaine was gotten to Whitelaw Reid's house and there made a short 'impromptu' speech, from carefully prepared type-written copy. Having succeeded so well the schemers then decided that Mr. Blaine must be kept in New York for the remainder of the campaign, in order that the impression might go out that he was aiding the republican national committee by his advice. There is where hitch number two came in. Mr. Blaine's Washington residence is already for the occupancy of himself and family, and his original intention was to have returned to it the middle of last week, but he has been persuaded under one or another pretext to remain in New York. He has advised his Washington friends that he will be here early this week, but Mr. Harrison's friends are determined to keep him in New York if it can possibly be done. His whereabouts for this and next week will show whether this hitch has been overcome or not.

Democratic confidence in the election of Cleveland and Stevenson and a democratic Congress increases every day, just as republican defeat increases. For nearly a week a local sporting man has advertised the fact that he had deposited $10,000 with a well known banking house with instructions to wager the whole or any part of it on the election of Cleveland, and that he was prepared to duplicate the amount as soon as this deposit was covered. Up to this writing not a dollar has been put against his money; no republican has sufficient courage to back his opinions with his money.

The loss of the control of the Senate in just beginning to be fully realized by the republicans. The latest democratic figures make the Senate stand after March 4, 1892, democrats 43, republicans 40, people's party 2, leaving the legislatures of Minnesota, Nebraska and Kansas, which are at present controlled by the people's party, in doubt. If the people's party can retain control of these legislatures or of any one of them, the number of people's party Senators will be increased; but even granting what few believe to be possible that the republicans will elect a majority of the legislatures in those three states and get the Senators, that would only give them a total of 43, against the same number of democrats, so that in any event the republicans are doomed to loose control of the Senate, unless they can capture the legislatures of some of the States now regarded as certainly democratic. This is very important, as it makes possible, after the election of Cleveland and Stevenson, an immediate revision of the tariff, as on that question the people's party senators will vote with the democrats, and there is little or no doubt that the next House will be democratic by a good working majority.

Upsetting Their Calculations.

The late Dr. Yandell was fond of telling the following joke: A lady patient one morning greeted him with the remark, "Doctor, I had such a singular dream about you last night." "Indeed. What was it?" "Why, I dreamed that I died and went to heaven. I knocked at the golden gate and was answered by Peter, who asked my name and address, and told the recording angel to bring his book. He had considerable difficulty in finding my name, and hesitated so long over the entry when he did find it, that I was terribly afraid something was wrong; but he suddenly looked up and asked, 'What did you say your name was?' I told him again. 'Why,' said he, 'you've no business here. You're not due these ten or fifteen years yet.'" "Well," said I, "Dr. Yandell said—" "Oh, you're one of Yandell's patients, are you? That accounts for it. Come right in! Come right in! that man's always upsetting our calculations in some way."

Jolly Congressmen.

Congressmen have queer appetites, and sometimes evince tastes not known to the epicure. At the older hotels in Washington, a fourth meal known as supper is served from nine o'clock to midnight, and this often becomes the jolliest feast of the day. Where a number of Congressmen are housed at one hotel, they form a large supper party, and from the hilarity that reigns a looker-on would imagine they were imbibing champagne or other exhilarating liquids without end. Often, however, if you could look over their shoulders, you would be astounded to see every one of those Congressmen eating bowls of innocent mush and milk. Another Congressional food is apples. It is a very familiar sight during the sessions of Congress to see a member of the House open his desk, extract a rosy apple, bring out a large jackknife from his pocket, and then seek the seclusion of the cloak-rooms to devour the feast.

A Desirable Possession.

The boy had been sitting for three hours watching the bob on his fishline when the man came along. "What are you doing there?" said the man. "Fishing," said the boy. "Got anything?" said the man. "Yep," said the boy. "What?" said the man. "Patience," said the boy; and the man offered him four dollars a week to come down to the rail-road office and answer questions.

Early Use of Coal.

London has the distinction of being the first city to use coal. This was in the latter part of the 12th century. Its use was prohibited shortly after its introduction, and one man was actually executed for violating this law.

THE CALIFORNIAN ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE

Published in San Francisco, California, has a circulation all over the world; its growth during one year is positively phenomenal in the annals of Magazine Literature, surpassing every other magazine in the world in the same space of time. The reasons are obvious. It is a strong financial backing. Its contents are replete with typical descriptions of California and Pacific Coast subjects—scenery, climate, fruit and flowers. Its range of topics is cosmopolitan, embracing sketches of European and oriental scenes and characteristics. It discusses without bias or partisan zeal the living questions of the day. It shows and controls its entire plant, including type, the largest presses on the coast, a complete half-tone and photo engraving outfit, and employs its own artists. Its standards are high. Its editorial, managerial, and literary capabilities of Western and Eastern are present only what is pure in tone; and instructive in matter and interesting in form. The price of this magazine is $3.00 a year, postage prepaid. The subscription list is increasing over twenty hundred a month, and it has a larger circulation than any other magazine in the world.
