Superstitions About Friday.

From Harper's Young People. Many years ago, when sailing-ships were the only means of communication between the different countries, superstition was more rife among sailors than at the present time. These absurd fancies were not confined to Jack alone, but they were shared in to a greater or less extent by ship-masters and owners. Friday was considered a day of evil, and the most malignant results were supposed to attend a voyage commenced on this day of the week. In those times he would indeed have been a reckless skipper who would have attempted to sail on this ill-omened day, for the crew would have broken out in open rebellion, rather than lift the anchor from the bottom or cast off shore moorings.

Since the advent of steam many of these prejudices have become as direct as the ship on which they were once entertained.

A true story is told of a sceptical Massachusetts captain who, way back in the early years of the republic, determined to exhibit the fallacy of this particular superstition. He contracted on a certain Friday for the building of a ship, and it was arranged that the keel of this vessel was laid on Friday, that she was launched Friday, named Friday, commenced loading on a Friday, and hauled into the stream on the same day of the week. To add to the possibilities of disaster, a negro cook named Friday was engaged; and thus fully freighted with the sinister name, the Friday sailed on a Friday, bound to a port in the West Indies. From that day to this no tidings of the ill-conditioned craft have been received. But those of us who like Friday for various reasons, but chiefly because it leads up to Saturday, upon which day schools are closed, will be pleased to hear that it is not half so unlucky a day as Moulay, the day the school opens again. A German statistician, feeling that Friday had been a much-maligned day determined to make a scientific investigation of the matter, and has found that it is not Friday, but Monday, that is the most unfortunate of the weekdays. According to his investigations 16.74 per cent of all accidents occur on Monday, 15.51 per cent on Tuesday, 16.31 per cent on Wednesday, 15.47 per cent on Thursday, 16.38 per cent on Friday 16.38 per cent on Saturday, and only 2.69 per cent on Sunday.

So, you see, Friday isn't so bad a day after all.

Winter Tours to California, Florida, and Other Points of Interest.

Some idea of the amount of traveling done by Americans as a people, and the comfort and luxury at their command, is gathered from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's announcement of its personally-conducted tours for 1893.

First comes a series to the Golden Gates, starting from New York, Philadelphia, and Harrisburg, February 8th, March 2d, and March 29th, 1893. Tourists will travel by superbly appointed special trains of Pullman drawing room cars, under the supervision of a Tourist Agent and Chaperson.

Next in importance comes series of five to Florida—January 31st, February 14th and 28th, March 14th and 28th. The first four admit of two weeks in the sunny South, while tickets for the fifth tour are good to return by regular trains until May 30th, 1893.

They will be conducted on the same general principles, and maintained at that high standard manifested on all Pennsylvania Railroad Company's personally-conducted tours. For information and detailed itineraries now being prepared, apply to Ticket Agent or Tourist Agent, 849 Broadway, New York; 860 Fulton Street, Brooklyn; or 233 South Fourth Street, Philadelphia.

About two-thirds of the men in this country use tobacco.

Lamp-chimneys cost so little that we let them go on breaking. We go on buying and mumbering.

What should we do? Get Macbeth's "Pearl-top" and "Pearl-glass;" they are made of tough glass, tough against heat; they do not break in use; they do from accident.

They are fine, well made, exact; they fit the lamps they are made for; stand upright; the shade is right; they make a right draught for light; they are uniform. Both bear a label for your protection. Look for it. Be willing to pay a nickel more and stop this constant expense and annoyance.

OH, SHOUTIN'S MIGHTY SWEET.

Oh, shoutin's mighty sweet
 When yer shout when yer meet.
 An a-shook han' from an a-shook
 "Bless Gord fur de meetin!"
 Bless Gord fur de greetin!"
 Shoutin comes mighty easy dat a-way.
 But ter shout when yer part.
 An ter shout from yo' heart,
 When yer gwine far away, far away,
 Wid a lettin go han's
 An a-facin strange lan's,
 Shoutin comes mighty hard such a day.
 "Glory" sticks in yo' throat
 At de whistle o' de boat.
 Dat cuts lak a knife throo yo' heart:
 An "Hallelujah" breaks
 At de raisin o' de stakes
 Dat loosens up de ropes ter let 'er start.
 Dat e'er yer fix yo' eye
 On de writin in de sky,
 Whar de "goodbye" is all stricken out,
 An read de promiss clair
 Of another geth'rin there,
 You kin say far'well, my brothers, with a shout.
 Den shout, brothers, shout!
 Oh, tell yo' vict'ry out.
 How neither death nor partin kin undo
 yer.
 Look fust at yo' loss,
 But last at de cross,
 Singin glory, glory, glory hallelujah!
 —Luth M. Stuart in Harper's Bazar.

Hard to Satisfy.
 Some persons are hard to satisfy. The thing in hand is of little worth, but the object beyond reach seems all desirable. A clergyman in Maine, who lives near the seacoast, narrates an occurrence which gave him a moment of disappointment, but which has also supplied him with a very good story to tell. He had planned a beautiful drive for the benefit of a lady from the west who was visiting his family—a lady who had never seen the ocean. The route was chosen in such a way that not a glimpse of the sea would be had until, at a certain bend in the road, the party would come out upon a high open space, commanding a magnificent view of the broad Atlantic. As the carriage came out upon the plateau the clergyman turned a beaming face on the lady, expecting from her an exclamation of delight; but instead of happiness on her countenance, he saw a look of longing. "Oh," she said, with a sigh, "how I wish I could see the Pacific!"—Youth's Companion.

Seen in the Metropolis.
 A refuse cart was close to the curb on Thirty-seventh street, between Madison and Fifth avenues, recently, while the driver, a healthy young Irishman, talked to a woman who had on each side a little chap dressed in sailor costume. Most passersby must have taken her for a nurse out with her charges from one of the fashionable houses near by. After two minutes' talk the woman lifted the lads one by one to the side of the rough driver, who had carefully spread a piece of stout paper over his cargo to protect the clothing of the children. One lad, tucked close under the driver's arm, was permitted to hold the reins, while the other poked the staid horse with a short stick. The three drove off eastward, smiling, while the woman followed on the sidewalk. The children were the driver's own, and they were as well dressed as half the children native to the locality in which the scene occurred.—New York Sun.

Books with Uncut Leaves.
 A book, the leaves of which are uncut, possesses no value of an intrinsic character beyond one that is cut, but really less. For that matter, if it is to remain uncut, it is as valueless as it is useless. There is a class of book collectors, however, who place a premium upon books with uncut leaves, and so commend them in their advertisements and circulars. There are persons who load certain shelves in their libraries with uncut books. Of course they are not for use and are not used, and are valueless except for keeping.—Brooklyn Eagle.

How Fishes Multiply.
 Piscatory authorities of the highest standard tell us that were it not for nature's grand "evening up" provisions, the fishes of the seas would multiply so rapidly that within three short years they would fill the waters to such an extent that there would be no room for them to swim. This will hardly be disputed when it is known that a single female cod will lay 45,000,000 eggs in single season.—St. Louis Republic.

Size of Families in Europe.
 The average size of families in the various countries of Europe is as follows: France, 2.63 members; Denmark, 3.61; Hungary, 3.70; Switzerland, 3.94; Austria and Belgium, 4.05; England, 4.08; Germany, 4.10; Sweden, 4.12; Holland, 4.22; Scotland, 4.45; Italy, 4.50; Spain, 4.65; Russia, 4.83; Ireland, 5.20.

Honey-moon Cookery.
 "And so my little wife cooked this all herself? What does she call it?"
 "Well, I started it for bread, but after it came out of the oven I concluded I'd better put sauce on it and call it pudding."—Exchange.

There are but 190 colored voters in North Dakota. There are 15,000 in the city of Baltimore. Baltimore has an area of thirty-two square miles; North Dakota has an area of 70,000 square miles.

Whittier, the poet, it is reported, said to the doctors in attendance a day or two before his death, "You have done the best possible, and I thank you; but it is of no use—I am worn out."
 Strange stories are frequently told of the doings of electricity, and there is no doubt that of all the forces of nature this is the most capable of eccentric manifestation.

The pyrometer measures heat in degrees and fractions, and will give accurate figures even though the heat runs up to the unthinkable intensity of 7,000 degs.
 We learn from a doctor that stammering is almost unknown among savages. Is this infirmity, then, one of the penalties we pay for civilization?
